To Ask for Recount, Believing His Delegates Got Thousands More Than Ones Roosevelt Gave Up.

IMPUGN COLONEL'S MOTIVES

Think His Generosity a Trick to Hold Other States, but He Insists He Is Sincere.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Mass., May 2.—Evidence is piling up hourly, which warrants the belief that in Tuesday's primaries at least 16,000, and probably 20,000, more Republicans voted for Taft and the Taft delegates at large than rallied about the Roosevelt standard. The presence of a ninth candidate for delegate at large pledged to Taft deceived thousands of voters into marking nine names, and consequently invalidating their ballots, and to-day the further fact appears that election officers in some places threw out not only the delegate vote, but the entire ballot. It also appears that the Taft alternates at large carried the State. These developments furnish the basis of the contest which the Taft leaders say they will make in the convention at Chicago.

Signatures are being obtained by the Taft delegates to petitions for a recount of the vote for delegates at large throughout the State. Ten signatures are required in each town and as many in each ward of the cities. The petitions must be filed by 5 o'clock to-morrow afternoon.

One such petition was filed to-night with the Boston Board of Election Commissioner's by Chairman Herman Hormel of the Republican State Committee. He asks for a recount on the vote cast for the Republican delegates at large in every ward in Boston except Ward 7.

Gen. Champlin, manager of the Taft League, stated that from indications at hand there were about 15,000 votes actually cast for the regular slate of delegates at large pledged to the renomination of President Taft and headed by Senator Crane and made void by the marking of ex-Senator Frank Seiberlich's name. In one city 600 votes were thus rendered useless.

At the Taft headquarters to-night the statement was made that the sheet placed before each Republican voter consisted of two columns, in one of which were the names of the delegates at large and their alternates, and in the other the district delegates and the Presidential preference. It was said that in the eye of the law each of these columns constituted a "ballot" and that only the "ballots" containing Seiberlich's name marked should have been thrown out by the election officials. But, in Provincetown, for instance, the entire sheet was declared illegal, thus depriving both Taft and the district delegates of votes. There were twenty-nine such votes in Provincetown, and Gen. Champlin believes that the Taft preference vote of the State, instead of being 66,089, should have been at least 100,000.

Returns compiled by The Boston Globe show that Burrill, who headed the Taft alternate delegates at large, received in 132 cities and towns 5,867 more votes than his opponent on the Roosevelt alternate ticket.

In the light of these developments the President's friends regard Roosevelt's action in directing his delegates at large to waive their pledges and vote for Taft was based less upon high motives of the right of the people to rule than upon a singularly penetrating sense of political expediency. Gen. Champlin says that the Colonel's surrender of eight Massachusetts delegates enables him to claim more than twenty Taft delegates elected in the Illinois primaries, who, though considered Taft men, have signified their intention of voting for Roosevelt in the convention, because the State voted for Roosevelt in the preference clause. These delegates, some politicians believe, unquestionably would refuse to be bound by the State's preference if the Baxter group of Roosevelt delegates at large from Massachusetts ignored the preference result of Tuesday's primaries in this State.

But however that may be, the Massachusetts Roosevelt delegates at large have refused to be released and declare their intention of voting for the Colonel in case they are admitted to seats in the convention hall at Chicago. The Taft leaders profess to have no fear on this score; they are confident that their protest, based on the grounds before mentioned, will be sustained, and that Senator Crane and his seven comrades will represent the Bay State in the National Convention. Some go so far as to express the belief that Col. Roosevelt himself, when he comes to learn the exact situation, will throw up his hands and again enunciate his familiar declaration that he wants the nomination only if the people want him to have it.

Revised and complete figures of the valid Republican votes cast on Tuesday show:

Presidential Preference.

Taft	86,089
Roosevelt	81,854
La Follette	2,005

Delegates at Large.

Baxter (heading Roosevelt group)	84,834
Crane (heading Taft group)	76,854

A partial tabulation of the Town Clerk returns for other delegates at large shows very little variation from the leaders of the groups. The returns from Boston tabulated by the Election Board reduce President Taft's plurality in this city over Roosevelt to 510 votes. The early returns gave Taft's plurality as 631.

The Roosevelt slate for delegates at large got 10,913 votes in Boston, while the Taft slate got 10,079.

The Taft slate of alternates at large, headed by former Gov. John D. Long got 11,548 votes, while the Roosevelt slate got 10,327, making the Taft slate plurality 1,221.

The alignment of the Republican district delegates, unless changed by recounts, is 16 for Taft and 12 for Roosevelt. The districts which voted for Roosevelt are the Fourth, Fifth, Seventh, Ninth, Twelfth, and Fourteenth.

The Democratic muddle continues. Of the delegates elected, fifteen (including seven at large,) are pledged for Foss and twenty-one are unpledged. Secretary O'Leary of the State Committee said to-day:

"All of the delegates on the Democratic ticket will vote for Clark, in accordance with the wishes of the people of the State. The State Committee simply recommended to the Democrats of the State that they vote for Foss.

On the other hand, Mayor Fitzgerald says:

"I shall cast my vote for Gov. Foss unless it appears that he is out of the running. Then I shall vote for Clark as the choice of the State."

The other delegates seen are about equally divided.

Gov. Foss to-day released the delegates elected on the Democratic ballot from any obligations that they might feel to vote for him as Presidential nominee at the convention in Baltimore. He said that, since he had withdrawn as a candidate and taken the position that his name

LIEUT. R. S. McDONALD KILLED

Naval Officer, Recently Wed, Fell from Brooklyn Street Car.

Lieut. Ray S. McDonald, U. S. N., who was married on March 21 to Miss Katherine Heilner, daughter of the late Rear Admiral and Mrs. L. C. Heilner, and who returned only recently from his wedding trip, was killed yesterday by a fall from a trolley car, which fractured his skull. The accident happened about 5 o'clock in the afternoon, when Lieut. McDonald slipped in boarding a Union Street car just as it was turning on to the Brooklyn Bridge approach, at Tillary Street, Brooklyn.

Lieut. McDonald had been living with his bride in the Mansion House, in Hicks Street, and it is believed that he had left there just a few moments before the accident. Passengers on the car picked him up unconscious, and called an ambulance from the Brooklyn Hospital. It was not until Lieut. McDonald reached there that his identity was learned by papers in his pockets. Then word was sent to the Mansion House.

It was found that Mrs. McDonald had left soon before to visit friends at 89 South Oxford Street, and before she was found there Lieut. McDonald had died. Mrs. McDonald was prostrated when the news was broken to her, and last night her friends refused to let any one see her.

Lieut. McDonald was only 27 years old. He was born in Canada, and was appointed to Annapolis from North Dakota in 1902. He was graduated from the academy in February, 1906, and became an Ensign in 1908. He had only recently won his grade of Lieutenant.

His wedding to Miss Heilner took place in Washington, where Mrs. Heilner's home now is. Rear Admiral Heilner had died shortly before the wedding, which was a quiet one on that account. The Heilner home formerly was at 189 Prospect Place, Brooklyn.

GIRL SAVES OLD MASTERS.

Braves Fire in Prince Salm-Salm's Castle to Rescue Art Treasures.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

BERLIN, May 2.—The historic castle of Anholt in Westphalia, the residence of Prince Salm-Salm, was badly damaged by fire to-day, but the valuable art treasures were saved, owing to the heroism of the fifteen-year-old daughter of a porter.

When fire was discovered near the picture gallery the girl rushed into the apartment and began removing the pictures, including works by Rembrandt, Murillo, Dürer, and Reynolds. The fire made such progress that the girl found the doorway of the corridor in flames before her task was completed. Thereupon she threw the pictures one by one out of the window into the courtyard.

Some of the pictures were slightly damaged through the fall, but had they been allowed to remain in the gallery all would have been irretrievably ruined.

The girl escaped unhurt.

FLOOD AREA WIDENS.

Many Small Towns Inundated After Break at Torras—115,000 Homeless.

NEW ORLEANS, La., May 2.—Hope of patching the break in the Mississippi River levees at Torras, La., expected to cause the worst situation in lower Mississippi flood history, was abandoned this afternoon. Water was rushing through the 800-foot breach to-night at the rate of twelve miles an hour, and several small towns were inundated.

Baton Rouge has been made the concentration point for persons made homeless by the Torras break. Hundreds were taken there yesterday and last night. The work of caring for these people went on rapidly.

While citizens of Baton Rouge were doing all they could for refugees from Pointe Coupee Parish to-night, they also had a hard fight of their own. The water is within a foot of the top of the bags that have been placed on the levee here. The river is rising and it seems certain that part of the city will be flooded. A steady rain is softening the already strained levees.

A peculiar situation exists at Melville, La. There the Atchafalaya River in front of the town is holding, but water from a bank five miles down stream is backing up and flooding the outskirts of the town This is an old break.

When the break came at Torras the inhabitants rushed for the cars. Even some livestock was put aboard and the train run out of the danger zone. Steamboats picked up many marooned persons and took them to Baton Rouge, where Government rations are being dealt out.

Sheriff Parker of West Baton Rouge parish is in charge of a Southern Pacific shuttle train running through the Atchafalaya swamps of Iberville and Ct. Martin parishes, removing marooned inhabitants to places of safety. The train will continue to run until all are removed unless the track is washed away. The Frisco Railroad also sent out a special train to pick up peopjle and livestock along the line.

It is estimated that 115,000 homeless persons are being taken care of, largely through Government efforts, in the refugee camps that have been established at various points during the past month. How many will be added to this number by the Torras break cannot be accurately estimated, but it will be many thousands. The Government has made provision for handling several thousand at Baton Rouge.

Pointe Coupee parish is the heaviest loser by this last break, but the flood waters may extend over six or eight parishes. Fourteen parishes had been flooded before the Torras break.

RODE ON SIDEWALK.

Highland Falls Citizens Complain of West Point Instructor.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWBURG, N. Y., May 2.—Highland Falls citizens complained to the Board of Trustees at a meeting held last night in regard to the manner in which Lieut. Edward M. Zell, Seventh United States Cavalry, instructor in French at West Point, had violated the village ordinances.

Lieut. Zell was out horseback riding. The road was muddy from continued rains, and the officer decided to use the sidewalk, and, notwithstanding objections of villagers, he remained there. The village ordinances make it a punishable offense for even a child to ride a bicycle on the sidewalk.

No action was taken by the Trustees except to have Lieut. Zell notified that a future violation of the law would be punished as strictly in the village as at West Point.

Residents of Highland Falls are indignant over what they term the utter disregard shown for the rights of citizens by army men.

CHICAGO NEWSPAPERS TIED UP BY STRIKES

Trouble with Pressmen's Union Leaves the City Without Any but Small, Limited Editions.

WAGON DRIVERS ALSO QUIT

Differences Start in Hearst Office and Spread to Other Plants—Proprietors to Stand Together.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, May 2.—With one exception, The Daily Socialist, this city was without newspaper to-day until late in the afternoon. Business men fretted as the time passed for the issuance of the regular editions of the afternoon papers containing market reports as well as the general news of the day, and finally had to resort to the ticker as the sole source of information as to what was going on in the outside world. The public stormed the news stands, only to be informed that no newspapers were on sale because of a strike of pressmen affecting every newspaper office in Chicago printing papers in the English language.

Each of the morning papers decided to get out one edition to-morrow, which will be jointly delivered in the city.

A conflict between the Chicago newspaper Web Pressmen's Union No. 7 and the Chicago local of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, which includes in its membership the four morning and four afternoon papers printed in Chicago, precipitated the trouble which rendered the city newspaperless.

The trouble between the newspapers and their pressmen has been brewing for some time. In fact, it is said, that the Chicago publishers a year ago engaged Henry N. Cary, formerly of New York and recently of St. Louis, to take charge of their association with the possibility in view of a conflict with labor employed in the newspaper offices of Chicago.

For years the Chicago newspaper proprietors declare they have been victimized by the newspaper trade unions in the matter not alone of the quality but also of the quantity of labor which should be employed in each office, to say nothing of the question of wages.

Not a Question of Wages.

In the present dispute there is no question of wages. The whole fight rests on the question as to whether the Pressmen's Union shall dictate to the publisher the number of men to be employed on each press in excess of the number called for by an agreement existing hitherto between the publishers and the union. The matter is fully explained in a statement issued to-day by the Chicago Local of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association and which reads as follows:

> On April 30, at 12 o'clock midnight, the management of The Chicago Examiner and The Chicago American posted in its press rooms the announcement that the contract between those papers and Chicago Newspaper Web Pressmen's Union No. 7, having expired, the management elected to come under the provisions of the contract between the Chicago local of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association of which The Chicago Examiner and The Chicago American are members, and the pressmen's union, and would assume all the obligations and exercise all the rights of other members of the Chicago local under the contract, adding that the management would refer to arbitration, as provided in the contract, any differences that might arise.
>
> After the announcement had been read, the men, acting under the order of the President of the union, resumed work without protest, and thus acknowledged their acceptance of the contract.
>
> On May 1 the management announced that it would exercise its right under the contract to determine the number of men employed on each press, and ordered each press to be manned with the same number of men as other members of the Chicago local employ on presses of similar size and product.
>
> The members of the union refused to work under this order. The management then offered to permit the men thus proposed to be laid off to report as usual for work daily, but not to work on the presses, and to submit the question at issue to arbitration, and in the event of a decision sustaining the position of the union to pay these men full wages from the time they were laid off up to the date of the decision of the arbitrator. The members of the union refused to work under this offer.
>
> The management then notified the men that their continued refusal to work would constitute a strike, and that in so striking the union would be breaking the contract between the Publishers' Association and the union. The members of the union continued to refuse to work and walked out of the office.
>
> Under the circumstance the Chicago local of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association now declares the contract between it and Chicago Newspaper Web Pressmen's Union No. 7 broken by the union and therefore terminated. The pressrooms of all the members of the Chicago local of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association will therefore hereafter be continued without recognition of the jurisdiction of Chicago Newspaper Web Pressmen's Union No. 7.
>
> It is the purpose not to disturb the working conditions and wages of the fromer contract, and to this end the continued cooperation of all employes without discrimination is invited.
>
> By order of the Chicago local of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association.
> VICTOR F. LAWSON, President.
> HENRY N. CARY, Secretary.

Later in the day the Publishers' Association made this addition to its statement:

> It should be noted that this strike was called by the officials of the Pressmen's Union in one of the morning newspapers last night and in all of the evening newspapers to-day in spite of the offer of the publishers to arbitrate the claim of the union in accordance with the contract heretofore existing between the union and the Publishers' Association and now broken by the union.
>
> In a conference held this morning the publishers again stated to the representatives of the union that those of their employes who desired to continue in the service of the newspapers would be retained on the same wage basis as heretofore, without discrimination and without reference to their membership or non-membership in the union, the sole requirement being the faithful discharge of their duties as employes.
>
> By order of the Chicago Local of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association.
> (Signed) VICTOR F. LAWSON, President.

Trouble in Hearst Office.

It appears that William Randolph Hearst, owner of The Chicago Examiner and The Chicago American, has for some time employed more men on the presses used for the publication of his newspapers in Chicago than is required by the agreement existing between the Chicago local of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, and the Pressmen's Union, Number 7. Mr. Hearst is a member of the Chicago local of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, but up to May 1 had a separate contract with his pressmen whereby the additional men were employed in the working of the presses.

In a spirit of economy Mr. Hearst decided that inasmuch as this contract expired on May 1, he would not renew it, but would seek refuge in the agreement existing between the Publishers' Association and the Pressmen's Union. Mr. Hearst's pressmen held a conference and decided that it was a bitter deal for a professed champion of labor to give to them, and at 10:30 o'clock on the evening of May 1, just as Mr. Hearst's morning newspaper was preparing to go to press, they walked out.

In anticipation of the strike, however, the members of the Publishers' Association held a meeting and decided that they

ENGLAND ORDERS SIXTY AEROPLANES

To be Increased to 100 as Scon as the Army and Navy Train Enough Pilots.

HYDRO-AEROPLANE TESTS

A Large Number of Machines Will Be Ordered if Satisfactory—King to Witness Naval Flights.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, May 2.—The British Government has made a serious move in the matter of airships for the navy and army, having authorized the purchase of sixty aeroplanes, which will be increased to 100 as soon as a sufficient number of army and navy airmen have been trained.

The Government is also giving its attention to the hydro-aeroplane. Naval experts are experimenting with it, and if the results are satisfactory a large number of machines will be ordered without delay.

The King, when he attends the naval manoeuvres at Portland next week, will be given the opportunity of witnessing flights of naval aeroplanes, which will be launched from the deck of the battleship Hibernia.

It is pointed out that even when 100 aeroplanes are in use, and a corresponding number of pilots trained, the British aeronautical service will still be much inferior in numbers and experience to the French service, and some considerable distance behind the German service.

Figures of the expenditure provided for aeronautics, including airships and aeroplanes, for the current year, are: France, £1,250,000; Germany, £700,000, and Great Britain, £308,000.

France has also £130,000 raised by subscriptions to the National Aviation Fund. The German figure is approximate only, no details being published. Additional appropriations are anticipated, and the public fund is being largely subscribed to. The British sum includes £90,000 for the purchase of land.

HOUSE CHEERS UNDERWOOD.

Plurality in Georgia 9,000 Over Wilson—His Lead in Florida.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—An unusual demonstration greeted Representative Oscar Underwood, the majority leader, when he appeared in the House to-day, the Chamber, which was crowded, rising in a body and cheering him because of his victory in the Georgia and Florida Presidential primaries. Speaker Clark, who was in the chair, looked on smilingly while the applause continued.

Another demonstration was accorded Mr. Underwood when he was called to take the chair upon the introduction of the Legislative, Executive and Judicial Appropriation Bill. When Speaker Clark turned over the gavel to the majority leader the House burst into an uproar that lasted several minutes. Throughout it all Mr. Underwood smiled delightedly.

ATLANTA, Ga., May 2.—Official returns received here indicate that Underwood's plurality over Wilson will not be less than 9,000.

To-day's returns further emphasize the fact that it was the country vote which won for the Alabama leader. Gov. Wilson carried all the counties containing large cities.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., May 2.—Returns from Tuesday's Democratic Presidential primary are still incomplete, but enough are in to show that Underwood carried almost every county in the State except those containing the three largest cities, Pensacola, Jacksonville and Tampa.

Park Trammell leads in the race for Governor, with about 16,000 votes. Cromwell Gibbons is second, with 9,400.

Representative Frank Clark and Samuel J. Hilburn win in the Second primary for Congress from the First District, while Stephen Sparkman is renominated in the second. Claude l'Engle has a big lead in the race for Congressman-at-large.

GUARDIAN FOR HICHBORN BOY

Rear Admiral's Widow Asks Court for Custody of Little Grandson.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—Mrs. Jennie M. Hichborn, widow of Rear Admiral Hichborn, to-day asked the District Supreme Court to appoint her guardian of Philip Hichborn, the four-year-old child of her son, Philip S. Hichborn, who committed suicide on March 27. Justice Wright designated Murray A. Cobb to answer for the child, and appointed William Henry Dennis as counsel to defend the proceedings. William Hitz appeared for Mrs. Hichborn.

Little Philip accompanied his grandmother to court and gazed with wide-opened eyes at the flowing gown of Justice Wright as he proceeded to mount the bench. The little fellow looked about wonderingly while the crier formally opened the court.

As he was being led from the room by his grandmother Philip took another look at the Justice on the bench and was rewarded with a wave of the hand from Justice Wright, who has a little son of about the same age. The youngster answered the good-bye of the Justice with a face beaming with smiles.

Mrs. Philip Hichborn, who eloped with Horace Wiley, is now abroad with him. Mrs. Wiley still lives in this city.

RAILWAY FIREMEN DEMAND $25,000,000

With Assistants on 14,000 Locomotives and "Valets" to Polish All of Them.

MEANS $16,000,000 MORE

Eastern Roads Called On for Huge Yearly Payment While Engineers' Dispute Remains Unsettled.

A schedule of demands for increased wages for railroad firemen on fifty railroads east of Chicago and north of the Ohio and Potomac Rivers, involving, according to railroad officials, an increased expenditure of between $25,000,000 and $30,000,000 a year, was sent yesterday by W. S. Carter, President of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, from Peoria, Ill., to J. C. Stuart, Chairman of the Conference Committee of Railroad Managers, which met in this city recently to consider the demands of the Brotherhood of Railroad Engineers, whose threatened strike was narrowly averted by the intercession of the Federal authorities with a proposal of arbitration, to which both sides have since agreed.

With the demands of the engineers still unsettled, added significance is given to the demands now made by the firemen of the same roads. According to one official of the railroads, rivalry exists between the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen. The former will receive into its membership only engineers. The latter takes in firemen, and after their promotion to the post of engineer still retains them in its membership. In this way, it was said, each organization has come to vie with the other in making its benefits as attractive as possible to members. When the Brotherhood of Engineers issued its recent call for members to vote on the proposed strike the call concluded with a reminder to members that "the prestige of the organization is at stake." This, the railroad managers believed, had reference to the efforts of the rival organization to win members; and it was not unexpected that this organization, in turn, should presently come forward with demands for increased wages rivaling the demands of the engineers.

Affects at Least 20,000 Firemen.

The engineers demand an increase of 18.3 per cent. This will be considered shortly by a board of arbitration of seven. Daniel Willard, President of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, has been appointed a member of the board by the railroads, and P. H. Morrissey, formerly head of the trainmen's organization, has been appointed to represent the engineers. These two will choose the remaining five arbitrators, or, if they fail to agree, the arbitrators will be chosen by Chief Justice White of the United States Supreme Court, Justice Martin A. Knapp, and United States Commissioner of Labor Neill.

Just what disposition will be made of the new demands just received from the Brotherhood of Railroad Firemen and Enginemen could not be learned yesterday. Chairman Stuart of the Committee of Managers of the Railroads acknowledged receipt of the demands, and assured Mr. Carter that he would be glad to call his committee together and put the demands before it, advising Mr. Carter of the result later. The communication from the President of the firemen's organization, besides asking for increased wages, had demanded concerted action by the railroads instead of the individual action now obtaining among the fifty railroads concerned. In this way the firemen now hope to have wages standardized for all the roads. Their organization includes workers on 24,984 locomotives, which means that there are at least 20,000 firemen among its members, exclusive of the engineers that may belong to it.

Owing to the different wage scales now existing on the various roads concerned, it was said at the headquarters of the Committee of Railroad Managers yesterday that it would be impracticable to compare the existing and proposed wages item by item at this time.

The Scale Demanded.

The demands include, however, a scale of from $2.50 to $2.70 a day on passenger engines, $2.85 to $4 a day on through freight service, $2.60 a day of ten hours or less on switching service, and from $2.50 to $3.75 a day of ten hours or less for hostlers. On Mallet type engines, when used in pusher or helper service, firemen under the new scale would receive $3 a day of sixty miles or less or of ten hours or less. No fireman would be required to fire for more than six hours or sixty miles in any twenty-four-hour period. Ten hours or less or 100 miles or less is to be considered a day's work in all classes of service except as otherwise specified. All mileage in excess of 100 miles made within a ten-hour period shall be paid for at mileage rates, and all mileage or time made after the ten-hour period is to be paid for on a basis of time and one-half, or on the basis of one mile for each four minutes if the miles exceed the hours worked.

The most important of the changes demanded, however, as the railroads view it, is embodied in Article XIV. of the demands:

"On coal-burning locomotives in freight service a fireman and an assistant fireman shall be employed."

There are now 14,609 coal-burning locomotives in the freight service of the railroads affected at present, and under the existing system there is but one fireman on each locomotive. The new demand would involve the employment of at least 14,609 additional men as assistant firemen, or a total expense, according to the railroads, of between $14,000,000 and $16,000,000 additional per annum.

Another important change proposed by the new schedule is contained in Article XII.:

"Firemen shall be relieved from cleaning of engines, tanks, fires and flues, scouring of brass, and painting of stacks, smoke arches, and front ends."

This, according to one official of the Railroad Managers' Committee, would practically necessitate the employment of "valets" for the firemen to do work now regularly done by firemen.

No intimation of the official attitude of the Committee of Managers toward the demands of the firemen, however, could be obtained yesterday, nor any expression of opinion as to whether these, too, would be submitted to arbitration.

These demands, according to Mr. Carter's communication to Chairman Stuart of the Managers' Committee, were prepared by a committee representing the employes, which met in Chicago on Feb. 15. They have since been voted upon and indorsed by the members of the organization.

TAFT TALKS PROSPERITY.

In Southern Speeches He Opposes Doctrines That Would Disturb.

FLORENCE, S. C., May 2.—Although not on a campaign trip, President Taft made two short speeches in South Carolina to-day on his way to Washington from Augusta, Ga. He gave the first at Sumter from the rear platform of his private car and the second at Florence. Large crowds greeted him at both places.

The President preached prosperity and declared his opposition to doctrines that he said would destroy that prosperity if written into law.

"What we want is prosperity," said Mr. Taft at Sumter. "We want quiet and the least disturbance to business, so that capital may be invested and all may enjoy plenty. In South Carolina I have not always had the support that would make me believe it worth while to ask for your suffrages, but I know there is a strong sub-stratum in South Carolina, as in other States, of confidence in existing Government and that there is a desire to maitain it."

FORT SMITH, Ark., May 2.—The Grand Jury, which has been investigating the lynching of Sanford Lewis, a negro, on the night of March 23 here, made its report to-day, returning indictments against twenty-three persons.

The jurors blame the city authorities for alleged inefficiency in failing to disperse the mob which broke into the city jail, dragged Lewis forth, and hanged him to a trolley pole on a main street. The names of those indicted were not made public.

RICH YOUTH A COAL PASSER.

Student Is Working His Passage, Though He Has an Order for $2,500.

BOSTON, May 2.—One of the coal passers of the Bucknall Line steamer Katuna, which arrived to-day from Calcutta, is M. A. Shah, son of a wealthy horse dealer of Lahore, India. Shah has just finished a four-year course at Oxford University, paying for his tuition from his own earnings.

He started to work his way back home, and got as far as Port Said, when he met the Katuna, on which he expects eventually to reach Calcutta. His present pay is $4 a month. He carries an order for $2,500 which was sent to him by his father, but has thus far refused to have it cashed, depending entirely upon his own resources.

REPORT WARSHIP LOST.

Battleship Re Umberto Said to Have Been Driven on Rocks by Storm.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 2.—A dispatch has been received here from Tunis saying that the Italian battleship Re Umberto has been driven by a storm on the rocks and sunk at a point on the coast near Zuara.

A small tugboat which was engaged in inspecting the channel buoys in the Dardanelles last night fouled a mine and was blown to pieces.

Four officers, twelve soldiers, and all the members of the crew of the tug perished.

The dispatch from Constantinople in regard to the Re Umberto has not been confirmed from any other source.

The battleship had been engaged in convoying Italian landing expeditions to Tripoli. Built in 1887, the Re Umberto carried a complement of something over 700 men. She was 400 feet long 77 feet wide and drew 28 feet of water. She had an armament that included four 12-inch guns.

Zuara is on the northwest coast of Tripoli near the Tunisian border. The coast in that vicinity is dangerous. Several rocks and islets lie off it to the northward, and shoal water with rocky patches extends nearly half a mile off the shore.

SAY BRYCE AIDED RECIPROCITY 'PLOT'

Taft's Letter Saying Canada Would Be an Adjunct of United States Embroils Ambassador.

STARTS RUMOR OF RECALL

Which Is Promptly Denied—Questions in Parliament—Letter Is Regretted in Washington.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Friday, May 3.—"Has Ambassador Bryce been recalled?" was a question asked in big type yesterday by Lord Northcliffe's Evening News. Apparently the sole ground on which the question was based was the coincidence between the Ambassador's departure for Australia and the agitation in Canada and here regarding the so-called revelations made in the Taft-Roosevelt correspondence of the United States President's "designs" on Canada.

The fact, however, that Lord Northcliffe's evening paper followed up in this startling fashion The Daily Mail's editorial expression of astonishment that "Mr. Bryce gave no warning of the conspiracy, but rather did his utmost to bring it to success" is an indication that the Ambassador's holiday will be marked by a strong campaign against him.

This is further foreshadowed by the agitation begun in Parliament yesterday, where notices of questions on the matter were given.

It is worthy of note that the publication here last Monday of Mr. Taft's letter to Mr. Roosevelt, on which Mr. Foster based the speech at Ottawa, which is the direct cause of the agitation here, aroused little attention, and the British Imperialists at home discovered no "conspiracy" till Mr. Foster unveiled it for them.

Mr. Bryce, it is understood, left Washington on the day the Taft letter was made public, and The Evening News said yesterday:

"His departure is endowed with special significance, for it had been rumored that he would not definitely return to his post, in fact, that he had been practically recalled. He will, it is surmised, re-enter English politics, perhaps with a peerage.

"The fact is," add The Evening News, "Mr. Bryce has made himself impossible at Washington. 'Every day I feel I am even more the Ambassador of Canada at Washington than the British Ambassador,' he said at Montreal four years ago. He added that three-quarters of his time was occupied with Canadian affairs. Not only, however, has Canada rejected the fiscal policy that he prepared for her with the Laurier government and Mr. Taft, but she has been awakened by Mr. Taft's own blunt words to the immense danger that she was running of losing her nationhood.

"Canada, therefore, must have another Ambassador at Washington," concluded The News, with all the emphasis of italics.

There appears to be no basis whatever for The Evening News's article. In this morning's papers it is semi-officially announced that there is no foundation for the rumor that Mr. Bryce has been actually or virtually recalled from the Washington Embassy. It is declared to be his intention and the intention of the Government that he resume his duties immediately on the expiration of his holiday, which, it is pointed out, actually began before President Taft's letter in reference to Canadian reciprocity was published.

Chronicle Defends Bryce.

The Daily Chronicle condemns in strong terms the "disgraceful tactics of the Tory press" in attacking Ambassador Bryce. The Chronicle says the whole fiction arose out of the phrase in President Taft's letter that reciprocity would make Canada "only an adjunct of the United States," and that on this letter the tariff reform journals here had built up a sensational story of an American plot in the hope of helping the high protectionist party in Canada.

The Chronicle's Parliamentary writer, after emphasizing the fact that there is not a vestige of truth in the rumor of Ambassador Bryce's recall, says:

"Between Sir Edward Grey and Ambassador Bryce the happiest personal and official relations exist. Mr. Bryce enjoys the full and unreserved confidence of the British Government. His career in Washington has been the greatest success in our ambassadorial service for the past twenty years. Whenever Mr. Bryce retires, and in the nature of things, as he is now well up in years, that cannot long be delayed, he will do so at his own will, and his departure from Washington would be deeply regretted by our Foreign Office."

The same journal's Washington correspondent cables a column, giving the views of prominent politicians, all of whom agree that the criticism that Mr. Bryce failed to keep his Government informed of what was happening is utterly unwarranted.

Officials at the State Department, says the correspondent, were very frank in stating that the Ambassador could hardly be blamed for his failure to know President Taft's views, which were quite unknown until Mr. Taft revealed them in his effort to crush Mr. Roosevelt in the fight for Massachusetts delegates to the Republican Convention.

The correspondent says one of the highest officials at the State Department, whose name he is not permitted to mention, made the following statement:

"No official word of any kind has been received from England regarding this matter, and Mr. Bryce, who planned a holiday many weeks ago, when taking leave of us for the Summer last week made no mention of it and spoke quite naturally of returning to Washington after his holiday.

"There can be no possible reason for considering Mr. Bryce derelict to his duty in failing to report any views which Mr. Taft privately expressed to Mr. Roosevelt in a letter which was marked 'confidential,' more especially since the Administration took the strongest position against the utterance made by Speaker Clark regarding the annexation of Canada to the United States.

"I can only say that the officials of the State Department consider the work accomplished by Mr. Bryce while he has represented his country at Washington more brilliant than that of any of his immediate predecessors. He has worked solely in the interests of his country, and that with an intelligence and understanding which have comanded the admiration of every one, from the President downward."

A liberal politician who is in close touch with members of the Government said to a NEW YORK TIMES correspondent:

"Few more unlikely things could happen than that Mr. Bryce should be recalled by a Government which fully approved his attitude in the reciprocity treaty. It has been understood for some time past that he woud not remain at Washington very much longer, but he himself will fix the date of his departure.

"The outcry being made by the Imperialist papers is sound and fury, meaning nothing, leading to nothing. They have discovered a mare's nest. Mr. Taft's reference to Canada as an adjunct of the United States was in a purely economic sense, and that he did not use the word in a political sense is perfectly evident from the fact that a little later in the same letter he mentioned the fact that some American economic arguments for reciprocity which he cited were being used in Canada as an argument against reciprocity.

"The suggestion that 'Mr. Bryce was paid a salary of £10,000 a year in order to know all that was going on under the scenes, and consequently should not have been ignorant of Mr. Taft's ultimate objects,' is amusing."

Questions in Parliament.

LONDON, Friday, May 3.—Unionist Members of the House of Commons are preparing to catechize the Government regarding what they characterize as Ambassador Bryce's "treasonable act" in supporting the proposals made by President Taft in the matter of Canadian reciprocity, and as to whether the Government purposes to recall the Ambassador.

Arthur Shirley Benn is anxious to know if Mr. Bryce was aware that the object of reciprocity was to make Canada an "adjunct of the United States"; if his acquiescence therein was not treasonable, and whether, in view of the published correspondence between President Taft and Mr. Roosevelt, it is the intention of the Government to recall the Ambassador.

Other questions will be addressed to Premier Asquith directing his attention to the letter on reciprocity written by President Taft to Mr. Roosevelt and suggesting the urgency of a policy of Imperial preference to defeat the "American designs."

Another question of which notice has been given will ask whether the Government was aware of President Taft's intention to "make Canada only an adjunct of the United States" when it instructed Ambassador Bryce to assist the passage of the reciprocity agreement between the United States and Canada.

An effort will be made to raise the whole question on a motion for adjournment on Monday evening.

WASHINGTON REGRETS LETTER.

Fear It Will Mar Our Relations with Canada and Britain.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—Government officials here are very uneasy over the outbursts of anger in Great Britain concerning President Taft's publication of his letter to ex-President Roosevelt about Canadian reciprocity. None of them, of course, will speak for publication, but they all deeply regret that the exigencies of the President's campaign in Massachusetts should have compelled him to make public a letter likely to have such a far-reaching effect on our foreign relations.

What the President did was to make public, during his campaign, his correspondence with Col. Roosevelt about reciprocity for the purpose of proving that he and Col. Roosevelt had been agreed in favoring that measure. He made it public in his opening speech at Boston on April 25. In one of his letters to the Colonel occurred this pregnant paragraph:

"The amount of Canadian products we would take would produce a current of business between Western Canada and the United States that would make Canada only an adjunct of the United States. It would transfer all their important business to Chicago and New York with their bank credits and everything else, and it would increase greatly the demand of Canada for our manufactures. I see this is an argument against reciprocity made in Canada, and I think a good one."

When Speaker Clark made his ill-advised references to the possibility of annexing Canada a wave of alarm, apprehension, and anger swept the Dominion. Mr. Borden made the most of it in his fight against the Laurier Government. Sir Wilfrid and his supporters in Canada and the advocates of reciprocity on this side of the line ridiculed the idea that the plan was intended to do anything but advance the interests of both countries equally. Nevertheless the Canadians continued angry and distrustful, and voted Borden into power by a landslide.

Since then there has been a marked subsidence in Canadian feeling against the United States, and the apparently calm and fair attitude of President Taft has gone far to reassure our Canadian neighbors. It is certain, say Congressmen interested in Canadian reciprocity, that had the Canadians known last year of the existence of this letter, in which Mr. Taft went only a step less far than Speaker Clark, the Laurier Government would have been buried under a much worse avalanche than that which it received. And they fear that, since it now becomes certain that Mr. Taft did not think the arrangement proposed would be to Canada's interests a bitter feeling will arise which will postpone not only reciprocity, but any sort of friendliness between the two countries for generations.

Mr. Taft's frank statement to Mr. Roosevelt that he regarded the argument of the Borden people as "a good one" is regarded by these uneasy officials and Congressmen as being hardly less injudicious to print than his talk about making Canada "an adjunct to the United States."

Since the administration of Secretary John Hay the State Department has taken pride in the upbuilding of friendly relations with England and in the disappearance of tail-twisting on this side of the water and eagle-baiting on the other. It is recognized in diplomatic circles that absurdly small things have influence in determining the relations of nations, at least so far as the feeling of the respective peoples is concerned, and that no Government can stand out long against the feeling of its people. Therefore it has been a matter of congratulation that, while the relations of the Governments themselves have remained officially correct, nothing has occurred to impair the amicable feelings of the unofficial public on either side.

Say Clark Is Vindicated.

Speaker Clark's friends are viewing the matter with complacency. They regard it as a vindication.

The people opposed to both Clark and the President are taking huge enjoyment out of the situation. Witness this editorial from The Washington Times:

> TWO OF A CHEERFUL KIND.
>
> Champ Clark in a speech declared that if we wanted Canada we would go and take it.
>
> Now President Taft publishes a letter of his own, in which he told of his plans for making Canada a mere "adjunct to the United States."
>
> And these two skillful diplomats are serious candidates for the Presidential nominations of the two great parties!
>
> Who can wonder that American public affairs constitute a standing joke for European observers!

Without taking this view of it, the officials who have concerned themselves in the matter of Canadian reciprocity are much cast down, not merely because of the effect of the revelation on the cause of reciprocity, but for the wider reason of its possible effect on the whole subject of our relations with England.

Congressmen interested in reciprocity do not look so far ahead. What worries them is that they think Mr. Taft's publication of his private letter to Roosevelt has killed reciprocity for all time.

SAYS CANADA IS VINDICATED.

Minister Foster Declares Taft's Letter Justifies Anti-Reciprocity Vote.

Special to The New York Times.

OTTAWA, Ontario, May 2.—George E. Foster, Minister of Trade and Commerce and until yesterday Acting Premier in the absence of Mr. Borden, has authorized the following statement on the reciprocity views of President Taft, as set out in the Roosevelt correspondence. Mr. Foster speaks as one of the most vigorous of those who successfully opposed the ratification of the reciprocity treaty by Canada:

"The revelation of State secrets and the publication of confidential letters between President Taft and Col. Roosevelt furnish a remarkable vindication of the course adopted by Canada last September. The veiled meaning in the President's phrase, 'the parting of the ways,' has been illuminated beyond all doubt. There can hereafter be no cavil as to the purpose underlying the reciprocity proposal or the reasons therefor. Canada was to become only an adjunct of the United States, her business was to go to Chicago and New York, with her bank credits and everything else; her manufacturing was to be done by that country, and all this for the best of economic and political reasons.

"The majority of Canadians either knew or suspected this last September. Now the empire and the wide world know it certainly. By this latest full revelation President Taft has added to the obligations Canadians are under to him for his partial revelation last year. Reciprocity with the United States was dead before; now it is forever buried. The imputation and attack upon our nationhood and our imperial connection will never be forgotten by Canadians. Henceforth we all think imperially."

TAFT'S RECIPROCITY LETTER.

Told Roosevelt Canada Would Be "an Adjunct of the United States."

Here is the letter from President Taft to Col. Theodore Roosevelt, in which the President said that reciprocity "would make Canada only an adjunct of the United States."

[Confidential.]

[Copy.]

The White House,
Washington, Jan. 10, 1911.

My Dear Theodore:

Just at present I am in the midst of reciprocity matters, and it would gratify me a great deal to talk over with you this issue. I have, as you have known, always been a low tariff and downward revision man, and the reason why I favored the last tariff bill and praised it as the best one we had ever had was: That the consideration of it on its passage and the efforts of those who defended it afterward to show that it was a downward revision were all a concession by the Republican Party that downward revision was necessary, and that the rule upheld by Shaw and Cannon and other standpatters of the orthodox type that no tariff could be too high, because what you needed was a Chinese wall, had been departed from. Now, the probability is that we shall reach an agreement with our Canadian friends by which all natural products—cereals, lumber, dairy products, fruits, meats, and cattle—shall enter both countries free, and that we shall get a revision—not as heavy a one as I would like, but a substantial one, and equivalent certainly to the French reciprocity treaty and probably more—on manufactures.

The truth is that the minute that we adopt in convention the proposal that our tariff should be measured by the difference in the cost of production we necessarily adopt a rule which would lead us straight to reciprocity in natural products with Canada, because the conditions in the two countries are so similar that there is substantially no difference in the cost of production. Possibly labor is slightly lower in some parts of Canada than in the United States, but it is also higher in some parts, and the adoption of free trade would rapidly increase the cost of labor in those parts where it is cheaper in Canada, so that the conditions would be the same.

It might at first have a tendency to reduce the cost of food products somewhat; it would certainly make the reservoir much greater and prevent fluctuations. Meantime the amount of Canadian products we would take would produce a current of business between Western Canada and the United States that would make Canada only an adjunct of the United States. It would transfer all their important business to Chicago and New York, with their bank credits and everything else, and it would increase greatly the demand of Canada for our manufactures. I see this is an argument against reciprocity made in Canada, and I think it is a good one.

The proposition is to make an arrangement by which we shall present to both houses of Congress an identical bill and pass it as an agreement for joint legislation. In this way we would avoid the necessity for two-thirds in the Senate, and would secure at once the consent of the House, which in tariff matters is generally regarded as necessary, at any rate. This will cause a great commotion, I presume. It will be unpopular in New York because of certain lumber manufacturing interests and the dairy interests. It will be unpopular in Minnesota because of wheat; but on the other hand free lumber will be popular in some places, and, as it includes free paper and free wood pulp, we may count on the fairly good support of the press.

This letter, of course, I must ask you to regard as confidential, though I would be glad to have you discuss with your colleagues on The Outlook such a proposition, and should be glad to hear from you as to your judgment of it. I think it may break the Republican Party for a while. As Elihu Root said when I talked with him yesterday, it may be an entering wedge against protection, although it is not inconsistent with the principle of protection as we laid it down in Chicago. Of course it will be said against it that we are taking agriculture and making it suffer first before we tackle wool and cotton. The bill is not likely to pass the present Congress, and before the new Congress comes together I think I shall be able to make some recommendations as to the wool and cotton schedules and present a problem to the Democrats which they are not likely to find an easy one. At least it will show the hypocrisy of some people. Of course this is no ground whatever for introducing and pressing such a measure. I believe it to be right, and if it leads, on the other hand, to a reduction in wool and cotton manufactures to the lowest figures and to what is a real measure of the difference in the cost of production, so much the better.

I shall be glad to hear from you as soon as you conveniently can write on this subject, because the matter is just at hand, and it is quite likely that within ten days we shall reach an agreement. Sincerely yours,

WILLIAM H. TAFT.

The Hon. Theodore Roosevelt, The Outlook, New York.

The letter was made public a week ago last night by President Taft in his speech at Boston, when he bitterly attacked Col. Roosevelt, criticising, among other things, the Colonel's change of front on reciprocity.

SIR LOUIS DAVIES EXPLAINS.

Canadian Justice Says He Can't Discuss Reciprocity Now.

BOSTON, May 2.—So many different versions having been circulated concerning the remarks made by Sir Louis H. Davies, Senior Justice of the Canadian Supreme Court, at the Intercolonial Club on Tuesday night, the speaker was requested to-day to give his own version of that part of his address in which he referred to reciprocity between Canada and the United States.

Sir Louis explained that there were among his auditors so many of his former constituents from the Maritime Provinces that he felt obliged, in opening his address, to mention reciprocity, which he did, substantially as follows:

"In my pre-regenerate days I was an earnest advocate of reciprocity. That subject is now withing the orbit of political controversy, and because of my position as a member of the Supreme Court of Canada it would be highly improper for me to discuss the question. I may say further that the people of Canada have spoken and have settled the matter for the time."

was not to appear on the ballot either in th's or other States as a candidate for Presidential preference, there was no reason why the delegates from Massachusetts should feel bound to vote for him. The delegates will, therefore, be free to vote for Speaker Clark.

FITCHBURG, Mass., May 2.—Frederick Fosdick of this city, one of the eight Republican delegates at large, said to-day that Col. Theodore Roosevelt's request that the Massachusetts delegates at large to the Chicago Convention vote for President Taft in no way binds him.

"Col. Roosevelt has done the square thing," said Mr. Fosdick, "but I have nothing to say as to my personal action until I learn more of the developments. However, I feel as free as ever."

BOSTON LEADERS SEE COLONEL.

He Remains Firm in His Decision to Give Votes to Taft.

After a conference at Oyster Bay with Matthew Hale and other Progressive leaders from Massachusetts Col. Roosevelt motored into town last night to catch the 9 o'clock train from the Pennsylvania Station for Salisbury, where he will open his Maryland campaign this morning. He will be gone until Sunday morning and hopes in that time to convert a majority of the voters there to his beliefs. The primaries in Maryland are held on Monday.

Col. Roosevelt arrived at the Pennsylvania Station ten minutes before his train left and held a short conference with his campaign manager, Senator Dixon, and other supporters, including William H. Halpin, Regis H. Post, former Governor of Porto Rico; Bainbridge Colby, an attorney of this city, who has played a prominent part in the local Roosevelt movement, and "Jack" Greenway of Arizona, who was a member of the Colonel's Rough Riders. A crowd of 200 men and women collected in the station.

As the Colonel boarded his private car, the Pilgrim, Mr. Colby ran forward and called out:

"Colonel, I hope that by Tuesday you will be singing 'Maryland, My Maryland.'"

"I hope so," Col. Roosevelt shouted back, "but, however that may be, you can depend upon it, boys, that this fight is going on to the end, and that there will be no compromise."

The Colonel will be accompanied on his trip by Mr. Post and his secretary, Frank Harper. Senator Dixon went as far as Philadelphia on the train last night.

Col. Roosevelt had nothing further to say about the Massachusetts situation yesterday except to reaffirm his determination to do all in his power to have the eight delegates at large support Mr. Taft. The newspaper men who saw him at Sagamore Hill found the Colonel in the best of humor and apparently well satisfied with the way things are going. It is said that he believes the result in Massachusetts has pretty effectively ended the chances of President Taft, but on this point the Colonel would make no comment.

The remark that he made last night just before his train pulled out of the Pennsylvania Station, however, started some talk among his friends that Col. Roosevelt would not be at all surprised if the question of a compromise candidate enters prominently into the fight.

The delegation of Boston leaders who ran out to Oyster Bay to confer with Col. Rosevelt yesterday included Matthew Hale of Boston, who has been looked upon as the leader of the Colonel's forces in the Bay State; Arthur Hill, former District Attorney of Boston, and Charles H. Thompson, who took part in the Colonel's Vermont campaign. They were accompanied by Eli Hooker, Treasurer of the National Roosevelt League. It had been reported that Charles A. Baxter and some of the other delegates at large would make the trip to Oyster Bay, but none of them put in an appearance.

Mr. Hale had little to say about the Massachusetts situation except that the supporters of Col. Roosevelt were highly elated over the result there.

Mr. Hale added that he had not come to Oyster Bay to urge the Colonel to change his position in regard to the eight delegates-at-large and indicated also that he was of the opinion that any effort in that direction would be wasted. After he had thought it over carefully, he said, he had come to the conclusion that the Colonel was in the right and had adopted the one course that was consistent with the principles and doctrines for which he is making his fight. Mr. Hale would not say whether he thought the delegates-at-large would do as Col. Roosevelt has urged them and support President Taft's candidacy.

"I can't speak for them," he said.

It was said, however, that this phase of the Massachusetts situation was carefully gone over and that Col. Roosevelt understood he would have a difficult time to force the eight to desert him.

Mr. Thompson said there would be a recount in one or two of the districts, but that there was little chance of any change in the vote. Referring to the action taken by Col. Roosevelt he had this to say:

"The Taft supporters say that thousands of ballots were thrown out because nine delegates were voted for on them. Nevertheless, in some, if not all, of the districts the preferential vote was counted on these very ballots.

"And in two districts, the Eighth and Tenth, I believe, the preferential vote favored Col. Roosevelt, while the Taft district delegates were elected. Now what are the Taft delegates going to do in these districts? Should they not vote for Col. Roosevelt at the convention?"

Col. Roosevelt will probably return to New York on Sunday morning, and will go at once to Oyster Bay.

DENIES SOUNDING DELEGATES.

Barnes Says He Hasn't Suggested a Third Candidate.

William Barnes, Jr., Chairman of the Republican State Committee, denied yesterday that he had been in communication with Republican leaders in the South feeling out possible sentiment in favor of a candidate other than President Taft or Col. Roosevelt for the Presidential nomination. Mr. Barnes gave out this statement:

"The newspaper correspondent who telegraphed from Savannah to a New York morning newspaper that I have written a letter to any delegate to the Chicago Convention indicating the slightest hesitancy regarding the wisdom of the renomination of President Taft has been absolutely misinformed or distorts the truth."

Mr. Barnes explained that he had written a letter to delegates throughout the country informing them that the assertion of the Roosevelt supporters regarding the delegates in New York was untrue.

PLEDGE CONNECTICUT TO GOV. BALDWIN

Fourteen Democratic Delegates Instructed to Vote for Him at Baltimore Convention.

CLARK'S NAME MENTIONED

Delegate Suggests Speaker for First Place and Baldwin for Vice President—The Platform.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., May 2.—The Democracy of Connecticut as represented in the State Convention to-day, instructed its delegation to present the name of Gov. Simeon E. Baldwin as a favorite son to the National Convention at Baltimore, and urge upon that body his nomination for the Presidency.

The delegates chosen are:

At Large—Willie O. Burr, Hartford; Bryan P. Mahan, New London; William Kennedy, Naugatuck; David E. Fitzgerald, New Haven.

First District—Joseph M. Halloran and Michael J. Connor.

Second District—Daniel P. Dunn and Charles W. Comstock.

Third District—Louis E. Stoddard and Edwin S. Thomas.

Fourth District—Archibald McNeil, Jr., and Charles J. Kerr.

Fifth District—William E. Thoms and James P. Meara.

The delegates were authorized to choose their own alternates.

Homer S. Cummings of Stamford was re-elected Democratic National Committeeman at a meeting of the delegation. Congressman Reilly called the convention to order at 10:50 A. M., when the temporary organization was made permanent. Senator Archibald McNeil, Jr., for the Resolution Committee, read the declaration of principles, which were applauded, especially the reference to Gov. Baldwin.

An amendment was then offered instructing the delegates to support Gov. Baldwin for the Presidency, and in the event of his not winning that place, to support him for the Vice Presidency nomination and to support Champ Clark for first place.

After brief debate the amendment was withdrawn and the resolutions as presented adopted. They declare:

> We, the representatives of the Democracy of Connecticut, in convention assembled, renew our allegiance to the principles of our party and pledge our earnest support to its candidates.
>
> We are proud of the record of the Democratic majority in the National House of Representatives, and believe that its achievements warrant an extension of the public confidence in all branches of our State and National Government.
>
> We are proud of the honorable record and high achievements of our Governor, Simeon E. Baldwin. A sterling and faithful Democrat, he was active in the councils of the party prior to his elevation to the bench. He had a distinguished career as Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Errors of this State. His administration as Governor has been able and patriotic. As a citizen, as a student, as a writer, as a jurist, as an educator of men and as our Chief Executive, Gov. Simeon E. Baldwin has exhibited such high traits of mind, of heart, of character, and Democratic administrative ability that he has shown himself worthy of the highest office within the gift of the electorate of the American people.
>
> We therefore instruct our delegates to present to the Baltimore Convention the name of Gov. Simeon E. Baldwin and to use all honorable means to secure his nomination for President of the United States.

The resolution naming the delegation at large was presented by National Committeeman Homer S. Cummings, who said that it was a great pleasure to be able to send out to the country the news that the Connecticut Democracy is absolutely in harmony on the eve of a great National victory.

WOULD END PARTY STRIFE.

Stokes Calls on Republican Leaders to Let People Pick Candidate.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., May 2.—In a statement issued to-day reviewing Col. Roosevelt's candidacy and commenting on his action yesterday in releasing his delegates at large in Massachusetts, ex-Gov. Stokes called upon the party leaders of the Nation to-day to let the people decide who is to be their standard bearer.

"Individuals may differ in their preference as to candidates," he said, "but all good Republicans can agree upon these two things:

"First: No man should be nominated as the candidate for President concerning whose election there is a reasonable doubt.

"Second: That man should be nominated, and that man only, around whom the great majority of Republicans can enthusiastically rally.

"Unless the party leaders are willing to refrain from intestine party strife and work to this end, they are recreant to their trust. Col. Roosevelt has set a splendid example in this respect. Will the party leaders heed it and let the people decide?"

AFRAID OF GUFFEY.

Pennsylvania Democrats Appeal to Bryan to Balk Him.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—The reorganizing or progressive element in the Pennsylvania Democracy, which defeated the Guffey organization at the primaries, have appealed to William J. Bryan to save them from Guffey at the State Convention, which is to meet next Tuesday. Congresman A. Mitchell Palmer, the progressive leader, professes to have two-thirds of the convention, yet he has asked Mr. Bryan to help him keep Guffey from stealing the National Committeeman.

At Mr. Palmer's request Mr. Bryan has sent him the following letter, which is made public to-night:

> Jacksonville, Fla., April 25, 1912.
>
> Dear Mr. Palmer: I have thought over the matter and feel justified in expressing the following opinion on the Pennsylvania situation. The fight has been against Guffey and Guffeyism and you have either won or lost. If you have lost Guffey is entitled to retain his place: if you have won Guffey's successor should be selected by those who are against him.
>
> A defeated General ought not to be allowed to make the promotions in the victorious army. If Guffey is permitted to name his successor it will be difficult, if not impossible, to convince the public that the party has been reorganized. No one ought to command the confidence of Progressives who is not willing to trust his case in the hands of Progressives. Experience shows that our State needs a new deal.
>

That the progressives or reorganizers are to have the delegates at large is conceded. Col. Guffey will not be National Committeeman. Mr. Palmer is slated for the place. But Guffey, Donnelly, and Ryan have been making insidious appeals for harmony. "Don't rub in our defeat," they have been saying; "Let us all get together. Guffey is out of it for National Committeeman; now let Palmer get out too, and let us all agree on a compromise candidate."

The reorganizers are perfectly well aware that the compromise candidate will be a man friendly to the old organization, if not actually a member of it, and that this demure suggestion of Guffey's is simply a way of preparing to slip back into power. Why they should be afraid of his doing it, if they really have the strength they say, is not apparent.

PENROSE'S ROUT COMPLETE.

McNichol and Martin, Machine Leaders in Philadelphia, for Roosevelt.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, May 2.—State Senator James P. McNichol and "Boss" Martin have joined State Senator Edwin S. Vare on the Roosevelt band wagon. The desertion of these last of the organization's leaders in Philadelphia makes the defeat of Senator Penrose complete. Roosevelt leaders predict that the Pennsylvania delegation to the Chicago Convention will be almost unanimously for the Colonel.

Senator McNichol, together with Martin, have come out openly in support of the Roosevelt platform adopted at the Harrisburg Convention, and when asked if their support of that platform meant that they had joined Vare on the band wagon they smiled and said they were "sports."

Penrose, since the collapse of his machine and régime at Harrisburg, has not discussed politics. He refused to talk when asked about the desertion of McNichol and Martin.

would stand together independent of political or other affiliations and would fight the union to a standstill, even if it meant that no newspapers, morning or evening, should be printed in Chicago for a month. Mr. Hearst being a member of the association was entitled to its support, and it was cheerfully accorded. Pressmen were loaned to the two Hearst papers from The Inter-Ocean and other newspapers, and the The Examiner was issued this morning.

The pressmen's union was informed that its action in declaring a strike in the Hearst office abrogated the agreement between it and the Publishers' Association; that the publishers of Chicago were united in an agreement whereby a fight precipitated in the office of one member must necessarily be regarded as an onslaught on the peaceful and orderly conduct of business in each of the others, and that the newspaper publishers were prepared to stand shoulder to shoulder to fight this issue to a finish.

When the pressmen on the four afternoon papers appeared for work at their respective offices, The Daily News, The Evening Post, The Evening Journal, and The American they found themselves locked out. The publishers, however, had been prepared for emergencies, and in each of the offices non-union pressmen were on hand, but not in sufficient number to get the papers out on schedule time. In fact no afternoon paper was published until nearly 6 o'clock this evening, and then only in abbreviated form.

All day long there had been conferences between a committee of the pressmen and one of the Publishers' Association, but without avail. Late in the afternoon Ellsworth George Haight, President of Web Pressmens' Union 7, issued a bulletin, which read:

> Lockout by the publishers all over the city. All negotiations are broken off by the publishers.

With the breaking off of negotiations looking to a settlement of the dispute the publishers immediately made arrangements to issue belated editions of the afternoon papers. With the appearance of the first copy of The American and The Evening Journal shortly before 6 o'clock the drivers of the delivery wagons went on strike. This strike spread to all the newspaper offices.

The managers of the morning newspapers have arranged for a combination delivery of their papers in the morning. The sympathy strike of the wagon drivers, however, completely crippled the delivery of afternoon papers save in the loop district where they could be obtained by the corner dealers in small lots.

With the appearance of the condensed and belated afternoon sheets, homeward-bound Chicagoans precipitated a small riot in their eagerness to obtain copies, which the newsdealers had in small quantities only. Men and women fought with one another at Clark and Madison and State and Van Buren Streets and other busy corners to get copies, in many instances paying from 10 to 25 cents each for the paper. In less than five minutes the newsdealer's stand would be bare, with no further copies forthcoming.

The Daily Socialist, a labor newspaper, had a field day, although many newsdealers refused absolutely to handle it, and the more conservative of the reading public was chary about making purchases. It devoted most of its first page to lurid accounts of the manner in which "Chicago's great newspaper trust is completely tied up by its failure to reach an agreement with the union pressmen," and the organ of labor was particularly vindictive in its attitude toward William Randolph Hearst. In big black letters it printed "Hearst's anti-labor record" as follows:

> Newsboys struck against Hearst papers in Boston. Hearst employed thugs to beat them up. Had Mayor take licenses from boys. Placed on unfair list by the Boston Central Labor body. Agreed to arbitrate if his name was removed. After this was done he refused to live up to his promise to arbitrate.
>
> Erected a building in New York with scab labor. Made miners employed in Homestake mine at Lead, S. D., owned by Hearst estate, sign an agreement that they would not join the union before they were allowed to work. Two thousand miners driven from Homestake by Hearst through use of the lockout.
>
> In Los Angeles Hearst allied himself with Harrison Grey Otis, one of the greatest enemies of organized labor in the country. Otis and Hearst each published the same articles in their respective papers.
>
> Denounced in resolutions passed by the Chicago Federation of Labor, the Los Angeles Central Trades and Labor Council, and other labor organizations throughout the country.
>
> In 1903 the workers sought out Hearst in New York for assistance in fighting The Los Angeles Times. Hearst agreed to start a Los Angeles Examiner if he could be guaranteed from 40,000 to 50,000 subscribers for six months. Every union man constituted himself a committee of one to gain subscriptions, and, furthermore, to aid The Examiner at its opening night the union men gave an immense parade, with music and fireworks. Hearst soon forgot this, and before many months he was siding with the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, headed by Otis, and fighting those who had made his paper all that it was.

While all this interested Chicagoans to a certain degree, they clamored for their favorite afternoon papers without avail. Even when the papers made their belated appearance the quantity was so insignificant that hardly one in 500 could be served.

Chicago went to bed to-night with grave doubts as to whether there would be a sufficient supply of morning papers, even in abbreviated form, to gather a fair impression of the events of the outside world. The publishers of the morning newspapers are confident that they will be able to turn out a sufficient number of papers to meet the demand in the morning.

While a strong force of policemen is on guard at each newspaper office in the city, there has been no rioting or violence of any kind. The authorities are taking every precaution to prevent disorder.

The situation so far has ont called for the importation of newspapers from other cities, but it is recalled that in the last great struggle between the newspaper publishers and their employes in the early nineties, the Chicago newspapers were printed in Milwaukee, ninety miles away, and brought to Chicago by train. The publishers are confident they will not have to adopt this course during the present trouble.

J. C. Orr, Secretary of the International Pressmen's Union, who, with other labor leaders, arrived here to-day, said the pressmen had no statement to make at this time.

"We would like the public to remember that this is not a strike, but a lockout," he said. "Aside from that, we have nothing to say now."

60 OF TITANIC DEAD TO BE BURIED TO-DAY

Speedy Interment of Many Unidentified Bodies in Halifax Becomes Necessary.

SEARCH IN MORGUE KEEPS UP

Funeral Ship Minia, Which Picks Up 15, Ordered to Report No Further Findings Unless Victims Identified.

Special to The New York Times.

HALIFAX, N. S., May 2.—Sixty bodies of the Titanic's dead will be buried here to-morrow. It was decided to-night that it was necessary to inter this number owing to the condition of the bodies.

The weather is becoming so warm that the undertakers are finding difficulty in preserving the bodies, especially some of those which were hurriedly embalmed at sea.

The body of Stanley H. Fox of Rochester, N. Y., which was delivered to his sister-in-law, Mrs. Lydia Fox, and after being shipped was intercepted by the authorities at Truro, after the receipt of a dispatch from his widow, was brought back to Halifax to-day. The deceased's effects were again taken possession of by the authorities. The necessary papers were prepared and the body was shipped to-night to Mrs. Cora Fox, the widow, in Rochester.

The belief here is that the cable ship Minia, which is expected in port next week, has picked up practically all the bodies that remain to be found. The Minia reports that she found fifteen bodies. The Minia's Captain has been notified to refrain from sending word of any further recoveries unless the newly discovered bodies are identified, since the mere mention of finding more bodies might rouse false hopes in those whose dead are still missing. The White Star Line has gathered for record descriptions and photographs of the bodies buried unidentified.

Upon application of relatives who wish to establish formal legal identification, the Municipal Medical Examiner to-day held a special inquest upon two bodies. One was that of Alfred Rowe, an Englishman, and the other was the body of an Uruguayan official. Application for the latter inquest was made by the Uruguayan Government through its Consul General in New York.

The body of a little boy remains in the Morgue, incased in a handsome coffin, which is almost covered with flowers, the tribute of American women who are in Halifax seeking dead relatives. Gen. Russell Thayer, Chief Engineer of the Pennsylvania Railroad, to-day wired Mayor Chisholm that if no person claimed the body of the boy to have it buried here at his expense.

R. J. Minihan of Green Bay, Wis., who arrived here to-night, identified the body of his brother, Dr. R. J. Minihan of Green Bay.

It developed to-day that the name of Antonia B. Antonia should be Alline Baptiste. He was a waiter on the Titanic. A body hitherto unidentified was pronounced by Charles Abbott of H. M. S. C. Niobe to be that of Arthur Lewis, a steward, and the same sailor identified the body of William Gorry, which also was removed from the unidentified class. A third unidentified body is now supposed to be that of D. Matheson, the name being tattooed on the arm over crossed flags and other tattoo marks.

Victor I. Minehan of Green Bay, Wis., arrived to-night and claimed the body of his brother, William Edward Minehan of Fond du Lac, Wis. On this body had been found $480 in cash and a letter of credit for $2,500.

RHINEBECK, N. Y., May 2.—The body of Col. John Jacob Astor arrived at Ferncliffe, the Astor estate, near this village, this afternoon. Funeral services will be held here in the Church of the Messiah, of which Col. Astor was a warden, at 12 o'clock Saturday noon.

Every flag in the village was at half mast when the body arrived, accompanied by Vincent Astor. The New York Central train was stopped at Ferncliffe, which is a mile below the Rhinecliffe Station, to allow the body to be transferred from the special car to the Astor mansion.

The funeral services will be conducted by the Rev. Ernest Saunders, rector of the church. A special funeral train will bring a large party from New York.

MILLET'S BODY CREMATED.

BOSTON, May 2.—A throng of men and women stood with heads uncovered in the train shed in the North Station to-day when the coffins containing the bodies of Frank D. Millet, the artist, and Richard P. White of Winchester and Boston were taken off the train from Halifax. The body of Mr. Millet was removed to the chapel at Mount Auburn Cemetery, where funeral services were held.

A large floral piece from President Taft occupied a prominent place on the Millet coffin. Representatives of the Boston Art Club and of the class of '69 of Harvard University, with his friends, relatives, and former associates of the artist attended the funeral.

The services were read by the Rev. Charles E. Park of Boston. The body was cremated, and the ashes will be taken to East Bridgewater, to be interred in the family lot.

SMITH RUNS DOWN 'HIDDEN' WIRELESS

It Was the First News That the Titanic Was Sinking, Which All the World Knew.

HEARS LAST WITNESS TO-DAY

Still Interested in The Times's Enterprise and Questioning Witnesses About It.

Except for examining a single remaining witness who will appear before him this morning, Senator William Alden Smith concluded yesterday his investigation into the wreck of the steamship Titanic.

Senator Smith's two chief impressions from his weeks of burrowing diligently into the facts connected with the disaster are, first, that it was "a cruel incident that the wireless operator of the steamship California happened to be asleep when the Titanic was calling in distress, and second, that the message received at 2:30 o'clock Monday morning, April 15, by the White Star Line over the telephone from Montreal was so serious that it did not in any degree justify the attitude of buoyant hopefulness maintained at the White Star offices throughout Monday." This message was merely a duplicate of the dispatch from Cape Race printed in THE TIMES that morning, announcing that the Titanic had hit an iceberg, that the women were being put off in the lifeboats, and that the ship was sinking by the head.

After hearing the witness this morning and checking up several minor points of testimony at the offices of the Western Union Telegraph Company, Senator Smith will plunge into the work of drawing up his final report to the Senate. He said last night that he was very anxious to get this report into the possession of the Senate at the earliest possible moment.

It will contain recommendations for drastic revision of the laws as to lifeboat equipment, for the compulsory use of searchlights, for a strict control of wireless telegraphy, to promote its efficiency in reporting and receiving reports of disasters, and for building ships with double hulls throughout, and will deal with the question of lifeboat drills at sea.

Senator Smith had on the stand yesterday John Bottomley, Vice President, General Manager, and Treasurer of the American Marconi Company. Mr. Bottomley is the only officer of the Marconi Company that Senator Smith had not previously examined in regard to the manner in which THE TIMES received the narratives of the personal adventures of Wireless Operators Bride and Cottam after the Carpathia's arrival at her dock here.

The complete story was retold by Mr. Bottomley, and he was asked to tell, as Mr. Sammis of the Marconi Company had previously been required to tell, whether he felt extremely proud, or the reverse, of having helped the wireless operators to tell their stories under conditions assuring them remuneration.

Finds Witnesses Unsatisfactory.

Besides hearing Mr. Bottomley's testimony, Senator Smith examined Mrs. J. Stuart White of Briarcliffe, a passenger on the Titanic, and he held two confidential interviews. One of the interviews was with E. J. Dunn, the recalcitrant witness who refused to give the name of a Western Union telegraph operator whose son, he said, had told him of a message concerning the Titanic received here early Monday morning, and the other was with Mr. Dunn's informant.

The name of this informant Senator Smith refused to make public. He said that both interviews were unsatisfactory and that both men had acted as if they had something to conceal. An incident in the conduct of the unnamed informant in the case was that he left New York last Sunday and reappeared to make a statement before Senator Smith only after a diligent search had been made for him.

"I have not yet satisfied myself," said Senator Smith, after closing his inquiry for the day, "whether these two men had actual knowledge of a genuine message or not. On the surface, judging from their stories, it appears that they did not have such knowledge.

"But they were not frank witnesses, and their manner was not assuring. I intend to look very closely into their stories. I don't care what the facts happen to be, but I do want to learn exactly what the facts are.

"The witness I shall examine to-morrow morning is a survivor of the Titanic—a passenger—who telephoned me this afternoon that he had seen sailors trying to close a watertight compartment with a lever which would not work. This fact has already been testified to, it having been brought out that the work was abandoned after a time. This testimony, as sketched over the telephone to me, will be merely corroborative of what has already been told."

Company's Optimism Unjustifiable.

Senator Smith was asked as to his final conclusions concerning the conduct of the officials of the White Star Line and concerning his search for messages received by them preceding the announcement to the public that the Titanic had foundered.

For answer Senator Smith drew from a leather folio a copy of The Anaconda Standard, published Monday morning, April 15.

"In this paper," he said, "is a dispatch from Montreal giving the substantial contents of a wireless message sent to Cape Race by the steamship Virginian and relayed from Cape Race by telegraph to Montreal.

"The contents of that dispatch, I am absolutely convinced, are identical with the contents of a telephonic message received by Vice President Franklin of the White Star Line at 2:30 o'clock Monday morning. There was nothing in that message to reassure Vice President Franklin or give him any cause to issue hopeful bulletins throughout Monday.

"The message portrayed a most serious condition. It narrated that the Titanic had struck an iceberg, that the women and children had been put off in lifeboats, and that the vessel at 1:37 o'clock Monday morning reported herself as sinking by the head. The message concluded with the information that the last words of the final wireless from the Titanic had ended in a splutter.

"Now, all I can say about the White Star Line is that a responsible official, upon the receipt of such alarming information, should have taken the world into his confidence and should have told frankly what he no doubt felt personally—that he was facing a most serious situation. He should not have given out buoyant bulletins throughout Monday."

Senator Smith need not have waited for the Anaconda Standard to give him this dispatch. He could have found it printed in large type in THE TIMES of that morning. It was this dispatch that THE TIMES telephoned to the White Star officials in the early hours of Monday, April 15, giving them their earliest information of the disaster.

His Answer to His Critics.

In response to a suggestion that perhaps he would like to answer his many critics who have found fault with the questions addressed to survivors, Senator Smith made this statement:

"I am no sailor, but the men I have examined have not been novices. Our report will speak for itself. I have merely tried to get at the facts from responsible persons in a position to know them.

"We have arrived at the facts; we have learned the truth. All I know about the sea and ships was taught to me by the dead Captain of the Titanic. My son and I came over from Europe six years ago on the Baltic, of which Capt. Smith was in command. He showed us all over the ship and all I know about seamanship I learned from him at that time. I admit that my lack of sea knowledge was a handicap, but still in spite of that we got the truth."

The nature of Senator Smith's inquiry into the course of Mr. Bottomley and his associates of the Marconi Company was indicated by this question, put suddenly in the midst of his testimony along other lines:

"Do you, Mr. Bottomley, know of your own knowledge, or have you been informed by any person, by wire, or by wireless, or by cable, or letter, or word of mouth, or otherwise, that information bearing on this disaster did reach any officer of the Marconi Company or the White Star Line on Monday morning, April 15, prior to 10 o'clock?"

"I don't know of any such message," replied the American Marconi Company's general manager. "The first message I received was around 6 P. M.; about that time. It may have been a little later."

Senator Smith insisted that Mr. Bottomley should search the records to make sure that no such early message was received. He said he would do so. Later at his office he said to a TIMES reporter that he had made a search and he was positive that no information had been received until the message at about 6 P. M., telling of the Titanic's loss.

The manner in which the narratives of Bride and Cottam, which appeared exclusively in THE NEW YORK TIMES, were obtained, was gone over in minute detail in Mr. Bottomley's examination.

Failed to Get Reply from Carpathia.

"What did you do, as the general officer in charge of the Marconi Company here, to get in touch with the operator of the Carpathia after the wreck?" asked Senator Smith.

"I tried to the best of my ability to reach the operator. On Monday I sent what we know as a 'memorandum' message to the operator aboard the Carpathia. I asked the operator to send us at least 500 words of good news to be given out from our office."

"Did you do anything else?"

"Yes," said Mr. Bottomley, "after I found I could get no reply I called up the managers of the Western Union and the Postal Telegraph companies, and requested them to see that there was no delay in forwarding messages from our wireless stations to this city. I asked them if they would kindly keep their wires as clear as possible to expedite messages about the Titanic. I told them there ought to be a rush of both personal messages and press messages.

"On Tuesday I also sent memorandum messages to the wireless stations at Cape Race, Sable Island, and Halifax, requesting the operators at each place to forward us all the information they could obtain."

"Did you in any manner attempt to influence the conduct of Cottam, the wireless operator on the Carpathia, or of Bride, the surviving wireless operator of the Titanic, in regard to the sending out of information concerning this catastrophe?"

"In no way whatever, while the ship was at sea. After the ship had passed Quarantine I heard from THE NEW YORK TIMES that THE TIMES would be willing to pay our operators a sum of money for their stories. I said that if Mr. Marconi consented I would also consent. At 7:45 P. M. Mr. Marconi was at my house for a social engagement. I spoke to him about the matter. He replied that he did not altogether care for the business, but if the operators wished to tell their stories to THE TIMES he would not interfere.

"I then rang up our office, and told them that I had no objection, and that Mr. Marconi had no objection to the operators making any bargain they could."

"Did you make any attempt to reach the operators on their arrival?"

"No, Sir, none at all."

"Did you consider it proper to encourage the operators in the manner referred to?"

Didn't Want Story Garbled.

"Yes," said Mr. Bottomley, "I think it was more advisable for the operators to give their stories to one newspaper rather than have the stories scattered piecemeal and written up by various reporters for various papers."

"Might not this custom lead to a general understanding among operators and tend to influence them in their course following calamaties at sea?"

"No, I would not think so."

"If it were understood that wireless men were planning to hold out their stories for pay, don't you think it would weaken the confidence of the public in any bulletins they might send in advance of their arrival?"

"Now you are presuming that a wireless operator is the proper person to originate news dispatches," replied Mr. Bottomley. "But that is not the fact. Our experience teaches us that there is hardly a wireless operator now in service upon the Atlantic who would be able to prepare of his own volition a news dispatch or a report of any accident. More than that it is a positive rule that a wireless operator cannot send any dispatch having to do with the operation of the ship or any accident to the ship without the Captain's express orders and approval. The Captain is the man you must look to for your wireless news from the sea."

"Do you think the operators are poorly paid, so that inducements held out to them to join the service include the chance to sell such stories?"

"No, operators are fairly well paid, considering that they have no expenses at sea. Absolutely no inducements are held out to them of the nature you suggest."

"How about Jack Binns? Don't you know that he received a large sum of money for his story?"

"No, I do not think he received a large sum. On the other hand, he received a rather small sum at the time. He afterward received a large sum from lectures and magazine writings."

"How much did Bride receive from THE NEW YORK TIMES?"

"Mr. Van Anda of THE TIMES said he would be willing to pay $1,000 to the boys," said Mr. Bottomley. "Afterward he said a London paper had forwarded $250 for Bride, and that THE TIMES proposed to raise its figure by $250 for each operator. This would give Bride $1,000 and Cottam $750. I have heard that they received this amount."

Mr. Bottomley was asked if he could concur in any plans of Mr. Marconi to discourage the future sale of their stories by wireless operators. He replied that any wishes Mr. Marconi might express would be fully respected and concurred in by him.

The question whether the Marconi company refused to give information to ships fitted with other systems of wireless apparatus was taken up in detail. Mr. Bottomley insisted that so far as the American Marconi Company was concerned there was no withholding of information whatever on account of the kind of equipment used.

Mrs. J. Stewart White of Briarcliffe testified as to the seamanship of three members of the crew put into Lifeboat 8 to handle the oars. She stated that she was confined to her stateroom throughout the trip because of an injury she received in stumbling over a rug on coming aboard the Titanic at Cherbourg.

"When I was called on deck after the collision," she said, "it was the first time I had been out of my room. I reached Lifeboat 8, which was the third launched from the starboard side. There were twenty-three women, two stewards, and a seaman in the boat.

"Not one of these three men had ever been in a rowboat before, to judge from their actions. The stewards sat still and said, when asked why they did not try to row, that they knew nothing of oars or boats. I told one steward to put an oar near him in an oarlock. He asked where the oarlock was and apologized for his ignorance. The three men lit ugly-looking pipes and cigarettes, and, although we asked them not to smoke, fearing our clothing would catch fire, they laughed at us. I never saw such ignorance in all my years of ocean travel. The boat could have accommodated twice as many passengers as were sent away in it, and the deck, when it was lowered, was full of people clamoring to get in."

Senator Smith will be in New York throughout to-day and possibly to-morrow.

STRAUS'S BODY ARRIVES.

Funeral Will Be Private—Memorial Meeting Next Sunday.

The body of Isidor Straus arrived in this city from Halifax yesterday afternoon and was removed to the Straus home. From his nephew, Percy Straus, it was learned that the funeral arrangements had not been completed, but that the services would be private and that only members of the family and a few intimate friends would attend.

A civic memorial meeting for Mr. and Mrs. Isidor Straus will be held in Carnegie Hall on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Justice Samuel Greenbaum, President of the Council of Jewish Communal Institutions and Chairman of the Committee on Arrangements, will preside. Mayor Gaynor will act as Honorary Chairman.

The speakers will include Bishop Gailor of Tennessee and Andrew Carnegie. The employes of R. H. Macy & Co., Abraham & Straus, and L. Straus & Sons will attend in a body. Cards of admission may be obtained upon application to P. Stewart, 52 William Street.

Memorial Service for Guggenheim.

A memorial service was held yesterday afternoon in the St. Regis in memory of Benjamin Guggenheim, who lost his life on the Titanic. WIDEST SCOPE TAKEN FOR BRITISH INQUIRY

Lord Mersey's Titanic Court Opens with 100 Lawyers Present and Few Spectators.

WILL ASK 26 QUESTIONS

Returned Crew Members to be First Witnesses in Investigation Which Goes Into Vast Detail.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, May 2.—The British inquiry into the Titanic disaster began to-day under not altogether auspicious circumstances.

Toward the close of the first session, which was chiefly taken up by Attorney General Sir Rufas Isaacs's address, defining the scope of the inquiry, Lord Mersey, the Special Commissioner, intimated that the big drill hall of the Scottish Rifles, in which the proceedings were held, was not suitable from the point of view of acoustics.

Another, and a smaller, hall will probably be selected, particularly as the public showed no eagerness to attend the proceedings.

LONDON, May 2.—In outlining the purpose and scope of the Titanic inquiry Attorney General Isaacs to-day stated that of the twenty-six questions to be taken up eight would relate to happenings before the casualty; six to warnings given the Titanic and the resulting precautions taken; ten to the casualty itself and consequent events; one to the equipment and construction of the vessel, and the last to the rules of the Merchant Shipping act.

The twenty-six questions to be asked the witnesses are in substance as follows:

1. What were the numbers of the passengers and crew, their sex, &c.?
2. Did the Titanic comply with the requirements of the act complying to passenger steamers?
3. Was there a special provision in the design of the vessel for safety?
4. Was the steamer fully officered and manned?
5. What was the number of lifeboats, was the number sufficient, and had there been a boat drill?
6. Regarding the installation of the wireless system, was it in effective order, and what was the number of wireless operators?
7. Were there any, and if so what, instructions, given to the master regarding the navigation of the steamer?
8. What track was taken by the Titanic; was it the one usually followed; was the track safe at that time of the year, and did the master have any discretion regarding the track taken?
9. What information reached the Titanic of the existence of ice; and was the course altered in consequence of this information?
10. Was there a proper lookout for ice maintained; after the warning was received were directions given to vary the speed, and were the directions carried out?
11. Was there an equipment of searchlights and binoculars, and was such equipment necessary?
12. What precautions were taken by the Titanic when ice was met?
13. Did any one see the reported ice before the casualty occurred; what measures were taken to avoid the ice, and were these measures proper?
14. What was the speed of the vessel immediately preceding the casualty, and was it excessive under the circumstances?
15. What was the nature of the casualty?
16. When the casualty occurred, what steps were taken immediately; how long a time elapsed after the casualty before its seriousness was realized; what steps were then taken and what endeavors were made to save the lives of those on board and to prevent the vessel sinking?
17. Was proper discipline maintained after the casualty?
18. What messages, asking assistance, were sent out and what answers were received?
19. What apparatus was there for lowering the lifeboats; what was its efficiency; did the boats get away under proper superintendence, and were the boats properly manned?
20. Did the lifeboats prove efficient in saving life; what was the number of passengers and crew in each boat on leaving the vessel; how was the number made up with regard to the sex and class rating, and did the boats carry full loads; otherwise, why not?
21. What were the numbers of the passengers of the first, second and third class respectively who were saved; what was the number of the crew saved having regard for their ratings and sex; and what was the proportion of the different classes of passengers and the different grades of the crew saved to their total numbers on board, and what reason was there for a disproportion if such there was?
22. This question further develops points covered in question No. 21.
23. What were the happenings on board the liner after the casualty occurred up to the time she foundered, and what was the cause of the loss of the Titanic and the loss of life that ensued?
24. This question further develops the subject of question No. 23.
25. What was the construction and what was the adequacy of the equipment of the Titanic?
26. This designated as the final question, constitutes a request to the court to report upon the rules and regulations of the Merchant Shipping act and to make recommendations with a view to promoting the safety of vessels and persons at sea.

A twenty-foot model of the Titanic, carrying sixteen miniature lifeboats, and a chart of the North Atlantic Ocean were prominently displayed before the investigators. In the audience were 100 members of the bar, representing various interests involved.

At the outset of the session Attorney General Isaacs said:

"I desire on behalf of the Government to express the deepest sympathy for all those who mourn the loss of relatives and friends among the passengers, the officers, and the crew of the ill-fated vessel. The accident exceeded in magnitude and in harrowing incidents any disaster in the history of the mercantile marine. I cannot forbear paying a tribute to those whose devotion to duty and heroic self-sacrifice maintained the best traditions of the sea."

Sir Robert Finlay, ex-Attorney General and now chief counsel for the White Star Steamship Company, seconded these remarks, repeating that "the disaster had given an opportunity for a display of heroism and devotion to duty which had maintained the best traditions of the mercantile marine."

The only reference to the American investigation during the day was Sir Rufus's announcement that, owing to the detention of many witnesses for the inquiry in the United States, the testimony would not be presented in a logical order. The seamen who arrived from New York on the Lapland were called first as witnesses to the construction and equipment of the Titanic.

Several lawyers, representing interested parties, requested permission to participate in the proceedings. Lord Mersey recognized Thomas Scanlan, member of Parliament for the North Division of Sligo, who appeared for the Seamens and Firemen's Union, and an attorney for the Merchants' Service Guild, and took under consideration applications for representation of the Seafarers' Union, the Ship Constructors' Association, and the Mercantile Officers' Union.

BIRMA'S CHARGES ARE DENIED.

Danish Steamship's Operator Complained That Carpathia Refused Facts

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

BERLIN, May 2.—The German Wireless Telegraph Company circulates the following statement:

"The Danish press are publishing indignant articles in connection with the action of the Marconi Company during the rescue of the Titanic's passengers. The steamship Birma of the East Asian Company was in the neighborhood of the disaster while the Carpathia was taking the survivors on board, and asked by wireless if assistance was required. The Danish steamship received only the laconic reply, 'wait.'

"In the meantime the Danish Captain prepared everything for the reception of survivors, and again offered assistance to the Carpathia. Finally an answer arrived, reading:

"'If your ship is not equipped with Marconi apparatus, my orders are to give you no information.'

"The Danish ship replied that she carried De Forest apparatus, whereupon she received the polite advice from the Englishman, 'then, shut your mouth.'

"The Danish operator declares his readiness to swear to these facts, so the affair will have further consequences for the Carpathia and the Marconi Company."

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, May 2.—Godfrey S. Isaacs, Managing Director of the Marconi Company, said in reply to reported criticisms by the operator on the Birma:

"The facts of the case are that the wireless operator on the Birma was interfering by irrelevant and jocose remarks with serious messages, which were being handled by the Carpathia operator.

"We have the testimony of the operators on several ships as to the character of the Birma operator's messages. He was told to be 'at attention,' and had he been so he would have received all the details regarding the Titanic, which were being sent out from the Carpathia and were received by other ships in the vicinity."

BRITISH FUND IS $1,600,000.

Immediate Relief Ordered for Widows of Sailors in England.

LONDON, May 2.—The British Titanic fund amounts to approximately $1,600,000. A conference was held at the Mansion House to-day to arrange for its distribution.

It was decided to extend immediate relief to widows and bereaved families of members of the crew pending the organization of a committee to undertake the administration of the fund. This committee will include the Lord Mayor, the Earl of Derby, and the Governor of the Bank of England.

On Lord Derby's suggestion it was decided to inquire whether the American relief committees would provide for such emigrants who lost relatives as intended to settle permanently in the United States.

THE TIMES acknowledges receipt of $2 from "A Sympathizer" for the Titanic Relief Fund. It was announced yesterday that about $500 had been raised for the benefit of the families of the bandsmen who perished on board the Titanic through the exertions of Miss Lotta Davidson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert T. Davidson of 693 Bushwick Avenue. Miss Davidson is a graduate of Packard Institute and is a violinist of exceptional talent, having received her musical education abroad.

When the story of the sinking of the Titanic had been told Miss Davidson was especially impressed with the courage shown by the members of the ship's band. She immediately planned to give a benefit concert, and had no difficulty in obtaining artists who volunteered their services. The Rev. Dr. MacDonald, pastor of the Washington Avenue Baptist Church, placed the church at her disposal, and the concert was held there on Wednesday night.

Besides Miss Davidson the following artists took part: Miss Alice Ralph, soprano; Frank Weisman, tenor; W. Paulding De Nite, 'cellist, and Arthur Rowe Pollock, and Miss Eva Lahaye, accompanists. The patronesses included more than a score of prominent women of Brooklyn, among them Mrs. William J. Gaynor, wife of the Mayor.

In addition to the fund raised at the concert Miss Davidson has received contributions through the mails from strangers, some of the letters coming from distant points. She has requested THE TIMES to announce that the subscription list is still open and that any contributions will be gratefully received and acknowledged.

ISMAY SAILS FOR ENGLAND.

Has No Fault to Find with Inquiry, Which He Thinks Was Fair.

J. Bruce Ismay, President of the International Mercantile Marine Company, who was examined in Washington by Senator Smith in the Titanic inquiry, sailed yesterday for Liverpool on the White Star liner Adriatic at noon, accompanied by Officers Lightoller, Pitman, Boxhall, and Lowe. Thirty members of the crew of the Titanic, including Fleet, the lookout man, who had been detained to give testimony at the inquiry, also sailed on the Adriatic.

In his two days' stay at the Ritz-Carlton Mr. Ismay had not been well, and declined to see any callers except those who had special appointments on business, made through P. A. S. Franklin, the Vice President of the company. In order to avoid the reporters and photographers waiting outside the hotel yesterday morning, Mr. Ismay left by a rear exit and stepped quietly into a taxicab with Mr. Franklin to drive to the pier, while the latter's automobile was waiting in front of the hotel.

There was no attempt at concealment at the pier when Mr. Ismay boarded the Ardiatic and went to his stateroom on the promenade deck. After a consultation with Mr. Franklin and the heads of the various departments and his lawyer, the reporters were ushered into Mr. Ismay's suite, where he gave them a brief interview.

The head of the big steamship concern did not appear to have been very ill, but there were careworn lines in his face. Mr. Ismay has been known as a strict disciplinarian, but he seemed more approachable and agreeable yesterday.

"I have no comments to make on the inquiry, which I think was conducted in a very fair manner and I have no fault to find with it," he said. "I do not know of anything else to say in regard to this terrible accident. I shall come back to America, but I will not be able to say just when that will be, unless I am summoned here on important business that demands my attention. I do not refer to subpoenas, which will be attended to by the attorney for the company in New York."

"Do you think that any plans will be formulated in the near future for the construction of another vessel to replace the Titanic in the Southampton service?" he was asked.

"That matter has not been gone into yet," replied Mr. Ismay.

With regard to the inquiry being conducted in London, he had not been requested to attend, he said.

The Adriatic was inspected on Wednesday by the United States Steamboat Inspectors prior to a renewal of her certificate to carry passengers to American ports, and 475 of her life belts were condemned as being in need of repair. Although it was pointed out to the inspectors by the ship's officers that these 475 belts were only needed in the Winter season when the Adriatic was running to the Mediterranean and carrying large number of Italian immigrants in the steerage, the United States officials insisted on the number being replaced with new belts before they would grant the certificate, and a rush order had to be executed to get the 475 canvas covered life belts so that the ship could sail on time.

Men's $20 Suits—at Saks'

no man's ideas of a liberal assortment of models, fabrics, and colorings can well exceed the assortments we are showing at the popular price of twenty dollars

¶ This advertisement is a plain invitation to the man seeking clothes-satisfaction at twenty dollars, to walk into the Saks store and get it. It is more than that.

¶ This advertisement may even be regarded as a guarantee of clothes-satisfaction at twenty dollars, for such it virtually is. There never was a season yet when any ready-for-service assortments equalled our own, nor any former assortments of ours that equalled those we are showing now.

¶ And since it is the inalienable right of every man to state the truth as forcibly as he knows how, we will add, that the man who wants unqualified satisfaction in a twenty dollar suit, must inevitably come to Saks'. By this, we mean a maximum of satisfaction—in style, in tailoring, in finish, in honest, intrinsic value.

¶ This, then, is a hint of what we can do at twenty dollars. Norfolks in blue serges and fancy mixture cloths. Made in the new semi-Norfolk effect, with four patch buttoned pockets, and belt effect at back. Double breasted suits, in blue serges, so designed as to offset in the narrow shoulders and narrow lapels the too-square and unsymmetrical appearance of the average double breasted garment.

¶ Single breasted sack coats, with any style lapel, soft roll collar or unbending fronts; made on the new narrow lines, slightly fitting, in two and three button effects.

¶ As for fabrics, their name is legion. Cassimeres, worsteds and cheviot effects, in pin stripes, solid colors and self-stripes; Bannockburn effects, effective check patterns, and plain grays, in light, medium and dark shadings; and—

But lift the latch and come in!

AMERICANS WITHOUT THEIR LONDON SUITS

Tailors' Strike Prevents Finishing of Many for Transatlantic Visitors.

MAY SPREAD TO EAST END

Managers of West End Shops Discuss Closing Them Until Strike Ends—Some Disorder Yesterday.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, May 2.—A good many Americans now in London are feeling the effects of the tailors' strike, which to-day became complete, not a single tailor in the employ of first-class West End firms being now at work.

"We don't so much mind about our English customers," said the head of one firm, which has a big American business, "but we shall have to disappoint several customers who are sailing for New York on Saturday.

"All those clothes are for Americans," he added, pointing to garments in all stages of incompleteness, which were so numerous as to suggest that if other London firms make an equal amount of clothes for America a high percentage of Americans get their clothes made in London.

"All we can do," concluded the sartorial expert, "will be to complete the clothes when we can, send them to New York, and pay the duty ourselves."

The managers of a number of West End tailoring establishments to-day discussed the idea of closing the shops until the men return to work.

It is possible that the strike will spread to the East End, where about 40,000 tailors, men and women, work. Many Jewish tailors' societies met to-day to consider demands to be placed before the employers. The strikers have received assurances that the East End tailors will not undertake work sent there during the dispute by West End masters.

Only 3,000 strikers are trade unionists. The others are idle because their work depends on the strikers.

There were some conflicts between the police and the tailors' pickets to-day, and one or two arrests were made.

PREDICTS HOME RULE FIASCO.

Balfour Says Good Men Will Refuse to Serve in Irish Parliament.

LONDON, May 2.—Ex-Premier Balfour and Sir Edward Grey, the Foreign Secretary, were the chief speakers in to-day's debate on the Home Rule bill in the House of Commons.

Mr. Balfour showed little of his old-time fire. He complained that the bill did not contain even a germ of finality and that its adoption would work a great injury to the representative institutions of England while creating in Ireland an assembly which no Irishman could regard with pride or respect.

The powers of the Irish Parliament would be so hampered, Mr. Balfour said, that good men would refuse to serve in it. Every successful Federal system, he declared, had been built up on a desire of the separate parts for closer unity, but the Government was pursuing an opposite course, cutting up the United Kingdom and creating fiscal divisions.

Sir Edward Grey admitted that the settlement provided in the bill was incomplete in some respects. The presence of 42 Irish members in the Imperial Parliament was an anomaly, but he did not mind that, because he believed that it would lead to further arrangements which, while not endangering imperial unity, would relieve the different parts of the United Kingdom.

If Ulster defied the solution the Government proposed, or made it impossible, said Sir Edward, some other solution would have to be found, which would relieve the over-burdened House of Commons of the present monstrous congestion of business and put the control of Irish affairs in Irish hands.

Lord Charles Beresford in a breezy speech declared that the Irish question was essentially a land question, and said the only way to pacify Ireland was to continue the present land purchase system and "do away with the Lord Lieutenant and all that sham and rotten Court."

WILL STUDY GERMAN ARMY.

Capt. Alfred Bjornstad to be Our Military Attache in Berlin.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

BERLIN, May 2.—News reaches Berlin that President Taft has offered the post of Military Attaché here to Capt. Alfred W. Bjornstad of the General Staff.

Owing to Capt. Bjornstad's knowledge of the methods of the Boers, which caused the revision of the American infantry drill regulations, he will be expected to write a special report on German infantry organization. The Captain recently completed a thorough study of infantry conditions in the United States, and is well equipped to compare them with those in Germany.

Capt. Shartle, the present American Military Attaché, who is completing his third year in Berlin, expects to be relieved in the coming Summer or Autumn.

VANDERBILT DRIVES COACH.

As usual he booked an entire coach for the first day, his guests being all men.

GERMAN AVIATOR KILLED.

Hoesll Thrown Out of Monoplane—Robert Sommer Badly Hurt.

BERLIN, May 2.—Gordian Hoesll, an aviator, died here early to-day from injuries received last evening in a fall from a monoplane. He was testing his machine, and was not more than ninety feet from the ground when he dropped.

According to spectators, Hoesll was thrown out of his seat when he turned a curve rather sharply. He lost his equilibrium and fell.

FRANKFORT-ON-MAIN, May 2.—Robert Sommer, while testing a monoplane built by him to-day, tried to glide and when landing fell and was dangerously injured.

GERMAN SQUADRON'S VISIT.

Vessels to Sail May 11 for Hampton Roads—Later Coming Here.

BERLIN, May 2.—It has now been decided that the German battleship squadron will sail for America on May 11, proceeding first to Hampton Roads, where it will be joined by the German armored cruiser Bremen, which has been cruising in American waters for some time. Later the warships will visit New York, and the return home has been set for the end of June.

The mission of the squadron is to make a return visit, the second division of the United States Atlantic Fleet having paid a call of courtesy at Kiel last June. It will be commanded by Rear Admiral von Rebeur-Paschwitz, one of the Emperor's personal aids.

FIND SCHILLER'S SKULL.

Prof. Frorlep Discovers It in Weimar Vault—Lost Thirty Years.

BERLIN, May 2.—The skull of Johann Schiller, the great German philosopher and poet, which has been missing for nearly thirty years, has been discovered. Prof. August von Froriep of Tubingen University a year ago opened an old vault at Weimar, which was known to contain Schiller's body. He made a careful examination of seventy skulls he found in the vault, and established indisputably which was the skull of Schiller. He laid the skull and his conclusions before the Anatomical Congress at Munich, which had unanimously accepted the report.

Prof. Welcker, in 1883, proved that a skull, which was supposed to be Schiller's, was spurious.

"Woman Plucking a Chicken" Brings Best Price at Levaigneur Sale in Paris.

$5,100 FOR A DELFT SET

Troyon's "Pond" Brings $4,900, and a Supposed Veronese $2,000—Day's Sale Realizes $147,527.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

PARIS, May 2.—The sum of $147,527 was realized to-day at the first session of the three-day sale of the collection of paintings, sculpture, and miscellaneous art objects of the late Mme. Levaigneur.

The "clou" of the collection was Rembrandt's "Woman Plucking a Chicken," which was bought by M. Kleinberger for $95,000. It is a full-length picture of a stately old woman, who is seated in an interior on a chair and is plucking a chicken which she holds on her knees. A brown hood frames her face, the chiaroscuro of which is marvelous. She is wearing a corsage of brown fur with black sleeves and a gray skirt under a white apron. The fowl, which lies on her knees, has its wings outspread, reflecting from its white feathers a dazzling ray of light. Its neck, with ruffled feathers, hangs down, and some drops of blood have fallen to the ground. It is probable that Rembrandt painted this picture some time between the years 1648 and 1650.

Troyon's "Pond" fetched $4,900. It is a quiet landscape, showing in the foreground a field filled with a pool of water. In its calm surface the clouds as they drift across the blue sky are mirrored. To the left a brook makes its way between rocks and brushwood, and a woman leans over it, while her children play a little further away. Cows are grazing among the long grass.

Two landscapes by Diaz brought fairly good prices. His "Oaks" was sold for $3,900 and his "Forest" for $2,620.

Other prices realized were: Thomas de Keyser's "Music Party," $3,700; Wouverman's "Mound on a River Bank," $2,100; a "Virgin and Infant Jesus, With Sts. Catherine and Lucia," attributed to Veronese, $2,000, and Jacob Ruysdael's "Torrent," $1,700.

Two Hispano-Moresque platters fetched $2,200 and $1,800, respectively.

Fifty-one hundred dollars was given for a set of five Delft vases. The tallest one is covered and with it are two shaped like horns and two in the form of bottles. All are elaborately decorated in colors with birds, shrubs, &c., after the Chinese fashion.

VICTORIA, B. C., May 2.—The steamship Marama brought news from Australia yesterday of a tidal wave eighteen feet high, which swept over the Fijian town of Funa Point, wiping out the village of eighty houses early last month.

The people were nearly all drowned, and the few survivors have nothing to eat.

KAISER BUYS AFRICAN FARMS.

Invests $24,000 and Will Raise Wool Sheep on a Large Scale.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

BERLIN, May 2.—The versatile Kaiser is about to become a sheep farmer.

It is announced to-night that he has purchased two farms in German Southwest Africa at a cost of $24,000 for the purpose of raising wool sheep on an extensive scale. His patriotic example will, it is expected, give a much needed impetus to agricultural enterprise in the Fatherland's somewhat neglected African colonies.

Wool raising in German Africa is in an embryonic stage, but encouraging progress is being made in the adjacent Cape Colony, and the Kaiser bought the farms on the recommendation of a local expert, who says the investment is certain to be a good one, if his Majesty has patience and good luck.

TO SELL PALACE TREASURES.

Portugal to Recoup Itself for $5,000,000 Advanced to King Carlos.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LISBON, May 2.—The Portuguese Government has decided to sell a sufficient amount of the furniture and valuables of the royal palaces to realize the sum of $5,000,000, which was advanced to the late King Carlos.

The property is recognized as belonging to ex-King Manuel and his mother, and what is not sold will be returned to them. It includes crown jewels valued at $4,000,000, which are kept in the Necessidades Palace.

Dom Miguel's jewels, which are deposited in the Bank of Portugal, are valued at $2,500,000.

CHALLENGED BY ZEPPELIN.

Report That Airship Builder Wants Duel with Former Associate.

BERLIN, May 2. — Germania to-day prints a story that Count Zeppelin, the builder and operator of airships, some time ago challenged Theodore Lerner, who was Secretary for the Zeppelin Arctic Expedition, to a duel, but that the matter has not yet been decided, pending the outcome of several law suits between the principals.

An airship which was being tried out by the builders, the Siemens-Schuckert Company, to-day was compelled to make a forced landing, in which it was slightly but not seriously damaged. No one was injured. The airship does not belong to the Government.

BRITISH WARSHIP DAMAGED.

Old Battleship Empress of India in Collision with Sailing Vessel.

LONDON, May 2.—The British battleship Empress of India was in collision with a German sailing vessel early to-day at Spithead. The battleship received a gaping hole in her side above the main deck, while the merchantman lost headgear and foretopmast.

The Empress of India was in midchannel in tow of the cruiser Warrior at the time of the crash.

The Empress of India was launched in 1891, and is now classed as obsolete. She is kept in the special reserve for emergency use. She has a displacement of about 14,000 tons.

Two Brigades to Stay at Home.

ALBANY, May 2.—Neither the third nor the fourth brigades of the National Guard will have a tour of field service this Summer, owing to a cut by Gov. Dix of $100,000 from the appropriation for the guard. This will eliminate the First Infantry of Binghamton, Second of Troy, Third of Rochester, Tenth of Albany, and Sixty-fifth and Seventy-fourth Regiments of Buffalo.

Pay $9.00 per Year for the smartest Shoe Styles

GIVEN the required degree of Style, Fit and Finish it is, after all, Wear—length of Wear—that actually determines Shoe Value.

Shoe Style and Finish are today easy enough to find.

But, because of heavy advance in Leather, etc.—this combination, plus a fixed, known, and deliverable period of Long-Wear has grown rare enough to be interesting.

We foresaw that condition,—coming.

So, we invited Chemistry to aid us in toughening, and lengthening the life of, animal fibre.

We sought a means to check the disintegrating action of Oxygen in the Air, upon Leather.

The result amounts to almost a Revolution in Shoe Values.

We do not ask you to take anything "for granted," concerning this.

Instead, we now offer you a strong Indemnity Bond with every pair of our new 1912 range of "Six-Month" Regal Shoes (at $4.50).

That Bond secures to you (beyond question or equivocation) a fixed term of continuous Shoe-Wear, which term is just about double that of the average fine Shoe sold at $4.00 to $5.00.

It secures to you (in binding legal form) some of the Smartest and Latest Shoe Styles in America, at a cost of only 75 cents per Month—or $9.00 per year—for Shoe Service.

As the average fine Shoe Wears through Outsole, or breaks through Upper, after 3 Months continuous wear that fact means $16.00 per year for average "$4.00 Shoe" Wear.

Contrast that cost, per year, with the $9.00 per year cost of continuous Wear pledged specifically to you, under legal Bond, in the new 1912 range of Regal "Six-Month" Shoes.

MEXICAN DEPUTIES WILL MEET OROZCO

Speaker of the Chamber Appoints a Committee to Treat with the Rebel Leader.

TWO-DAY BATTLE IS RAGING

Zapista Forces and Federals Clash Near Puebla—British Warship's Salutes Scares Vera Cruz.

MEXICO CITY, May 2.—A committee of the Chamber of Deputies was to-day appointed by the Speaker to work for the pacification of the country. A sub-committee will be chosen to go to the north and confer with the rebels under Orozco.

For two days a battle has been raging at Chiautla, Puebla, between the Zapatista forces, numbering about 2,500, and federals. The federals are said to have the advantage, but the outcome of the engagement is still in doubt. The two Zapatista brothers, as well as the "Terrible One-Eyed" Morales and other leaders are there, having met for a council of war, when they were attacked by the federals.

Despite the official statement of condition near Cuernavaca, despatches to El Imparcial state that the city is menaced by a large force of rebels, which advanced near the place since the Federal garrison was reduced to protect the railroad.

Culiacan officially is reported to have been retaken by the Government troops under Gen. Ojeda. This information, but without details, was received at the Department of the Interior to-day.

Reports from Mazatlan indicate a deplorable condition among wounded Federals, who are too numerous to be accommodated in the military hospital, and for whom there are neither medicines nor nurses. The wounded are victims of encounters with the rebels, against whom they appear to have been able to defend the city up to the present. There is said to be a shortage of food and many lie in the open, day and night with but scant attention.

The British warship Melpomene arrived in Vera Cruz to-day and exchanged salutes with the forts The detonations alarmed the people, whose fears that a bombardment was in progress were allayed by the British Consul. The Captain of the vessel will pay a visit of courtesy to the authorities to-morrow, as well as to the commander of the forts.

LAREDO, Texas, May 2.—Dispatches from Torreon to-day say that ten Mexican Red Cross Society nurses refused to care for a wounded Federal officer brought to Torreon from the north. The nurses asserted that their purpose was to minister to volunteers and revolutionists only. Several Red Cross members left Torreon to-day for Eagle Pass and El Paso, Texas, en route to join the revolutionary forces.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—Like other communications from the revolutionary party in Mexico, a telegram from Gen. Orozco, through his representative in New York, Manuel Lujan, stating that the rights and interests of Americans and other foreigners in Mexico were being respected, has been filed in the State Department's archives without any action.

Until the revolutionists make more headway for the unseating of the Madero Government, the department will continue its policy of taking no action on communications from the insurrectos.

FALL INTO REBEL AMBUSH.

Fifty Federals Are Wounded and Reinforcements Save the Rest.

From a Special Correspondent of the Central News, London.

MEXICO CITY, May 2.—Fifty federal soldiers were wounded in a fight with Zapatistas north of Cuernavaca on Monday and were brought to Mexico City yesterday, together with twenty prisoners. Eye-witnesses report that the fight was a desperate one, last several hours. A detachment of federals fell into a rebel ambuscade, south of Tres Marias on the National line in a district where the country is extremely rough. The federals were greatly outnumbered. and, finding themselves in sore straits, telegraphed for reinforcements. Troop trains were rushed from Mexico City and Cuernavaca and reached the scene in time to save the exhausted federals from annihilation. A number of federals were killed.

An official report received by American Ambassador Wilson states that typhus, enteric fever, and black smallpox are rife among the troops at Bermijillo. According to the report two Sisters of Charity have been stricken and an American physician has been summoned to attend them and others. The Government admits that disease prevails among the men, but denies that there is an epidemic or that the army has abandoned its position at Bermijillo.

There is a persistent report here that one of the volunteer regiments stationed at Bermijillo mutinied on Monday and that the officers fired upon the men, killing three. Gen. Huerta, according to the report, then disarmed the regiment. High officials here deny any disaffection among the federal forces, and report that recently they captured two bands of rebel scouts numbering 62 and 8, respectively, north of Bermijillo.

Foreign Minister Lascurian denied last night that the Cabinet had considered peace negotiations with Orozco as has been somewhat persistently reported in the Mexican papers. It is well known that President Madero is determinedly opposed to all overtures except unconditional surrender. So far he has refused to listen even to suggestions of a compromise with the rebels.

MANY SAIL ON THE FRANCE.

Miss Anne Morgan Among Those on New French Liner.

The French liner France sailed at 10 o'clock yesterday morning for Havre on her first voyage east with 423 first-cabin, 300 second, and 604 third-class passengers. Some amusement was caused by Andre Tridon, a friend of Dr. G. George G. Rambaud of the New York Pasteur Institute, who went aboard to bid good-bye to the doctor and his wife, Mme. Gerville-Reache. Mr. Tridon espied them in the social hall at the head of the saloon companion-way, where the Moorish fountain was playing merrily and the canaries singing in their gilded cages to its accompaniment. This hall is surrounded by mirrors.

Thus it happened that when Mr. Tridon ran with arms outstretched, exclaiming, "Mon cher ami George," he butted the mirrors violently with his head. Fortunately the glass was thick and Mr. Tridon was unhurt.

E. J. Berwind, the coal operator, who sailed on the France, said that it would be a long time, he thought, before there was trouble again in the coal industry in America.

Another passenger was Miss Anna Morgan, who was accompanied as usual by her two intimate friends, Miss Elizabeth Marbury and Miss Elsie de Wolfe. She said that she intended to visit Spain for a few weeks and the Italian Riviera.

"I am coming back full of work," said Miss Morgan.

She explained she is going to fight particularly hard for the minimum wage scale now being discussed and advocated by sociological workers and students as the proper legislative remedy for the evils of insufficient pay for women and girls. A law establishing a standard is absolutely necessary, Miss Morgan believes. She spoke earnestly of the hard conditions under which women and girls must labor in many factories and workshops, and of the need for regulating these conditions so that health and morality may be conserved.

SEEKS GUATEMALA PALACE.

Dr. Hewett Digging for One for San Diego Exposition.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., May 2.—Digging a palace out of a swamp and sifting the earth removed therefrom for valuable curios, in the midst of tropical verdure in the centre of Guatemala, is the occupation of Dr. Edgar L. Hewett, Director of the American Section of the Archaeological Institute of America. His mission was undertaken in the interest of San Diego's Panama-California Exposition.

The palace, a relic of the Mayas, who carved statues and built temples when the Egyptians were building their pyramids, when the Roman Empire was in process of formation, had lain under the silt and vegetation of centuries until discovered some years ago. Dr. Hewett has dreamed of uncovering it, but not until President Collier of the San Diego Exposition gave him a commission to explore it and bring what he finds to San Diego, has he had an opportunity to do so.

Dr. Hewett says that trees are growing out of the roof of the structure. He will report to the Smithsonian Institution, the Archaeological Institute, and to the Panama-California Exposition department of archaeology, all three of which institutions are backing the expedition.

HYDE WRIT MUST BE ARGUED HERE

Appellate Division Upholds Woodward, but Says Case Must Be Transferred.

DEFENSE WINS A POINT

Delay Puts His Trial Over Until Fall—District Attorney Whitman Says His Contention Was Upheld.

The Appellate Division of the Supreme Court, Second Department, sitting in Brooklyn yesterday, denied District Attorney Charles S. Whitman's application for a writ of prohibition to stay Supreme Court Justice Woodward from hearing the habeas corpus proceedings begun before him in behalf of ex-City Chamberlain Charles H. Hyde. On the other hand, the Appellate Division points out that while Justice Woodward had the first right to pass on the question of jurisdiction, he undoubtedly would transfer the proceedings to the Supreme Court in this county. Mr. Whitman says that the decision yesterday, in fact, upholds his point of view in the case. In a statement given out last night Mr. Whitman says:

"The decision is a victory for the people's contention. It is emphatically laid down by the Justices of the Appellate Division that, while the Supreme Court is in session in New York County, a Justice of the Supreme Court in Kings County, or in any other county in the State, has no power or authority to have brought before him by a writ of habeas corpus a prisoner who is detained in the county jail of New York County awaiting trial on an indictment. That is precisely the point for which the people contended before the Appellate Division.

"The main point of my contention was that the statute, Section 25, of the Code of Criminal Procedure, is constitutional, which requires that a writ of habeas corpus granted when the Supreme Court of this county is in session, shall be returnable before that court, and nowhere else. This is specifically laid down as the law by this decision."

It is considered likely now that the writ of habeas corpus will be transferred to this county by Justice Woodward and that Hyde will not be put on trial until next Fall. Hyde obtained the writ because Justice Vernon M. Davis had been assigned to the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court, where his case was to be tried, and a special panel of talesmen had been selected to try him. Soon before he obtained the writ of habeas corpus Mr. Hyde gave out a statement in which he said that he was willing to go before any Justice but Justice Davis.

MRS. MIDDLETON PROTESTS.

Her Husband Not Accused of Intoxication—Sues Third Ave. Company.

R. A. Mansfield Hobbs, attorney for Mrs. Nellie G. Middleton, who is suing Frederic W. Whitridge as receiver of the Third Avenue Railroad Company for $30,000 damages for the death of her husband, a transportation agent of 29 Spruce Street, has written to THE TIMES objecting to certain passages in an account of the suit which appeared in THE TIMES last Sunday.

Mr. Middleton died in a hospital of apoplexy after a stroke sustained on one of the company's cars. Mrs. Middleton bases her suit on the allegation that her husband, after the stroke and after his condition had been called to the attention of employes of the company, was carried several times over a long car route. Mr. Hobbs said that there was nothing in the pleadings to bear out a statement in THE TIMES that the conductor neglected Mr. Middleton because he believed him to be intoxicated. THE TIMES, however, did not state this supposed explanation of the conductor's alleged neglect to be a fact.

The defense of the railroad receiver to the suit has not yet been filed.

DROPS CART-TAIL ORATORY.

Murphy Decrees That Campaign Meetings Shall Be Held in Halls.

Tammany is to try a new method of campaigning this year. Instead of cart-tail oratory in each election district, as has been the plan for many years, Charles F. Murphy has arranged to hold a series of Senatorial district meetings in large halls. Prominent speakers will do all the talking at these meetings. The first gathering will be held to-night at the Murray Hill Lyceum, Third Avenue and Thirty-fourth Street. It is to be a tariff mass meeting, as the only subject to be discussed will be the tariff.

In announcing the meeting Leader Murphy sprang another surprise by stating that, in the interest of Democratic harmony, the hostile camp of the independents would be called upon for orators.

"These will include men who have not only been total strangers to a Tammany platform, but in the past have strongly opposed the organization," says the official announcement of the meeting.

So far, this plan by the Tammany boss has met with success, for the principal speaker at to-night's gathering is to be John De Witt Warner. He will talk on "How Labor Is Made to Pay Wealth's Taxes." Franklin Pierce will talk on "Labor and the Tariff," while John Jerome Rooney will discuss "Wages, Cost of Living, and the Tariff."

For Uniform Tax Rate in Ohio.

COLUMBUS, May 2.—The Constitutional Convention to-day showed its disapproval of the classification of property for taxation when it accepted the minority report of the Taxation Committee upon which to base the fundamental tax laws of the State. The minority report favors the uniform rule of taxation.

The Negligible Cliff-Dweller

TO the cliff-dweller of New York, living in apartments de luxe, thinking in terms of tiaras, English lords and Monte Carlos—The Ladies' Home Journal is negligible.

The extreme fashions of the swagger set, the shops of the elite, the box in the horse show—contribute an environment to which The Ladies' Home Journal is alien.

The Ladies' Home Journal doesn't appeal to every woman or to every household. The essence of its strength is in its being selective.

It helps a woman make a house—a home. It is loved only by the women who love a home.

To amuse, instruct, comfort and inspire the woman whose constant thought is to make a real home for her husband and children—that is the mission and accomplishment of The Ladies' Home Journal.

REJECT AGREEMENT FOR COAL MINERS

Full Committee Refuses to Ratify Proposed Contract to Which Sub-Committees Assented.

OPERATORS WILLING TO SIGN

Mr. Baer Reminds Miners That Repudiation of Sub-Committee is Unusual—Men May Vote on It.

The agreement tentatively reached by the sub-committees of the anthracite mine workers and the anthracite operators was rejected yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the full conference committees.

It had been fully expected by the Operators' Committee that the agreement, which was the result of conferences that lasted a week at the Union League Club here, would be ratified. This is the tentative agreement that the sub-committees accepted:

1. That the trms and conditions awarded by the Anthracite Coal Strike Commission and supplemented by the agreements subsequent thereto be continued for a further period of four years, ending March 31, 1916, except in the following particulars, to wit:

(a) The contract rates and wage scales for all employes shall be increased 10 per cent. over and above the contract rates and wage scales established by the Anthracite Coal Strike Commission as effective April 1, 1903. The provisions of the sliding scale are by mutual consent abolished.

(b) All contract miners and laborers when working on consideration shall be paid not less than the rate paid company miners and laborers at the mine where the work is being performed.

(c) There shall be an equitable division of mine cars as set forth in the award of the Anthracite Coal Strike Commission, and the decisions of the Conciliation Board; and, further, the rates paid by any contract miner to his employes shall not be less than the standard rate for that particular class of work.

(d) At each mine there shall be a Grievance Committee, consisting of not more than three employes, and such committee shall under the terms of this agreement take up for adjustment with the proper officials of the company all grievances referred to them by employes who have first taken up said grievances with the foreman and failed to effect proper settlement of the same. It is also understood that the member of the Board of Conciliation elected by the Mine Workers organization, or his representative, may meet with the mine committee and company officials in adjusting disputes. In the event of the mine committee failing to adjust with the company officials any grievance referred to them, they may refer the grievance to the members of the Board of Conciliation in their district for adjustment, and in case of their failure to adjust the same, they shall refer the grievance to the Board of Conciliation for final settlement, as provided in the award of the Anthracite Coal Strike Commission, and the agreements subsequent thereto, and whatever settlement is made shall date from the time the grievance is raised.

(e) Contract miners shall have the right to employ check weighmen and check docking bosses, as provided by the award of the Anthracite Coal Strike Commission and the decisions of the oBard of Conciliation, and when so employed their rights shall be recognized and they they shall not be interfered with in the proper performance of teir work, provided they do not interfere with the proper operation of the colliery. Check weighmen and check docking bosses shall be elected by contract miners in meeting assembled specifically for that purpose, and for such terms as said miners may determine, and the Chairman and Secretary of said meeting shall certify such election to the mine foreman.

(f) For the purpose of facilitating the adjustment of grievances company officials at each mine shall meet with the Grievance Committee of employes and prepare a statement setting forth the rates of compensation paid for each item of work under the provisions of this agreement and certify the same to the oBard of Conciliation within sixty days after the date of this agreement.

Alvan Markle presided at yesterday's meeting and George F. Baer, President of the Philadelphia & Reading, was the principal spokesman for the operators, former Senator Green being spokesman for the mine workers.

When it became evident that the miners' representatives were unwilling to accept the agreement as drawn, Mr. Baer observed:

"You understand, of course, that if it is impossible for you to carry out this agreement, our offer to refer the matter to the old Anthracite Commission stands; so that you need not be embarrassed."

Mr. Baer, however, urged the mine workers' committee to confer with their organization and exert every influence to secure the acceptance of the agreement reached by the sub-committees of each side. He declared that "until every possible means had been exhausted to ratify the agreement, the mine workers are not in a position to ask further concessions."

He concluded his admonition with the following assertion:

"All committees are obliged to report to the bodies creating them, but when you create a committee of representative men and let them work for twenty days, there is an obligation on you to see that their report is carried out, and very seldom is such a committee turned down."

It was finally agreed to adjourn until such time as the proposed terms of settlement can be submitted to a referendum vote or convention of the mine workers, when the joint committee of workers and operators can be reconvened at the request of the former.

A statement was issued last evening by the Executive Committee of the mine workers after its meeting in the Victoria Hotel in which it was said that while there were some distinguishing features in the agreement which were an improvement over the old contract, nevertheless, the length of the contract term of four years, the abolition of the sliding scale, and the failure to recognize the organization as a party to the agreement, were so objectionable as to overshadow the other concessions.

HONOR E. J. LEVEY'S MEMORY.

Prominent Citizens and Municipal Officials at City Hall Service.

City officials and prominent citizens honored the memory yesterday of the late Edgar J. Levey, ex-Deputy Controller, at a meeting held in the Council Chamber, at City Hall. Mr. Levey, when he died, was President of the Title Insurance Company. Bird S. Coler, who as Controller, appointed Mr. Levey, called the meeting to order. Among other things he said:

"His life was of tremendous value. His memory will be of greater. When the tongue of defamation is busy with the name of New York, when the narrow vision can see only the corruption and inefficiency of the few and not the fidelity and the efficiency of the many who are working out democracy's problems in this greatest of cities, the thought of this public officer of the City of New York may make even the defamer ashamed.

"As a citizen of New York I grieve for his death; as his friend and official associate for four years I join in this expression of a city's respect. There are others more eloquent to speak of him in this and the other relations of his rich and useful life. It is fitting that the first among them should be the honored Mayor of the city whose faithful and brilliant officer he was."

Mayor Gaynor said that such a gathering in honor of one who had done his duty as a citizen and an official conscientiously and well should "serve to encourage every public officer to do his duty every day in an even manner unruffled and unannoyed by criticism that may be aimed undeservedly.

"Mr. Coler has said that he went through the fire," went on the Mayor. "That is true of all who come to office in this city, more so than anywhere else in the world. It is true to a degree all over the world. Yet a man does not change in a day or an hour. What he has been in business and in private life he will be in public office. Mr. Levey was an educated, intelligent man. More than that, he was a thinking and an honest man, who honestly and intelligently served the city. His unexpected taking away makes us appreciate the uncertainty of life which is something we think little about. If we thought more of it we would be more kind to each other. If we did there would be fewer men and fewer organizations who aim not to help, not to encourage officials; but to see if they cannot slander and make them appear to do wrong."

Other speakers were Controller Prendergast, William Jay Schieffelin, Francis Lynde Stetson, Morgan J. O'Brien, Herbert Satterlee, Lawrence Veiller, and Henry W. Taft.

STUDENTS ON A STRIKE.

New Hampshire College Men Demand Reinstatement of Sophomore.

DURHAM, N. H., May 2.—The freshman and sophomore classes of the New Hampshire College went on a strike today because W. H. Brackett of Portsmouth, President of the sophomore class was suspended for the remainder of the college year for ringing a false fire alarm. The striking students, who number 115, declare that they will not return to their studies until Brackett is reinstated.

Shortly after the strike was declared, President Gibbs of the college said that if the students persisted in their strike he would suspend them all for a while, and that if they did not come back later he would expel the entire number.

Last Monday Brackett rang the fire bell on the college grounds. He did this, the sophomores say, upon their instruction in order that the entire class might get away from the college to attend their annual banquet. It has been a custom for the freshmen to prevent the sophomores if possible, from attending their banquet. Brackett is popular with the students. He is a member of the football and baseball teams.

MAYOR WALDORF FIGHTS FIRE

Adjourns Art Commission Meeting to Save Health Board's Records.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW ROCHELLE, May 2.—Mayor Frederick H. Waldorf of New Rochelle declared a recess of the Municipal Art Commission to help fight a fire which threatened the records of the Health Department in the City Hall late last night.

With extinguishers and pails of water the Mayor and Superintendent Fountain put out the blaze in about ten minutes. The fire had destroyed a quantity of antitoxin and had started on the birth and death records which go back to the time of the settlement of New Rochelle in 1688. When it was extinguished the Mayor called the Art Commission to order and approved plans for the new $60,000 library.

Richeson's Fate Still in Doubt.

BOSTON, May 2.—Gov. Foss will take no action this week on the petition of Clarence V. T. Richeson to commute his death sentence to life imprisonment, according to a statement made to-day by Dudley M. Holman, the Governor's Secretary. Richeson's counsel requested the Governor to refer the petition to the Executive Council.

SHERIFF RAPS POLICE FOR INSULT TO FLAG

Should Have Arrested the Socialists Who Trampled on Stars and Stripes, Says Harburger.

WOULD DRIVE 'TRAITORS' OUT

Police Say They Would Take the Offenders if They Could Be Identified.

Sheriff Julius Harburger, who was the guest of honor last night at a dinner given by Cosmopolitan Lodge No. 202, Knights of Pythias, at Terrace Garden, attacked the police for their failure to arrest any one for desecrating the American flag on Wednesday afternoon in Union Square. The Sheriff said:

"Such traitors should be driven from the country. They should have been arrested and an example made of them. While I am the chief peace officer of this county, all my deputies and special deputy sheriffs will be authorized and instructed in the future to arrest these flagrant disturbers of the peace and violators of law and order.

"The principles of the old warrior, John A. Dix, ought to be applicable, and if any man hauls down the American flag he should be shot on the spot. I am a firm believer that no other but the American flag ought to be displayed on public occasions and that it is seditious to trample upon, desecrate, and dishonor the flag of our country.

"The sooner these Anarchists, bomb throwers, dynamiters, and un-Americans are acquainted with the doctrines of the country and made to uphold them, the better for them and theirs. We have no room on American soil for these blatant demagogues, howlers, blood-seekers, destroyers of the family hearthstone, and cowardly assassins. They are not imbued with the spirit of liberty, but are disturbers of the peace and shouters of infamous doctrines. I would not even tolerate them on the great and free soil of our Republic. They should be punished, deported, and sent back to the uncivilized and barbaric countries to which they belong.

"I am called upon to maintain strict order, quell riots and disturbances, and always to be in a peaceable state of mind, but these miscreants and their acts must not obtain a foothold on American soil, and the quicker they are disposed of, so much the better for the greatest country on the face of the earth."

The Sheriff was heartily applauded.

Although the police admit that the law was clearly violated when members of the Italian Socialist Federation, which is allied with the Industrial Workers of the World, tore down and trampled upon the American flag in Union Square after the Socialist Party parade on Wednesday, no arrests are expected. The police say that the incident began and ended so suddenly that there was no opportunity to identify the leaders in the attack.

The law says that any person or persons "who shall publicly mutilate, deface, defile, or defy, trample upon, or cast contempt, either by words or act, upon any such flag, colors, or ensign shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $100, or by imprisonment for not more than thirty days, or both, in the discretion of the court."

At Police Headquarters it was said that the incident had been exaggerated, and that the flag which was the cause of the demonstration on the part of Industrial Workers of the World was quickly rescued by a woman. It was not denied that the law had been violated, and the reason no arrests were made was due to the fact, it was said, that those responsible for the violation got away before the police had a chance to identify them.

The real reason, however, that no arrests were made, was that there were not enough police on hand to handle the situation. There was one lone policeman at the scene of the disturbance, and he was so busy trying to restore order singlehanded that he forgot to send for the reserves.

Donkins was thirty years old, and had been a pitcher in a minor baseball league, but lately was employed on the Western Maryland Railroad.

WON'T GIVE STUART DIVORCE.

Court Finds Wife Obtained a Legal Decree from Actor.

The attempt of William Stuart, an actor, to obtain a legal separation from his wife who has already divorced him in Indiana, was quashed yesterday by Justice Page in the Supreme Court.

Stuart contended that his wife was not a resident of Indiana at the time of her divorce, and that the decree was in consequence invalid. Justice Page found, however, that this was not the case, and refused to hear Stuart's grievances against his wife, whom he married in 1898 and from whom he separated in 1908.

ATWOOD'S FLIGHT IS HALTED.

Saugus to Portland Trip Terminated by Accident to Motor.

KENNEBUNKPORT, Me., May 2.—The proposed aerial trip of Harry N. Atwood from Saugus, Mass., to Portland, Me., came to a sudden termination here today, when the magneto of the biplane became disabled while flying at an altitude of 1,000 feet.

Volplaning, the aviator was successful in finding a favorable landing place two miles from this village. He alighted without injury to himself or his machine. Leaving Saugus late yesterday afternoon Atwood flew over Massachusetts and New Hampshire into Maine.

ARMY TO TAKE OVER MILITIA IN WAR TIME

Conference in Washington Plans Remodeling of Regular Forces on Radical Lines.

QUESTION OF RANK SETTLED

Action by Military Board Forced by Situation Arising from Demand for Mexican Intervention.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—One of the most important military conferences held in years is in progress in Washington, and as a result of it the organization of the United States Army in time of war will be wholly remodeled on lines different from anything hitherto known in the history of the service.

The conference is participated in by Secretary Stimson and Major Gen. Leonard Wood and the National Militia Board, consisting of Brig. Gen. C. P. Boardman of Wisconsin; Brig. Gen. W. E. Finzer of Oregon, Major Gen. Thomas J. Stewart of Pennsylvania, Col. W. S. Metcalf of Kansas, and Major H. S. Berry of Tennessee.

The subject before the board is the assimilation of the militia of the States by the regular army in service outside the limits of the United States, and it was forced into consideration by questions arising several months ago in connection with the demand at that time for intervention in Mexico.

The menace to Americans in communities along the border from engagements between the regulars and the insurrectos on Mexican soil had from time to time brought up the question of utilizing State troops to protect American citizens, and the further question whether such State troops could be taken across the international boundary into Mexico as United States forces. The broader question also as to what use could be made of the militia generally as Federal troops in case of foreign war was involved.

The question being laid finally before the Attorney General for his opinion, he decided that the militia of a State could not be used as a United States military force outside the boundaries of the country. This decision was received with a good deal of surprise and embarrassment.

The Secretary of War and his advisers began at once to deliberate on some measure of legislation by which the gap between the regular army and the militia in case of foreign war might be closed. The militia has been built up through many years of hard work on the part of the War Department, and the army and Congress has provided money liberally for its maintenance and development. The plan finally devised by Secretary Stimson was to make it possible by law for Congress to authorize the Federal Government to reach out and take in the State militia organizations and place them bodily in the United States Army provisionally.

There would thus be three component forces embraced in the United States Army in time of war—the regulars, the provisional United States troops from the militia, and volunteers. A draft was made of a law to authorize this transfer of the militia to the regular forces, and it was submitted to various militia officers throughout the country, and it met with general approval.

There was, however, a demand on the part of some militia officers that officers of the State organizations should enter the United States Army with the rank held by them in the State organizations. This has made necessary the conferences which are now being held. The militia board has drawn up another bill adhering mainly to the lines of the Secretary's plan, but working out more in detail these matters of organization.

The board met this afternoon at the home of the Secretary, and it was practically decided that the measure will receive the approval of the board. There is little doubt that it will become law.

The provisions of the new bill deal with the question of rank by laying down the general principle that militia organizations shall be taken over by the United States tactically, that is, by batteries, companies, regiments, brigades, or divisions. Officers would only be taken, therefore, as they were part in the tactical organization, and then subject to the army regulations as to military and physical qualifications.

An illustration is afforded by the statement of a former member of the National Militia Board, who is an Adjutant General of the militia of a Western State, and holds a commission as Major General. He says he has kept a vacancy in the grade of Lieutenant Colonel in the militia of his State so that if it were called into the Federal service to go abroad he would at once seek a commission as Lieutenant Colonel for service in the regiment that might be called.

One of the features of the organization proposed under the new merger of the militia with the regular army provides for a Chief of Staff for every division, who shall be a regular army officer.

The bill makes no innovations as to matters of pay. The law now provides fully on that subject and places the militia on the same footing with the regular army when in service.

FAVORS LORIMER SENATORS.

Comment on Increase in Rivers and Harbors Appropriations.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—Considerable comment was occasioned here to-day when attention was called to the comparatively large increase in the Rivers and Harbors bill accorded by the Senate Committee on Commerce to States represented by Democratic Senators who voted for Mr. Lorimer. The connection between Mr. Lorimer and the committee's action seems pretty slim, as he is not himself a member, though always deeply interested in inland waterway development.

The nine Senators on the committee who voted for Mr. Lorimer are Burton of Ohio, Perkins of California, Oliver of Pennsylvania, Burnham of New Hampshire, Crane of Massachusetts, Bankhead of Alabama, Fletcher of Florida, Simmons of North Carolina, and Stephenson of Wisconsin.

Mr. Lorimer's State of Illinois had $600,000 added to the appropriation given to it by the House. Florida, represented in the committee by Mr. Fletcher, got an additional $103,000, and North Carolina, represented by Mr. Simmons, got an additional $800,000.

On the other hand, it is pointed out that, along with other deductions, $80,000 was cut from an appropriation for a river running through Senator Culberson's home town in Texas. Mr. Culberson opposed Senator Lorimer, but is not a member of the committee.

In New York State the appropriation for Mamaroneck Harbor was increased $29,500. Jamaica Bay gets $500,000. The Delaware River appropriation—divided among Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and Delaware—was increased $300,000. The only other increase in Pennsylvania was an addition of $300,000 for the improvement of the Allegheny River.

The Senate Committee added amendments to the House bill which greatly increased the appropriations made by the House. The Delaware thirty-five-foot channel project was advanced from $1,000,000 allowed by the House to $1,500,000, which is the amount voted to the Delaware last year.

Carrying $8,064,010 in addition to the appropriations provided for by the House the bill, aggregating $32,126,530, has been agreed to by the Senate Committee on Commerce and will be reported in a few days.

The largest single increase to the House measure was $2,500,000 for the Mississippi River, making $6,000,000 for that waterway.

The $6,000,000 for improving the Mississippi River includes $4,000,000 to repair and build levees on account of the flood. An amendment to the $800,000 appropriation for improving the Missouri River would require local co-operation for any comprehensive plan where improvements confer exceptional benefit upon localities.

PENSION BILL AGREEMENT.

Conferees of Both Houses Decide Upon General Service Measure.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—Conferees of both Houses of Congress on the General Service Pension bill reached an agreement to-day on the basis of the Senate bill with some increases for advanced age and length of service. This action is said to assure the enactment of the General Service bill into law.

The conferees were Senators McCumber, Burnham and Gore, and Representatives Sherwood, Adair and Sulloway. Messrs. Gore and Sulloway refused to sign the report, Mr. Gore the ground that the Senate was conceding too much, and Mr. Sulloway because it does not concede enough.

The increases grant $18 a month to soldiers sixty-six years old, who served two and a half years, and $19 to those who served three years. Those seventy years old, who served one and one-half years, get $21.50; two years, $23; two and one-half years, $24; three years, $25. Those of seventy-five who served one and one-half years, get $27, and two and two and one-half years, $30.

Senator McCumber, the author of the compromise figures, will present the report to the Senate when the Workmen's Compensation bill has been disposed of. It is estimated that the increase in the Government's pension expenditures for five years under the terms of the agreement will average about $25,000,000 annually.

$275,000,000 POSTAL BILL.

House Passes Appropriation Measure by Overwhelming Vote.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—The Post Office Appropriation bill, carrying approximately $275,000,000, was passed by the House to-day, 227 to 5. The measure carried in addition to the appropriations necessary for the conduct of the department, a number of radical additions.

Among these were Federal aid for good roads, the compulsory publication by newspapers, magazines, and periodicals of the names of their owners and the establishment of a parcels post in connection with the rural free delivery service. The good roads provision added between sixteen and eighteen million dollars to the appropriation, and this amount, it is said, will be materially increased in the next Post Office measure.

FOR WIRELESS SHIFT AND MORE LIFEBOATS

BOAT ROOM FOR ALL ABOARD

An Auxiliary Power Plant and Equipment for Constant Operation Are New Wireless Requirements.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—Extensive changes in the navigation laws and the Wireless act of June 24, 1910, are proposed in the Alexander bill, which was favorably reported to the House to-day by the Merchant Marine Committee, as a result of the Titanic disaster. Among the changes proposed in existing law are the following:

1. Ocean-going steamers clearing or entering American ports must carry enough lifeboats to accommodate at one time every passenger and member of the crew licensed to be carried on the vessel.

2. Steamboat Inspectors are to be allowed no discretion whatever with respect to the number of lifeboats on steamers, navigating the ocean, such number to be determined solely by the actual carrying capacity of the lifeboats to carry at one time all passengers and members of the crew.

3. The wireless equipment must be in charge of two or more operators, one or the other of whom must be on duty at all times, while the vessel is being navigated.

4. Radio equipment on all vessels subject to the law must be capable of sending under all conditions of atmospheric disturbance, when it is safe for the operator to work the set.

5. Vessels are required to have an auxiliary power supply, independent of the vessel's main electric power plant, and this auxiliary plant must be strong enough to enable the vessel to send wireless messages for at least four hours a distance of 100 miles.

The Wireless act of June 24, 1910, provided that after July 1, 1911, it should be unlawful for "any ocean-going steamer of the United States or of any foreign country carrying fifty or more persons, including passengers and crew, to leave any port of the United States unless such steamer shall be equipped with an efficient apparatus for radio-communication in good working order, in charge of a person, skilled in the use of such apparatus, which apparatus shall be capable of transmitting and receiving messages over a distance of at least 100 miles, night or day."

As a result of the evidence presented in the Senate Titanic investigation members of the House committee believe steamers should be compelled to carry not less than two operators, so that they may work in day and night shifts. The operator of the Carpathia, who had been working hard for two days before the Titanic accident, was about to retire just before he received the distress signal from the Titanic, and caught that message by the merest chance. The investigation also showed that the operator of another vessel retired about ten minutes before the Titanic struck the iceberg. The result was that the Captain did not know of the accident until the following morning.

The changes proposed by the House committee in the Wireless act will make the essential portions of that law read:

> That from and after July 1, 1912, it shall be unlawful for any steamer of the United States or any foreign country, navigating the ocean or the Great Lakes and carrying fifty or more persons, including passengers or crew, or both, to leave or to attempt to leave any port of the United States, unless such steamer shall be equipped with an efficient apparatus for radio-communication in good working order, capable of transmitting and receiving messages over a distance of at least 100 miles, day or night, under all conditions of atmospheric disturbnace, when it is safe for the operator to work the set.
>

Chairman Alexander got his proposed legislation in ahead of William Alden Smith without examining any witnesses or making any noise. So it has been reported to Congress.

MISS GIGNOUX A CANDIDATE.

Seeks Election as a Member of Great Neck School Board.

Miss Elsie Gignoux, a graduate of Bryn Mawr, and one of the wealthiest residents of Great Neck, is a candidate for election as member of the Board of Education of that district. She recently prepared a report as a member of a committee that investigated the conditions in the school and made recommendations for improvement. Among the recommendations of which Miss Gignoux approves is the erection of a high school.

With Miss Gignoux on the ticket will probably be Harold H. O'Connor, a lawyer of Manhattan, whose Summer home is at Great Neck. An effort was made to have Roswell P. Eldridge, the donor of the public library, on the ticket, but he declined.

William Ninesling and Edward J. Burke are the members of the school board whose terms of office expire. It is understood that they will be candidates for re-election.

LIABLE FOR EMPLOYE.

Employer Answerable for Servant's Error, Appellate Term Rules.

The manner in which the new employers' liability law affects the doctrine of fellow-servant to increase the responsibility of the employer by making him answerable for the acts of a fellow-servant, acting as a Superintendent, was pointed out yesterday by the Appellate Term in overruling the dismissal by a City Court Judge of Tinaro Lopisi's $2,000 suit for injuries against the Degnon Construction Company.

Lopisi was hurt by the cave-in of an excavation of the Hudson tubes, between Thirty-second and Thirty-third Streets. The Appellate Term ordered a new trial for him and directed that evidence tending to show that his foreman, technically a fellow-servant, knew that the excavation was in a dangerous condition before the cave-in, be admitted. This evidence, the court holds, would make the construction company liable.

The Sentiment of the Morning Room

THE Morning Room—often one of the most captivating features of the Country House—may in its furnishing express the underlying sentiment of its usage.

DIES BY MOTHER'S SIDE.

Girl Expires in Car Seat While on the Way to Seek Health.

Mr. and Mrs. Achilles Constantine of 538 Hart Street, Brooklyn, closed their home yesterday and started with their daughter, Miss Josephine Constantine, for Pine Plains, N. Y., in the hope that the mountain air would help their daughter to recover from tuberculosis from which they discovered, only a short time ago, she was suffering. When they reached the Grand Central Station Miss Constantine was very weak from the strain of the journey from her home, but she seemed to brighten up considerably when she was seated in the train bound for Pine Plains.

Mrs. Constantine sat beside her daughter and the father occupied a seat in front. The girl gazed steadily out of the window after the train left the tunnel and approached Highbridge, and as she did not speak, Mrs. Constantine did not disturb her.

At Highbridge there was a delay of several minutes while the electric motor was replaced by a locomotive, and Mrs. Constantine, watching her daughter, saw the girl's head suddenly fall forward on her chest. The mother, frightened, screamed, and Mr. Constantine, grabbing his daughter up in his arms, ran from the car. He carried the girl into the staton and there Dr. Jones was called from Fordham Hospital. The surgeon said the girl was dead, and probably had died in the car.

Miss Constantine was 25 years old and had taught in School 102 in Bay Ridge. She resigned her place a week ago in order to go to the mountains.

H. D. COLT DROPS HIS SUIT.

Lawyer's Action for Separation Against His Wife Withdrawn.

Harris Dunscomb Colt of the law firm of Curtis, Mallet, Prevost & Colt withdrew his suit yesterday for separation against his wife, Elizabeth Browne Colt. The Colts separated in December, 1910. Mr. Colt agreed then to pay his wife $5,000 a year, on condition that he have the custody of their 10-year-old son most of the time. In January, 1911, Mrs. Colt got possession of the boy and took him to Virginia. There she instituted proceedings to get the custory of the child, having been advised that the laws of that State gave a mother superior rights to a father.

Colt, however, recovered the boy and brought him back here. His suit for separation was then instituted. In this he alleged that his wife's intemperance unfitted her to have custody of the boy. The basis of yesterday's settlement was not divulged.

NEW THAW HEARING TO BE VERY COSTLY

Commissions Must Be Sent to Get Testimony in Paris and in Cities in This Country.

SHEARN ASKS FOR A JURY

Justice Keogh Will Give His Decision Next Week and Grants Jerome a Month to Prepare His Case.

Justice Keogh heard argument of counsel yesterday in the Supreme Court in White Plains on the application of lawyers for Harry K. Thaw, who killed Stanford White, the architect, that a jury should hear testimony in Thaw's application to be released from the Matteawan Asylum for the Criminal Insane. The Justice said he would give his decision next week on application for a jury trial, and at the request of ex-District Attorney Jerome, who has been retained to oppose Thaw's release, set Monday, June 3, as the day for beginning the hearings on the writ of habeas corpus obtained in Thaw's behalf.

The day originally set for the hearing on the writ was Monday, May 6. Mr. Jerome accepted a retainer to represent the State at the request of Attorney General Carmody on condition that he obtain sufficient time to refresh his memory concerning the previous moves in the Thaw case, including his two regular trials on the charge of murdering Mr. White. Mr. Jerome told Justice Keogh yesterday that unless a postponement was granted he should be obliged to withdraw from the case. Clarence J. Shearn, leading counsel for Thaw, did not oppose Mr. Jerome's request.

The only other lawyer connected with the case who was in court yesterday was Deputy Attorney General Kellogg. For the first time since any important move has come up in this noted case, the courtroom was not crowded. This was said to be because Thaw was not present. His attendance was not considered necessary by either side.

The hearing set for June 6 promises to run along for weeks. Dr. Amos T. Baker, former Acting Superintendent of the Matteawan Asylum, is in Paris. A commission will probably be sent to take his testimony. Dr. Bingham, another important witness, in tracing Thaw's antecedents and family traits, is in Pittsburgh. This will necessitate another commission to take his testimony, it is said. Many other witnesses are scattered all over the country, and they will have to be found and commissions sent to them. The outlook is that the proceedings in the hearing on the writ will be almost as expensive as either one of the trials, notwithstanding the fact that only seven medical authorities in all will be examined. But both Mr. Jerome and Mr. Shearn expressed a desire yesterday that the trial should be hurried as much as possible.

Mr. Shearn explained to the Court yesterday that his plea for a jury hearing was not because he had any fear that Justice Keogh would not accord his client absolute justice, but because the Anglo-Saxon people had always been in favor of having questions affecting the liberty of a person determined by a jury. He said the Court should pass on the law, but a jury should be provided to pass on the facts. He quickly reviewed the story of the killing of White by Thaw in 1906, the proceedings at the two trials, and sketched briefly the various efforts made to get Thaw out of the Asylum for the Criminal Insane at Matteawan.

He referred to Thaw's mental depression at the time of the shooting and the testimony to the effect that when the shot was fired Thaw had no knowledge of the act.

Mr. Shearn displayed some bitterness when he referred to Drs. MacDonald, Flint, Hirsch, and Baker, all of whom testified for the prosecution and declared that Thaw was suffering from a progressive form of insanity that was incurable. He attacked Dr. Hirsch because of a book the doctor had written, which Mr. Shearn alleged was sacrilegious because the doctor had endeavored to show that several Biblical characters—notably Abraham, Moses, Jacob, and Paul—suffered from paranoia. Mr. Shearn asserted that Thaw had never been examined by the four medical men mentioned. Once they had an interview with him, he said, in the District Attorney's office, but Thaw had refused to submit to an examination and would go no further than to discuss the news of the day with them.

Not one of the doctors, he said, had Thaw under observation except Dr. Baker, and he observed him for six weeks in the Matteawan Asylum. Dr. Baker testified before Justice Morschauer that he had never found any evidence of paranoia. But in answer to the hypothetical question of the District Attorney during the trial he said that Thaw was suffering from chronic delusional insanity.

Mr. Jerome said that the only cases in hearings on writs of habeas corpus in which juries were impaneled were where it was necessary to protect the rights of the feeble-minded and insane, and then only in cases where the judgment of the court could be assisted by the opinion of a jury. He explained that the verdict of the jury in the proceeding could be disregarded by the court and that it had no binding character whatever as in regular trials.

"Your Honor would find in Matteawan," said Mr. Jerome, "8 per cent. more paranoia patients than in any other institution in the country. There are no characteristics that show this disease so far as the physical condition is concerned. It is a purely mental disease."

Mr. Jerome said that it would take a jury of laymen at least a week merely to try to familiarize their minds with the case, and that the court and counsel would have to spend a great deal of time in elaborating the various points, in order that they might be understood.

Mr. Shearn said that he did not intend to load the court records with useless material. He declared that the court would probably be content with a few honest witnesses who knew what they were talking about. Then he told how easy it is to accuse men of being insane.

"There are two men parading up and down the country now," he said, "calling each other names and declaring that they are the only persons capable of protecting the Constitution of the United States. How easy it would be to charge these men with an exaggerated ego!"

It was practically agreed that Mr. Jerome would call only three specialists as witnesses. Mr. Shearn said he would get along with four.

MGR. BONZANO ARRIVES.

New Papal Delegate Gets a Wireless Welcome from President.

The North German Lloyd liner Koenig Albert arrived last night at Quarantine, but owing to the many steerage passengers she carried, the agents of the line decided to hold her there until morning. Foremost among her list of cabin passengers is Archbishop Giovanni Bonzano, the apostolic delegate to the United States in succession to Cardinal Falconio. He received his first welcome to this country yesterday at sea in a wireless message from President Taft.

A Reception Committee will meet the Archbishop this morning. On the trip over from Naples, Mgr. Bonzano daily said mass in the music room of the steamer, and last Sunday held services for the second-class passengers. He is accompanied by his secretary, Theophuli Papin, Jr. The new papal delegate was at dinner last night when the steamer came to anchor. He said his voyage had been a pleasant one.

Mgr. Bonzano was born at Vigerano, Province of Pavia, Italy, of well-to-do parents. For a time he served as a missionary in China, but his health failed him and he was recalled to Italy. After having lived for a time in his birthplace he was called to Rome and appointed rector of the College of the Propaganda. When Pope Pius early this year designated Mgr. Bonzano papal delegate to the United States he also created him Titular Archbishop of Mitylene.

WOMAN WORKS AS A MAN.

Keeps Secret Two Years While Toiling in Mines and Machine Shops.

Special to The New York Times.

ERIE, Penn., May 2.—After masquerading as a man for two years, working in coal mines, machine and boiler shops, and paper mills, Mrs. Alexandra Zeleski, who for the last six months has been employed in three Erie factories, revealed her secret while at her boarding house by the simple process of fainting. She now says she has abandoned masculine work.

She is 20 years old, weighs 135 pounds, and is about 5 feet 6 inches in height. Coming to this country with her parents, Alexandra resided at Gary, West Va., where she met George Zaleski. They were married before the girl was 16 years old. When their first child died the husband began to act queerly, and a few weeks afterward disappeared. The wife believes the baby's death so affected his mind that he wandered away. To find her husband has been the task to which the young woman set herself. She made every effort to trace him, but without avail, and her own worry brought her down with typhoid fever. Her blonde hair suffered from the ravages of the fever, and it was the fact that her hair was cut short that led her to adopt the guise of man in her travels to find her husband.

She first tried New York, where she obtained a place in a restaurant as an elevator boy. Then she went to Philadelphia, later to the anthracite coal regions, and thence to the bituminous fields before coming to Erie. She played the part of a man so well that until she fainted no one entertained a suspicion that she was a woman. Although she has quit playing man, Mrs. Zeleski is determined to search for her husband until she finds him.

LORRES BRACELET FOUND.

Picked Up at West Point by Negro, Who Sold the Diamonds.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWBURG, N. Y., May 2.—While the Yale football game was in progress at West Point last October a member of the family of L. F. Lorres of New York lost a gold bracelet, valued at $3,000. Efforts to recover it were unavailing, but this week a clue was obtained by a Justice of the Peace at Highland Falls, who had a case before him in which a saloonkeeper refused to give up a diamond ring pledged with him by William D. Stewart, a negro trooper, who had been detailed to remove the seats after the game.

The Justice gave the case to detectives, who obtained a confession from Stewart. They learned that he found the bracelet and took one of the stones from the gold setting and had it placed in a ring by a Newburg jeweler. Stewart said he then broke the gold band to get the other diamonds and threw the bracelet in the river. He made one stone into a stud, another he sold to Frank Trepasso, saloonkeeper, of Highland Falls; another to an employe in the saloon, and gave another to Corporal Davis of his detachment, who sold it for $22.

Stewart says some one stole his stud and one diamond, and that he lost another. He pledged the diamond ring with a saloonkeeper, who refused to return it, and Stewart made complaint to the Justice of the Peace, and the whole story came out.

Trepasso, who had Stewart's ring, was arrested, and is under $500 bonds. Other warrants are out, and it is expected that all the diamonds will be recovered.

METHODISTS AMAZED AT LOSS OF 500,000

YEAR'S GAIN IS ONLY 55,000

To Investigate Care of 325,000 Negroes in the South—Baptist Foreign Board's Report.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., May 2.—Criticism of the condition which enabled the Church to gain less than 2 per cent. of its membership in the last year and charges that the Church press was being used as a free forum by the promoters of disaffection were made in the Bishops' report to the quadrennial General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church to-day.

The report, known as the Episcopal Address, was signed by eighteen Bishops in this and six Bishops in foreign countries, and is regarded as the most important document to come before the conference, as it contains the Bishops' recommendations for the future policy of the Church.

"In the last year," said the report, "the Church has made a net gain of but 55,000, which is less than 2 per cent., as the outcome of the year's activities and the outlay of many millions of dollars.

"The statistical paradox glares us out of countenance. It shames and humiliates us. What are honors of offices worth in any army that does not win battles? No marvel that some are proposing to reduce the Major Generals to post duty."

This was a reference to a proposed limiting of the activities to a local district of the Bishops whose jurisdiction now is universal.

Among the reasons for the meagre growth, as set forth, were a too strict application of the law of the Church demanding that all members who remove from a given community without their church letters be dropped from membership after one year.

"A fair calculation," the report said, "reveals the astounding fact that probably not less than 500,000 embers disappeared from our rolls by reckless use of the dropping process.

"Nevertheless, we still face the patent fact that our distinctive doctrines are not being emphasized as they once were, or, where preached, are discredited for the time by a gainsaying world drunk with vain philosophis and sated with gluttonous indulgences."

Pleading for an emphasis on the distinctive Wesleyan doctrine, the report said that they were the only power to save the Nation against vice.

The conference ordered a commission appointed to investigate the episcopal supervision of the 325,000 negro members in Southern States. William W. Lucas of Meridian, Miss., charged that, although Bishop Thomas B. Nelly's residence was fixed as New Orleans, the Bishop had resided there not more than thirty days in the last four years. Mr. Lucas and other Southern delegates declared that unless the negro members obtained the leadrship thy threatend to sparate.

RICHMOND, Va., May 2.—The Foreign Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention, representing 2,300,000 communicants, has just closed its fiscal year. Though the board has encountered more than usual difficulties, the reports show larger receipts than for any year in its history, making a net gain of about $70,000.

While the year closes with a debt of $56,000, conditions are far better than last year, when the debt was reported at $90,000.

ATTACKS REPUBLICAN RIVALS

Gov. Harmon Says Taft and Roosevelt Both Played False on the Tariff.

BALTIMORE, May 2.—Gov. Judson Harmon of Ohio addressed a mass meeting at the Lyric Theatre here to-night in the interest of his candidacy for the Presidential nomination. He referred to President Taft's failure to veto the Aldrich Tariff bill as "an insult to the American people as well as a breach of faith" of his promise to bring about a reduction in the tariff. He declared that no one thing since the civil war had been such an imposition on the American people as the high tariff and charged that the Republicans "made it worse in its special privileges every time they touched it."

"During the seven years that Roosevelt was President," said Gov. Harmon, "he did not send a single message to Congress or make a speech against the barons that have grown rich through the tariff law. While he uses the broken promises of President Taft against him, he nowhere says he would lift the burden from the shoulders of the people."

The Governor said that next to the reduction in tariff was economy in public expenditures, and he contrasted the records of the last Republican Congress and the present Democratic Congress, praising the latter for the economies effected. He commended Speaker Clark and Representative Underwood.

In reading from the "confidential letters" exchanged between President Taft and Col. Roosevelt, Gov. Harmon said that as Governor of Ohio he had written no confidential letters, and if he occupied a position of trust to the American people he would have none on any subject.

Addressing employes of the steel works at Sparrows Point, near here, this afternoon, Gov. Harmon said:

"I don't want Uncle Sam, after building the Panama Canal, to be a mere tollgate keeper. I want him to own and run the ships through it."

GRANT LETTERS SELL HIGH.

Holograph Memorials of Fighter Bring Good Prices at Rollins Sale.

A French "Book of Hours," printed in Paris about 1502 by Philippe Pigouchet for Simon Vostre, and so rare that it was not included in Robert Hoe's remarkable collection of printed "Books of Hours," brought $300 at the continued sale yesterday by the Anderson Company of the library of the late Jordan J. Rollins. Mrs. Henry Payne Whitney was among those present, and she made several minor purchases.

Three war letters of Gen. U. S. Grant brought high prices. For a one-page quarto letter, dated "Headquarters, Armies of the United States, City Point, Va., Nov. 1, 1864," $65 was paid. It is addressed to Gen. W. T. Sherman and orders him to press the Confederate General, J. B. Hood. This was after the evacuation of Atlanta and before Sherman continued his march to the sea.

Another letter, in pencil, "Wilson's Point, April 5, 1865," is also to Sherman, and orders the final attack on Gen. Robert E. Lee before his surrender. It went for $55. The third letter, also in pencil, "Prospect Station, April 10, 1865," addressed to Secretary of War Stanton, and written the morning after the surrender at Appomatox Court House, brought $51.

A fine copy of the rare original edition of Thomas Durfey's "Wit and Mirth; or, Pills to Purge Melancholy," London, 1719-20, sold for $62.50; Pierce Egan's "Life in London," first edition, London, 1821, went for $43; a copy of Shakespeare's works, with autograph inscription, "Slason Thompson, from His Friend, Eugene Field, Christmas, 1884," brought $35, and "Memoirs of the Late Dr. Benjamin Franklin," London, 1790, sold for $45.

A scarce story of the freebooters of the South Seas, printed in London in 1735, brought $57.50. Its title reads, "A journey over land from the Gulf of Honduras to the Great South Sea, performed by John Cockburn and five other Englishmen, who were taken by a Spanish Guarda-Costa in the John and Jane, Edward Burr, master, and set on shoar at a place called Porto Carolo, naked and wounded." The scarce first edition of "Peter Parley's Universal History," Boston, 1837, compiled and edited by Nathaniel Hawthorne and his sister Elizabeth, sold for $60. A fine copy of Joseph Dorat's "Les Baisers," Paris, 1770, rare first issue, went for $160.

TELLS OF OUTLAW'S THREAT.

Witness Says Floyd Allen Vowed to Kill Prosecuting Attorney.

WYTHEVILLE, Va., May 2.—"I'll kill Bill Foster before the sun goes down to-morrow night if I'm convicted."

Floyd Allen, the first of the Hillsville Court House assassins now on trial here for his life, was charged with making this remark before the shooting on March 14, according to the testimony to-day of I. B. Wedell of Montgomery, one of the first day's witnesses for the prosecution. On cross-examination Wedell stuck to his story, although he admitted that no other persons were present during his conversation with Allen.

Six witnesses, three of them spectators at the shooting, testified. The first, D. W. Bolen, a lawyer, who was defending Allen in the court where the murders were committed, testified that he saw Claude Allen fire the first shot and that it struck Judge Massie. Court officials returned the fire, he said. Two of the jurymen who were then trying Allen testified, one of them that Allen had fired in the direction of where he last saw Foster, the Commonwealth's attorney, who was killed. Other witnesses told of conversations with Allen in which he had threatened Foster.

Prosecutor Wysor, opening the case, said he would show there was a conspiracy among the Allens to shoot if Floyd Allen were convicted. Attorney Willis for the defense retorted that reports of the tragedy had been grossly exaggerated and that he would introduce testimony to show that Bettie Ayres was killed by a bullet from Clerk Dexter Goad's revolver and not by the Allens. The defense would show, he said, that Floyd Allen had been wounded before he had taken part in the shooting.

Vaughan's Lawn Seed

Clean, bright, vital seeds of best lawn producing kinds are now in the hands of those who secured these at harvest time from the Kentucky and Illinois grass seed growers. We annually protect our customers in this way.

Most low-priced lawn-mixtures, whether sold by seed dealers, department stores or grocers, are made up of Canadian seed or English fescues, and chaff (no vitality) to give bulk. One department store did not use a pound of true Kentucky seed last year and could sell their low-cost mixtures at 25 cents per pound at a big profit.

OUR LAWN SEED MIXTURES, sold by weight only, contain Kentucky Blue Grass with extra clean seed of those kinds which make an ideal lawn.

Ours are the best permanent mixtures. They make a close, velvety turf. No foul seeds; no weeds. New crop and sure to grow. Two mixtures:

"CENTRAL PARK" and "COLUMBIAN" (for shade)

BANKER IS ARRESTED FOR MISUSING FUNDS

E. E. Galbreath Was President of Second National of Cincinnati, Which Lost $1,200,000.

CASHED A DRAFT FOR $33,000

But Had No Funds in His Brother's Bank on Which It Was Drawn, Federal Warrant Charges.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, May 2.—E. E. Galbreath, former President of the Second National Bank of this city, was arrested to-day by a United States Marshal on a charge of misapplication of bank funds. The bank recently was found to be in an embarrassed condition, and is now being operated by members of the Cincinnati Clearing House Association.

After the bank was taken over by the clearing house a new set of officers was placed in control.

The warrant for Galbreath's arrest charges him with having wilfully and unlawfully misappropriated funds of the bank for his own use to the amount of $33,000. The warrant was sworn out by United States Bank Examiner R. W. Goodhart. Before becoming President of the Second National Bnak Galbreath was a Federal bank examiner.

The transaction upon which the warrant was issued was made on April 8. It is alleged that on that day Galbreath placed in the Second National Bank a draft for $33,000 drawn upon the Third National Bank of St. Louis, of which his brother, G. W. Galbreath, is Vice President. It is charged that he drew out of the Second National funds aggregating this amount, although he had no account with the St. Louis bank.

Following his arrest Galbreath was taken before United States Commissioner Adler. He pleaded not guilty to the charge and waived examination. Bond was fixed at $15,000.

The arrest of Galbreath came as a development of the investigation of the Second National Bank by Bank Examiner Goodhart several weeks ago. Goodhart found that the entire surplus of the institution was gone and that the capital stock would be eaten up in protecting depositors. The Controller of the Currency in view of this ordered that the stockholders be called upon within thirty days to replace the capital stock, which was $1,000,000. In all, it was shown that about $1,200,000 had been lost, chiefly on paper held by the bank.

The action of the Federal authorities cleared the situation for the time being, but the bank lost a large amount of deposits from small banks, which, however, it was believed, would be partly recovered if the bank were reorganized. In pursuance of this plan the Clearing House Association took over the bank, deposed the old officers and Directors, and elected a new set of officials, who are now in charge of its affairs.

According to financiers familiar with the affairs of the Second National Bank, one of the chief causes of its troubles was the loan of a large sum, said to be nearly $600,000, on stock of the Ford-Johnson Company, a furniture and chair-making concern, which had contracts for convict labor in many State penitentiaries. This security, it is said, deteriorated, particularly after the company was thrown into the hands of a receiver. Just prior to the clearing house taking charge of the Second National the bank was compelled to charge off the amount of the loan from its surplus. Then other paper was rejected and Directors were called upon to take up other loans held by the bank.

The Ford-Johnson paper also figured in the embarrassment of the Cincinnati Trust Company, of which George B. Cox was President. The trust company was taken over by the Provident Savings Bank and Trust Company several months ago.

Y. W. H. A. CAMPAIGN ENDS.

Quiet Work to Go On for $250,000 Fund Already Half Subscribed.

The whirlwind campaign of the Young Women's Hebrew Association to raise $250,000 for a new building was brought to a formal close yesterday at the campaign headquarters in the old Tiffany Building, Union Square and Fifteenth Street. More than half of the amount desired was subscribed during the course of the campaign, which was interrupted by the Titanic disaster. But for this unfortunate catastrophe, the members of the campaign committees stated yesterday, the total amount desired would have been obtained.

The campaign committees joined in presenting a gold watch and chain to Louis Allen Abramson, the active campaign manager. The presentation speech was made by Mrs. Israel Unterberg, President of the association, who congratulated Mr. Abramson on his zealous efforts in the face of discouraging circumstances. Mr. Abramson responded, thanking his fellow workers for their hard work in the cause.

It was decided unanimously not to abandon the effort to get the full amount desired for a new building. Work will be continued throughout the Summer, and the workers will meet each week to discuss the progress of quiet solicitation. The first of these meetings will be held on Monday evening at the home of Felix M. Warburg, President of the Young Men's Hebrew Association.

Although the campaign was unfortunately interrupted, members of the association said yesterday that its effect in drawing the attention of the community to the good work and the needs of the association had amply repaid their efforts.

FOR FIRST TRAIN TELEGRAPH.

Bronze Boulder Set Up at Harriman Whence First Orders Were Sent.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWBURG, May 2.—In the presence of a throng of spectators a bronze tablet set in a boulder west of the Harriman station was unveiled to-day, and the memorial presented to the Erie Railroad Company.

It was on this spot that in 1851 the first telegraphic order was given, directing a railroad train to move. It was sent by Charles Minot, General Superintendent of the Erie Road, a vignette of whose face appears at the top of the tablet, inclosed in a wreath. The tablet is erected by the association of railway telegraphers, and it was paid for by contributions from all parts of the country.

The boulder was taken from the estate of Mrs. Harriman, who paid the cost of preparing it and setting it in position.

A special train filled with railroad officials and telegraphers came from Jersey City, and President Underwood, on his way to Chicago, stopped to see the ceremony.

The monument was given to the railroad by H. D. Estabrook of New York in behalf of the Railway Telegraph Association. D. H. Bates of the United States Military Telegraph Corps was to unveil it, and he delegated the honor to Miss Gertrude Griffith, daughter of E. P. Griffith, Superintendent of Telegraph on the Erie. George Norcutt, representing President Underwood, accepted the gift.

DEGREE FOR PROF. MURRAY.

Amherst College Confers LL.D. Upon Greek Scholar from Oxford.

AMHERST, Mass., May 2.—The degree of Doctor of Laws was conferred by Amherst College to-day upon Gilbert Murray, Regius Professor of Greek at Oxford University, England, just before he gave his last lecture here in a course of the Greek drama.

President Harris conferred the degree, referring to Prof. Murray as one "who has revived and revivified the classic drama; a scholar, humanist, and leader." Prof. Murray was greeted with applause, and the student body rose to its feet and sang "Lord Geoffrey," the college song. Thereupon Prof. Murray complimented Amherst upon its recent stand for a broad education based on the classics.

RENEW LAFFARGUE CONTEST.

Piano Manufacturer's Stepdaughter Asks That Accounting Be Set Aside.

The bitter litigation over the estates of J. George Laffargue, the piano manufacturer, and his wife, Mrs. Henrietta Laffargue, who were killed Aug. 18, 1906, by a train which ran down their motor car, got a fresh start yesterday when Surrogate Fowler was asked to reject several items in the accounting of Edward Herrmann, executor of Mr. Laffargue's estate.

Mr. Laffargue left two sons and Mrs. Laffargue two daughters each by former marriages. On the question as to which of them died first hinged the distribution of their estates. Surrogate Fowler decided early in February that Mrs. Laffargue had outlived her husband by several minutes. Her daughter, Mrs. Laura Blakeny, made application yesterday to set aside Mr. Herrmann's accounting of her stepfather's estate. Among the items to which she objected was the payment to the lawyer who fought the case for her stepbrother for more than five years. He appeared in the proceedings as attorney for her stepfather's estate. Surrogate Cohalan sent the matter to a referee.

CARDINAL'S FAMINE APPEAL.

Asks All Catholics in Diocese to Aid Chinese Sufferers.

In a letter addressed to all the churches of the diocese, Cardinal Farley has directed that a collection for the famine sufferers of Ning-Po, China, be taken up next Sunday, and the returns made the following day to the Chancery office, in order that the total amount realized may be cabled to China. The efforts of the Cardinal to render assistance through his diocese were prompted by a most urgent appeal for relief from the Bishop of Ning-Po, who said that thousands were perishing daily through the famine brought on by the inundation of one of the most beautiful and thickly settled territories of China.

"We cannot turn a deaf ear to this piteous appeal," runs Cardinal Farley's letter to the pastors, "made in the name of Christian charity. Whatever assistance we are to proffer needs to be given immediately. You will please make an extra effort to impress on your good people the dire distress and the extreme misery that confronts the Church of Ning-Po and prompts its Bishop to appeal to us."

WE ARE ALSO AN "ADJUNCT."

As anybody can see, President Taft ought not to have written to Col. Roosevelt, even in a private letter, that reciprocity would make Canada "only an adjunct of the United "States"; or, having written such a sentence, he ought never to have committed the serious indiscretion of making it public. The reason is that these words are plainly open to misconstruction, and it was certain that they would be seized upon by those persons and those organs of British and Canadian public opinion that, with such gayety of heart and laxity of conscience, perverted every expression they could seize upon, distorted every utterance of American public men that would lend itself to such use, and left no opportunity of misrepresentation unavailed of in their bitter fight against reciprocity.

The passage in Mr. Taft's letter to Col. Roosevelt which has caught the eye and stirred the perverse instincts of our British and Canadian friends is this:

> Meanwhile the amount of American products they would take would produce a current of business between Western Canada and the United States that would make Canada only an adjunct of the United States. It would transfer all their important business to Chicago and New York, with their bank credits and everything else, and it would increase greatly the demand of Canada for our manufactures.

In that sense, in precisely the sense that Mr. Taft had in mind, we are an "adjunct" of Great Britain. We are an adjunct because during the last fiscal year we exported to Great Britain and Ireland commodities valued at $576,613,974. We have been doing something like that right along year after year. This enormous volume of exports "transfers" to London bank credits that we find mighty convenient when we have need of cash. But for our obstructive tariff, which restricts our exports as well as our imports, our export trade to Great Britain and Ireland would be much greater. We should then be more of an adjunct of Great Britain than at present. That would suit us still better. We enjoy the rôle of adjunct, and would welcome an increasingly large and intimate adjunctive relation with other great commercial Powers — France, Germany, Italy, Russia, and all South America.

The English and Canadian newspaper writers who have seized upon this phrase of the President's letter as conclusive proof that they were right when they said reciprocity was a plot, a first step to annexation, are really not so gullible and simple-minded as they make themselves out to be. They know very well that Mr. Taft was thinking only of commercial relations, not at all of political. All Western Canada is extremely desirous to become an adjunct of the United States in the sense of the President's letter. The relation is reciprocal, and we should like nothing better than to become an adjunct of Canada in the commercial way. Reciprocity would make us both adjuncts, one of the other.

THOMAS C. DAWSON.

The late Thomas C. Dawson was a man of personal force and large abilities He had served his country well, and nobody has ever doubted his courage, his adroitness, his knowledge of the history of Latin-American countries and the conditions prevailing therein, his gift of clear statement, or his loyalty. He served the State Department well in many delicate missions. He had gained valuable experience in the Diplomatic Service, and in his unique post as "resident diplomatic officer" he was instrumental, indeed the chief instrument, in restoring order in certain troublesome crises, notably in Santo Domingo, Colombia, and, more recently, in Honduras. This does not constitute nearly the sum of Mr. Dawson's services.

For the difficulties with which he was called to deal, Mr. Dawson was in no way responsible. The ill-feeling against Americans which, we know, prevails in Latin America would never have developed if the people of Central and South America had been thrown in contact only with Americans of Mr. Dawson's own type. But, at the best, the employment of a floating diplomatic officer in such matters was a questionable makeshift. Our diplomatic relations with Mexico, all Central America, and the South American States should be placed on a firmer and better defined basis. It is not likely that a successor will soon be appointed to the deceased "resident diplomat," not likely, indeed, that a successor endowed with his personal qualifications could easily be found. The United States Ministers and Consuls in all these countries should be men fit to meet all the emergencies likely to develop at their posts, and being fit their fitness should be recognized.

Large questions are looming up south of us. In Mexico our Ambassador has proved able to cope with the many difficulties of his situation, in spite of needless interference. The insistence in the Senate of a further inquiry into the reports of Japanese colonization will still further add to his labors, but no temporary assistance from a traveling diplomat would benefit him. Men of the best type and the best training are needed to represent the United States throughout Latin America. Mr. Dawson himself would probably have won larger fame, and occupied a more commanding position in the public eye, if his task had been more clearly defined and his position more restricted.

THE HEROIC MEN.

The facts are all in print now about the masculine adherents of the woman suffragists who will march in the parade to-morrow. There will be 800 of them surely. They will represent every trade and profession except the clergy. This is clearly an oversight which should be rectified. There is no lack of clergymen ready to support the cause of votes for women. For the rest the list includes bankers, manufacturers, students, librarians, dentists, musicians, booksellers, journalists, as well as dancing teachers, egg inspectors, capitalists, watchmen, ladies' waistmakers—and authors. A lawyer will carry the banner, and a drum and fife corps will head the division.

This is important news and not to be trifled with. The men who have professed to believe in woman suffrage have always been numerous. But these men are going to do more than profess, they are going to march before the eyes of the more or less unsympathetic multitude. It is one thing to sit on the platform and smile at a woman's meeting, quite another to march behind a gaudy banner to the inspiration of the squeaking fife, in order to indicate one's belief in the right of women to the ballot. The men will be closely scanned, but they will not mind that. They will be called endearing names by small boys on the sidewalk. But doubtless they will study to preserve their gravity. They will not march as well as the women. Only trained soldiers can compete with the amazons in keeping step. There must be strong inducement to make men march in a woman's parade. Some may be looking for customers. We suspect the waistmakers and the dentists, for instance. But the majority must firmly believe in the righteousness of the cause, and also in the value to it of their public appearance in line. They are courageous fellows. The march of the 800 may be renowned. We hope they will all hold out from Thirteenth Street to Carnegie Hall, and we extend to all the 800 our sympathy and admiration.

A TAFT VICTORY.

It is now evident that Mr. Taft won a substantial victory in the Massachusetts primaries. Of much of the fruit of that victory he was robbed by the throwing out of ballots invalidated because of the culpable negligence of his managers in Massachusetts, and because of the carelessness of the voters in marking their ballots. In the preference vote Mr. Taft had a majority over Mr. Roosevelt of 4,235. The Roosevelt delegates at large had a majority of some 7,980 over the Taft delegates. This declaration of the result was at once seen to be so contradictory and absurd that an explanation was required. The explanation was obvious, for it had been foreseen that many Taft ballots would be invalidated through the marking of nine names instead of eight. This, in fact, happened. The Boston Globe estimates that from twelve to fifteen thousand Taft ballots were thrown out because of the marking of nine names. Gen. Champlin puts the estimate of ballots thrown out as high as 20,000.

A test is furnished by the vote on Taft alternates, where only eight names appeared upon the ballot, thus affording no opportunity for mismarking. The Boston Globe publishes returns from 132 cities and towns which show that Long, who headed the Taft group of alternates, had a majority over Burrill, whose name headed the Roosevelt group, of 5,867. In Boston while the Taft delegates received only 10,079 votes to 10,913 for the Roosevelt delegates, the Taft alternates received 11,548 votes and the Roosevelt alternates 10,327. The Globe's returns from 256 cities and towns indicate 11,077 ballots rejected as invalid, and these figures are incomplete, and not yet officially verified. Though incomplete, they are enough, however, to show that if the will and intent of all the voters had not been baffled through the carelessness of some of them, Mr. Roosevelt's plurality of 7,980 on delegates at large would have been wiped out and a substantial majority for the Taft delegates would have been registered. There is no reason, therefore, why the supporters of Mr. Taft should be discouraged by the Massachusetts results. A majority of the Republican voters of that State have made it plain that they desire his renomination.

Murray Crane is no babe in politics, yet as a candidate for a place in the Taft delegation at large he permitted himself to go to defeat like an unresisting child. Gen. Champlin, the Taft manager in Massachusetts, has had some experience in politics, but he, too, must be held responsible for the frightful blunder that robbed Mr. Taft of the declared majority. A Republican politician to whom the organization had refused a nomination as delegate got himself named by petition. Nine names, therefore, appeared on the ballot as Taft delegates, while only eight could be voted for. Notwithstanding the admonitions of the managers and the press, large numbers of Republicans, in some towns as many as 10 per cent., ignorantly or carelessly voted for the nine names, thus invalidating their ballots.

When Seiberlich obstinately refused to let his name be taken off the ballot, Senator Crane and Gen. Champlin should have seen to it that some other name was withdrawn, in order that only the proper number, eight, should remain. When a State goes about the business of nominating a candidate for the Presidency in such a way that the act of one spiteful or disgruntled person may change the result, perhaps determine a Presidential election and gravely affect the destinies of the country, it might without any departure from truth be said that the people of that State are not altogether fit to govern themselves.

This is a terrible showing up of the much-vaunted merits of the Massachusetts ballot, upon which, as used on Election Day, the names appear without party symbols and without circles in which a voter so disposed may with one cross vote an entire party ticket. The friends of ballot reform in this State have been much grieved because The Times has always opposed the adoption of this form of ballot for New York. Our objection has been that rather more than nine-tenths of the voters vote a straight party ticket. Their convenience should be consulted rather than that of a small number of independent voters, who, anyway, are supposed to be intelligent enough to pick out the names of candidates for whom they desire to vote. In this State the Massachusetts ballot would disfranchise a very great number of voters who, though they enjoy the right of suffrage, are unable to read. Every voter in Massachusetts must know how to read; before he can get his name on the registry list he must draw from a box a card containing a passage from the Constitution and read it to the satisfaction of the Registry Clerk. But this primary has shown that even though the Massachusetts electorate be able to read, it is not able to vote intelligently and according to its wish when an absurd and stupidly arranged ballot is put into its hands.

THE INSULT TO THE FLAG.

The ruffians who trampled on the American flag at the Socialist meeting in Union Square on Wednesday were either members of the so-called Industrial Workers of the World or allied with them in thought and feeling. We do not believe that the Socialists, generally speaking, would countenance any insult to the Stars and Stripes. But men are judged by the company they keep. An insult to our flag cannot be treated lightly. We know that some of the Socialists in the meeting protested vigorously against the insult, and that the flag was recovered from the ruffians. But their duty does not stop there. They know the men who tore down the flag and trampled upon it. Under the Penal Code those men are guilty of a misdemeanor punishable by fine or imprisonment or both. The plain duty of the Socialists is to point out the culprits, and cause their arrest and imprisonment. Until they perform that duty the odium of the insult to the whole American people will rest upon the Socialists and their cause.

We are living in an era of confusion, and order must soon be restored or the Nation will be imperiled. The organizers of the recent labor strikes in Lawrence, Mass., and Paterson, N. J., proclaim themselves superior to all Government and defy all laws. The flag was torn down and trampled in Union Square by malcontents of that kind. They were marching with the Socialists, meeting with the Socialists, to protest against the law and the Government. The Socialists cannot escape blame for what they did until they are denounced and discarded. In the meantime, patriotic Americans will feel that the insult to the flag was a Socialistic insult and act accordingly. It cannot be tolerated or condoned. The freedom we accord in this country to all forms of political belief, the cheerfulness with which we permit the public utterance of all sorts of foolish doctrines, must not be misconstrued. All Americans are angered when our flag is slighted in foreign countries. An insult to it at home savors of treason.

COLLECTIVE BARGAINING.

When the coal strike was pending its leaders declared the orthodox doctrine regarding combinations of labor to effect their purpose. Said John Mitchell:

> What is the definition of a strike? In principle it is a method of bargaining, and we find it working out in all lines of business.

Said President White:

> We demand the same right to combine that is exercised by capitalists, full recognition as an organization, and the right to bargain collectively for the sale of our labor.

But if labor may bargain collectively for the sale of labor why may not capital bargain collectively for the purchase of the same labor? Yet labor claims exemption from the laws against conspiracy in restraint of trade, and demands the prosecution and dissolution of capitalist trusts, despite an occasional recognition of the similarity of argument in the two cases.

What is now happening in Chicago illustrates the point. The Examiner had been employing a greater number of men than it needed, and ought to have been in good standing with the unions, because of such liberality toward labor. But the union's gratitude did not survive The Examiner's resolve, its individual agreement having expired, to abide by the collective agreement of the publishers with the union regarding the standard number of pressmen. The Examiner's pressmen thereupon struck, and the publishers declared the agreement abrogated because the union refused arbitration. The consequence is that Chicago is without newspapers. The two points to be noted are that the method of collective bargaining favored by labor drove the employers into a similar collective bargain, and that labor's engagement was declared worthless the moment labor chose to regard it as no longer useful to labor. Lawyers call such contracts unilateral, or one-sided, and they are frequently void for lack of consideration. It takes two to make a bargain, but labor too often thinks that a bargain binds only one. The employer may be sued on a bargain prejudicial to him, but there is no process against a union, which is a mere fortuitous aggregation of irresponsible atoms.

The incident is remarked not because it concerns alone the newspaper trade, but because it is characteristic of labor. A bargain of hire ought to benefit both parties, but labor thinks that because a bargain is about labor therefore it ought to benefit labor regardless of the effect upon the party of the other part. The "full crew" law, for example, is a law merely to compel the railways to employ unnecessary labor. It is a market for labor created by law at the expense of capital. The eight-hour law has a similar aspect, it being a form of leisure to be enjoyed at the expense of another. There is a sickening list of laws supported by cant in the name of uplift, but really operating to the prejudice of labor. How is it possible for unionists not to see that they are placing a premium upon the employment of non-unionists, who are glad to work and to earn their wages. If collective bargaining by labor would assure to worried employers both quantity and quality of service, and a loyal regard for mutual interests, the employers would be glad to co-operate in a spirit of good-will. But when collective bargaining means union for war on the one side it must mean the same thing on the other side. It is idle to expect that conditions can be established whereby there is one law for employer and another for employed. It is idle to speak of the oppression of labor when the unions boast of the triumphs of their campaign for their own interests at the expense of their paymasters.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Splendid Is What Splendid Does.

To read what Senator Smith said of The Times and the way it presented the news about the loss of the Titanic was almost enough to make one refer for the 1,000,001st time to our tiresome old friend, Sir Hubert, and his praise. But sarcasm would be suspected by some if that were done, and surely sarcasm would be brutal ingratitude if directed against a man kind and appreciative enough to say to one of our reporters: "I wish to congratulate your "paper on the splendid bit of enterprise "that brought you the wireless boys' "stories. Now, I want you clearly to un"derstand that I have not sought to ex "press one single word of criticism of "The Times for obtaining those stories. "* * * I would have done just what "The Times did had I been in your place "and had the opportunity."

There spoke a real newspaper man, which we understand the Senator is, in addition to his other Nation-guiding activities, but he forgot, apparently, that journalistic enterprise cannot be "splendid" if it involve the hiring, or in any way influencing anybody to do anything illegal, immoral, or otherwise against public interest. Had he not so forgotten, Senator Smith could hardly have gone on to say that what he did object to was the possibility that the Marconi Company might make it a part of its official functions to market the stories of its operators.

But why object to a possibility which nothing that has happened turns into even a remote probability? Why, even by implication, say that "the wireless boys" did something they shouldn't have done and shouldn't do again? If The Times's conduct was beyond criticism, so was theirs and that of their employers.

As a matter of fact, of course, every newspaper in the country, or in the world, that could afford to get the stories of those boys as The Times got them would have made the acquisition with delight and printed them with pride. The papers that found fault with the achievement and "sicked" the Senator on to investigate it—Oh, well, one mustn't be too harsh! Everybody understands just why they did it.

Sun Spots and the Weather.

It has long been suspected by many meteorologists and believed by not a few that sun spots had something to do with our weather—had with it a relation in some way or degree causative and therefore might, after sufficient study, be made the basis of long-distance weather prophecy.

Twenty-five years ago or so an editorial writer on The Rochester Democrat and Chronicle became quite widely known as "the sun-spot man" because he put in his paper day after day articles insisting that this relation was extremely close, and proving it, as he thought, by calling attention to the contemporaneity of this or that spot with this or that tornado out in Minnesota or down in Louisiana. As tornadoes are numerous in their season, and as the sun is rarely spotless, the Rochester amateur of astronomy and meteorology didn't make many converts and had to stand a good deal of ridicule. Even then, however, serious scientists thought him on the right track, though mistaken as to detail, and ever since they have been pondering and observing, till now the existence of a bond between sun-spot cycles and terrestrial storm cycles is hardly doubted.

Among the firm believers in the sun-spot theory is Father Picard of the Santa Clara College Observatory, and, as a dispatch we printed yesterday shows, he is so confident of its truth and practicability that he ventures weather predictions, not only for the whole of the current month, but for the month to come. What his record of hits and misses is we do not know. It must, of course, be long as well as good, to eliminate the element of luck, since one has even chances on a mere guess as between fair and foul, but as a professional astronomer Father Picard speaks with some authority and is in a class wholly different from that of most of the long-distance weather prophets.

Their predictions are almost invariably based on "signs" of no relevancy whatever to the problem, and none of them ever makes a reputation for accuracy except with the obliging people who remember all his successes and forget all his misses. This the quack weather prophet helps the credulous public to do by carefully advertising the occasions when his guesses come true and letting kindly oblivion hide those that don't.

Amusing Fears Revealed.

Nothing seems to give the officers and Faculty of a college or university more dismay and pain than to have somebody start the report that theirs is an institution where most, or even many, of the students are the sons of rich men. No such story, even though it include no hint or accusation that these fortunate youth are there as the result of official efforts or desire, ever gains even limited currency without setting "Prexy" and his learned aids at the gathering of statistics with feverish haste, and it is their obvious assumption that if the figures collected didn't show an overwhelming majority of boys in circumstances straitened or but moderately comfortable something very terrible would happen to, or be proved against, that particular seat of learning.

Now, the wish to get credit for putting education within the reach of all is a highly commendable one, but isn't there something of snobbishness—of inverted snobbishness, perhaps, but snobbery is alike on both sides—in these frequently recurring demonstrations?

It is not exactly a crime to be a rich man's son, and, though Mr. Carnegie and other experts insist that it is a misfortune, no fond parent on that account ever refrained from acquiring wealth if he could. The college that has a clear conscience as to the way it treats rich boys and poor need not be frightened or even worried about the relative number of each for whom it is a mater truly alma. Youth is naturally democratic, and can usually be trusted to make distinctions along better lines than that of money.

Vegetarianism Now Is in Order.

With meat at its present prices, vegetarians have one argument on their side—that of economy. Vegetables, indeed, are by no means cheap, now that we think we have to have most kinds of them all the year round, and fresh at that, but it is a fact that whoever will can live on vegetable foods at comparatively small expense.

One can, too, do so well and safely, and perhaps to real advantage, for a time sufficiently long to cause woe to the butcher men and the cold storage people.

Of course permanent vegetarianism is reckless folly, sure to lead to racial degeneration and inferiority, but as "a change," if not kept up too long, it is not infrequently advantageous to the individual. The fact will always remain, however, that humanity is by nature and construction omnivorous—a quality which is far from the least of its superiority to animate rivals.

CAPSIZED CANOE FLOATS TWO.

Perhaps More Than Two, According to These Witnesses.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I have handled canoes for the last eight years during the Summer months, and have never found a single instance where a capsized canoe would not support at least two and, in many cases, three persons, so therefore believe that I am justified, through my experience, in refuting J. F. Burrowes's statement that the ordinary canvas-covered cedar canoe, unless equipped with air chambers, will not support a single person when it is capsized.

Perhaps it is needless to say that I am thoroughly acquainted with all sports pertaining to watermanship, and firmly believe that a canoe is as safe as a rowboat, provided the occupants understand the art of canoeing.

A very good axiom for amateur canoeists to pay heed to should read as follows: "One who cannot swim should not venture in a canoe."

J. F. Burrowes's article, however, is well taken, and if heeded as a note of warning by more persons fewer needless disasters which often mar a Summer vacation would result.

Mount Arlington, N. J., May 1, 1912. H. B.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

A canoe when upset will support at least four people, but some are under the impression that to be safe they must have most of their body out of the water; this is a mistake, as the head above water is sufficient.

Any one familiar with an ordinary canoe trick would be able to fill his canoe with water, and by pushing on the side of the boat would empty same, then climb in, and continue paddling to his destination.

Old Canal Street Terminal.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Your correspondent Sylvester D. Haven states that he "did not remember any railroad having its terminal station at Broadway and Canal Street."

I distinctly remember when a boy, about 1850, taking a train for New Haven from a station at this place. The station was two doors from the southeast corner of Broadway and Canal Street. The cars drawn by horses left the station at the rear, out into Canal Street. In returning from New Haven the cars did not enter the station, but stopped in Canal Street, a few feet from Broadway, where the passengers alighted. Later the station was removed to Fourth Avenue, corner Twenty-seventh, the present site of Madison Square Garden. H. E. B.

Catholic Cabinet Members.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I notice in The Times a dispatch from Rome headed, "Pope Watches Campaign," which states:

> It is asserted that some friends have recalled how the Roosevelt Administration was the most favorable to Catholics that ever existed, a Catholic being called for the first time to be a member of the Cabinet.

I recall that James Campbell of Pennsylvania, Postmaster General in President Pierce's Cabinet, as stated in Bigelow's Tilden Letters, volume 1, page 95, was "a member of the Catholic communion," and Justice McKenna, now of the United States Supreme Court, Attorney General in Mr. McKinley's Cabinet, is also, I believe, a Catholic. RENEW THEATRE LICENSES.

Houses Which Failed to Comply with Law Reinstated.

It was explained at Police Headquarters yesterday that most of the theatre licenses revoked by Commissioner Waldo on Wednesday will be restored as soon as the regulations have been complied with. Thirty amusement houses lost their licenses, most of them through neglect to make application for renewal on May 1.

The Metropolitan Opera House, which was included among them, has already complied with the regulations and received a renewal. The Police Department acts automatically in revoking licenses on information received from the Fire and the Tenement House Departments.

Maud Malone's Comment.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Would you allow me space to present the following examples of the manner in which Mr. Roosevelt treated two of his questioners at recent political meetings? I do so in the hope that women voters in the six "free States" may take notice and act accordingly. Also the women of California at the primaries in May.

On Saturday Mr. Roosevelt spoke at Boston. According to reports, some men in the crowd shouted, "Where is Perkins?" in the middle of Mr. Roosevelt's speech. And the candidate calmly answered, "He's for me. You can't put a question to me that will embarrass me for a moment." Surely Mr. Roosevelt is short on memory if on nothing else. What about the suffrage question which embarrassed him in New York for fifteen minutes? The crowd yelled, "Throw him out." "Don't throw him out. I'm glad he came in," said Mr. Roosevelt. And the man was not put out and got his answer. On the contrary, the suffragette was first threatened with arrest and then dragged out by a policeman, Mr. Roosevelt calmly looking on all the while.

It will be interesting to watch the result in California. Will the suffrage women out there help their sisters in New York who are fighting for their political rights and rebuke this candidate who has one kind of square deal for the men and another for the women?

Rearing of Rhododendrons.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I have read your articles on the rhododendrons in Central Park. The gentleman that wrote in the first place, evidently wrote in good faith, and he is right to an extent, but he loses sight entirely of one thing that has happened to these plants in the last two Winters. It is not the mulch at all that has occasioned the trouble he speaks of, and in justice to the Park Commissioner I must say a word. A warm day or two in the early Spring starts the sap in these delicate plants, and a cold day coming right after burns them up; also a fall of snow and bright Spring sunshine will do the same thing.

I have been nursing them for twenty years, 250 miles east and north of New York, and have some of my original plants now. I protect them every year by a heavy mulch of leaves, although I originally surrounded them with pine boughs, and a protection of low boards when they were young. They can be raised in this climate with proper care. They also need a sour soil, no lime or fertilizer at all. CHARLES RUSSELL HURD.

A Chance to Win Gratitude.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Why are the leading men of the leading political parties afraid, or ashamed, or too stupid to espouse the cause of woman suffrage and make it their own? The suffrage is bound to come, most of these same men admitting it in private, and why wait until the women compel acceptance of their propaganda?

Women are grateful creatures and the political party now advocating woman suffrage will have a future claim upon them which they will not forget, and which may some day mean so much to that party that the other party will gnash its teeth in disappointment and sorrow that its leaders in the past were so short-sighted. Ten or a dozen years ago the men might have been indifferent to the appeals of the women, but to-day the prospect has changed and now is the time for the wise party leaders to wake up and do something in self defense. Robert T. Lincoln for President.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

When the Republican Convention convenes in Chicago in June I would suggest that if President Taft has not a majority of the delegates absolutely to be trusted to stick to him that the name of Robert T. Lincoln be presented to the convention.

The placing in nomination of Mr. Lincoln will test and prove the sincerity of Mr. Roosevelt as to whether his candidacy (Roosevelt's) is simply to defeat President Taft's renomination or an attempt on his part to Mexicanize this Government. He delights in comparing himself with Abraham Lincoln, and, knowing the magic of the name, and claiming to desire the success of the Republican Party, his advice to his delegates if Mr. Lincoln's name were presented to the convention would prove whether he is a patriot or a demagogue.

New Enemies of Elms.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

You are misinformed about the trees in the Harvard Yard, for you say that there was an inexpensive and well-known means of saving them.

Unfortunately the elms, old and young alike, were attacked and absolutely destroyed, not by the elm-leaf beetle, which is an old enemy that can be easily routed by a poisonous spray, but by the leopard moth and by the newly discovered elm-bark beetle, both of which work inside the bark where no poison can reach them, and against which, as is the case with the chestnut blight, there is no known remedy. Don't Make Both Ends Meet.

A sixteen-year-old girl and her mother, the one earning $5 a week in a factory and the other the same amount as an office cleaner, cannot meet the expenses of their home. The father recently died of tuberculosis after a year's illness. There are three younger children who go to school, and when food and clothing have been provided for this family of five there is nothing left for the rent or a regular supply of good milk, which the children especially need. Their relatives are little better off than themselves and friends of the man have given what they can. The Charity Organization Society asks for $168 to provide the rent and milk during the coming twelve months.

Gifts may be sent to the office of the society, 105 East Twenty-second Street, and will be acknowledged.

The Charity Organization Society acknowledges with thanks the following contributions received in response to previous appeals in The Times:

JUSTICE PITNEY LOTOS CLUB GUEST

New Member of Supreme Court Hears Justice Gummere Defend the Judiciary.

PEOPLE MADE HIGHEST COURT

They Created It and Their Pride in Its Traditions Made Its Record Possible, Its Newest Member Says.

Associate Justice Mahlon Pitney of the United States Supreme Court, was a guest of the Lotos Club at dinner last night. The feast, which was largely attended, was the first in New York at which Justice Pitney has been present since his elevation to the bench of the highest court in the Nation. In a brief speech he said that he accepted the honor with the realization that it was not a personal but an official compliment that was paid him.

In the course of the evening, Justice Pitney heard his old friend Chief Justice William S. Gummere of the Supreme Court of New Jersey, utter a vigorous defense of the judiciary both Federal and State, and he listened to, but did not join in, the hearty applause that followed the Chief Justice's remark that unless the people "trust the courts, there is no substantial foundation left for the Government under which we live."

Chief Justice Gummere said he deplored the attacks that have been made upon the courts, and he did not hesitate to say, he declared, that he was one Judge who resented those aspersions.

Andrew Carnegie, in a letter expressing his regret at not being able to be present, said that among the many fine feature's of President Taft's Administration had been the President's appointments to the Supreme Court. Ex-Senator Depew said it was a fortunate thing for the United States that the Justices of the Supreme Court are not subject as are Presidential candidates to the open primary system.

Frank R. Lawrence, President of the Lotos Club, was toastmaster, and at his table, in addition to Justice Pitney, Chief Justice Gummere, and Senator Depew, were William B. Hornblower, who was once nominated for the Supreme Court of the United States, but who failed of confirmation; Judge Morgan J. O'Brien, Col. Charles W. Fuller, ex-Attorney General John W. Griggs, ex-Senator John C. Spooner of Wisconsin, Henry D. Estabrook, the Rev. Dr. H. C. Meserve, and Gen. Stewart L. Woodford.

In introducing Justice Pitney, Mr. Lawrence referred to the fact that he was the third citizen of New Jersey to be honored with an appointment to the Supreme Court bench.

"You know how sincerely I appreciate the honor of a Lotos Club dinner," said Justice Pitney in his address, "but I realize that the honor is given more to the office that I hold than to any personal esteem you may have for me. However, it is pleasant at times to get away from the haunts of the habeas corpus and the certiorari and indulge in Long Island squabs and other delightful dissipations that are characteristic of Lotos Club dinners."

Justice Pitney in a humorous vein said that New York had very few claims on him unless the fact that his name had been on the credit lists of nearly every merchant on Fifth Avenue could be considered a claim. He then referred to the fact that his maternal grandfather once owned the site on which the Drexel Building, at Wall and Broad Streets, now stands, and in which is the New York office of J. P. Morgan & Co. However, he added, that was a long time ago, and his good grandfather disposed of the property when land was as cheap in Wall Street as it is now in the remotest parts of the city.

Justice Pitney concluded with a tribute to the Supreme Court, and said that what made Marshall and other Judges of the past great was nothing more nor less than the simple greatness of the American people who had created the court and who were proud of it and its traditions.

"The office," said Justice Pitney, "came to me unsolicited and unsought and without pledge of any sort except such pledge as is included in the oath of office, and my duties will be performed as God gives me strength to perform them."

Chief Justice Gummere followed Justice Pitney. He began with a reference to the long years of friendship that had existed between him and Justice Pitney and said that the new Justice was a man who had the courage of his convictions.

"A multitude of prominent men," said Justice Gummere, "are going about the country saying that this is no longer a Government of the people and that this Government is a failure, that it is a Government of the classes and not of the masses. They intimate that not only the Government itself but the courts as well are controlled by the classes, the latter in a way that is horrible to the people. They prefer to do away with a Government by representatives of the people to substitute for it a government direct by the people. It is even suggested that the people shall have a right to review judicial decisions.

"I am willing to believe that these people are sincere, but I doubt if the schemes that they propose will stand the test of a hundred years, as have those devised by our forefathers, under which we have lived and prospered for more than a century. Some of these gentlemen who propose these things have been legislators and executives, and can of course speak with more authority about those branches of government than I can. But I object to their attacks on the judiciary, for all the laws that come to the courts for interpretation are laws passed by Legislatures and approved by the Executive.

"The people must trust the courts, for unless you can trust the courts there is no substantial foundation for the Government under which we live. This talk of mine may be out of place, but I am among my friends. It is a poor satisfaction to know in your own heart that you are honest if everybody else thinks that you are not. It is only common sense to refute such an assertion when it is made."

"It is fortunate," said Senator Depew, "that [illegible] questions and the preservation of our Union [illegible] are not [illegible] the Presidency, to an open primary. The necessity [illegible] President and an ex-President of the United States, Governors of States who are candidates, [illegible] to the [illegible] every day of the week preceding the convention in living on sleeping cars by night and making rear-platform speeches to crowds at stations by day, [illegible] the nomination of their party. The candidates are not at fault, but it is the exigency of the new system which compels them to appear as far as possible before all the people of our vast country."

HOMER C. DAVENPORT, CARTOONIST, DIES

Stricken Two Weeks Ago, After Making Drawings Depicting Horror of Titanic Disaster.

IN CULT LEADER'S HOME

Artist Believed with Mrs. Cochran In "Science of Numbers"—His Famous Works—Breeder of Arabian Horses.

Homer Calvin Davenport, who was one of the best known of newspaper cartoonists, died at 7 A. M. yesterday in the apartments of Mrs. William Cochran, 514 West 114th Street. He died from pneumonia after an illness of two weeks. Mrs. Cochran was an old friend of Mr. Davenport and on the night of April 19 he had an engagement to take her and a number of friends to the circus. His work had been unusually severe on that day, which was the one on which the Carpathia landed the survivors of the Titanic. He drew three cartoons for the American and he was in a highly nervous state when he left his office.

Arriving at Mrs. Cochran's he suffered a collapse. Believing he was suffering from nervous strain he called in a masseuse. By noon Friday his condition had become such that Dr. Gill Wylie and Dr. William Baner were called in. He continued to sink and at his death eight physicians were in attendance upon him. Death came after two weeks' illness and for at least a week of that time the cartoonist in his delirium was again working on drawings depicting the horror of the Titanic disaster.

Mr. Davenport's body was taken to the Stephen Merritt chapel at Nineteenth Street and Eighth Avenue. His wife, from whom he was separated, lives at 48 West Seventy-fourth Street. The artist lived at the Hotel Albert in University Place.

Mrs. Cochran, at whose home Mr. Davenport died, is known as Assonath Neypa in mediumistic circles. She is a teacher of the creed of the "science of numbers." She has explained her belief as life harmony which consists of adjusting the being to a number of vibrations which will give forth accord and not discord. This is obtained by having the vibration of your birth date in harmony with the letters of your name. Mr. Davenport, it was said, was a believer in the theory.

Homer Davenport, besides being a cartoonist, was also a pioneer in the breeding of Arabian horses in this country. In his early life he had also been a jockey, circus follower, and railroad fireman. He was born in Silverton, Ore., on March 8, 1868. He never went to an art school. In 1892 Mr. Davenport went to the office of The Examiner in San Francisco with some of his sketches. They showed merit, and he was questioned. Davenport said he had just left the circus.

"I quit," explained the young man with captivating manner, "when they asked me to oil the elephant. It was too much of a job. They gave me a bucket of linseed oil and a rough brush and put me up on top of the elephant, and said: 'Begin on that spot between his shoulders.' So I rubbed it in until the whole bucket was gone, and then looked at the spot. It wasn't even greasy. I put the brush down and did a little figuring, and found that at that rate it would take me 365 days, or one year, to oil the whole elephant, and I struck. I thought it would take less time to draw pictures for The Examiner, so I'm looking for a job."

So began his career as a cartoonist. Perhaps his most famous work was his origination of the caricature of the late Senator Mark Hanna in his $-mark suit of clothes. In 1899 he made the giant figure of the trusts which, with his cartoon of Uncle Sam placing his hand on Roosevelt's shoulder, "He's good enough for me," was widely circulated. After three years on The Examiner W. R. Hearst brought Mr. Davenport to this city. He served for a time on The Evening Mail, and at the time of his death was on the staff of The American. It was his work that caused the attempt to pass an anti-cartoon bill in this State in 1897.

Mr. Davenport devoted much of his time of recent years to the stock farm he owned at Morris Plains, N. J., where he kept many Angora goats and geese and bred Arabian horses. At the time of the World's Fair in Chicago several thoroughbred Arabian horses were sold to satisfy a mortgage against the company which brought them over. Mr. Davenport, who had long wanted to obtain some of the breed, bought them. All but one of the mares died. Mr. Davenport sought to buy others through an agent at Beirut. The Sultan, angry, forbade the sale. After much negotiation Mr. Davenport obtained permission and went to the Arabian desert escorted by Turkish soldiers to select the animals. Nejdran, one of the horses, was the property of an English army officer. He was exhibited at the Lewis and Clark Exposition in 1905, and Mr. Davenport wrote to President Roosevelt asking that a cavalry man be allowed to ride the horse 3,000 miles from Portland, Ore., to Morris Plains. The test was successful. The cartoonist showed a number of entries at the Horse Show, but never succeeded in having a class established in which he could compete.

In 1897 Mr. Davenport went abroad, where he met and cartooned many public men, including Gladstone. He drew sketches of Dreyfus and scenes in the courtroom at his trial.

Mr. Davenport was the author of a number of animal stories and "The Bell of Silverton," "The Dollar or the Man," and "The Diary of a Country Boy."

Mrs. Davenport was Miss Daisy Mooars of San Francisco. In 1909 Mr. Davenport and his wife separated.

MATINEE OF DANCING.

Violet Romer Provides a Charming Programme at the Knickerbocker.

Violet Romer, who has been providing a dancing divertissement in "Kismet," had the stage of the Knickerbocker Theatre all to herself yesterday afternoon and proved herself worthy of it.

Youth, grace, charm, and prettiness are this dancer's assets, and it is apparent that she has devoted time and study to her art. The effort is occasionally uneven, and there is occasionally room for a development of seeming spontaneity in gesture, but on the whole her dancing was both beautiful and satisfying.

Clad in a loose flowing violet gown, with legs and arms bare, she danced to the Andante Cantabile of Tchaikowsky with an abundance of liquid grace. Here the movements of hands and arms were especially lovely.

Then, by way of contrast, in the first group of five dances, she did the Dance of the Young Hamadryad, a very frolicsome, joyous thing, filled with a suggestion of the spirit of youth. By request Mendelssohn's Spring Song followed and was charmingly accomplished. And there was great beauty and variety to her dancing in the "Psyche Myth" set to the music of Tchaikowsky, Grieg, Elgar, and Neruda.

Nahan Franko and his orchestra provided the music for the dances and a number of selections independent of them.

The theatre was well filled, and the matinée was generally successful.

'NIGHT BIRDS' FOR NEW YORK.

Shuberts to Bring Company and Production from London.

The Shuberts have arranged with Michael Faraday, manager of the Lyric Theatre, London, to bring his production and company in "The Night-birds" to America next Fall. When Mr. Shubert was in England a few months ago he obtained the American rights to the Gladys Unger version of the Strauss operetta, "Die Fledermaus," which is called "The Night-birds," but at that time he had no intention of taking over the London production of the piece. However, Mr. Shubert had obtained in Germany the English-speaking rights to a drama called "The Five Frankforters," that Mr. Faraday wished to present in London. This play deals with the rise of the house of Rothschilds and has been successful in Berlin and other cities on the Continent.

Arrangements have been made whereby Mr. Faraday sends his production to America and Mr. Shubert gives Mr. Faraday the British rights to "The Five Frankforters." Mr. Shubert said that he expected to present "The Night-birds" in New York early in August. Maurice Farkoa, who is known here, has the rôle of Gabor in the London production.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

Following the engagement of Weber & Fields in "Hokey Pokey" at the Broadway Theatre next week, the Aborn English Grand Opera Company will begin a short season there on May 13 in an English version of Humperdinck's "Haensel and Gretel," with an alternating cast of principals and an augmented orchestra. There will be daily matinees.

QUAKERS TO MARCH IN SUFFRAGE PARADE

NEW LEADER FOR CAVALRY

Mrs. Knoblauch to Lead Horse Cavalcade—Nonagenarian's Carriage To Have a Guard.

Quakers are going to march in the big Votes for Women Parade to-morrow. They will form the only group in which the men and women will march together. Part of the Quaker doctrine are equal rights for men and women, and the fine housekeeping qualities and gentleness of Quaker women have always been an unspoken answer to the reproach that equal rights would make women either masculine or unwomanly. The Quakers have practiced their belief, but have not discussed it outside their own society. They are now coming out to stand for all other women.

The Friends of the Meeting House in East Fifteenth Street, Stuyvesant Square, have decided to march in a body, men and women together, in the parade, and have sent invitations to different Societies of Friends in Brooklyn to join them. It is not known just how many will be in line at the present time, but it will be a representative body.

The Bronx will have one of the most inexpensive costumes in the parade. This will be that of Mrs. A. F. Fiske, leader of the Bronx. Her costume, white suit, hat, and gloves will cost $1.35, and they are all new for the occasion.

"I can't march," a self-supporting girl of the Bronx told Mrs. Fiske, "because I can't afford the clothes."

"Yes, you can," said Mrs. Fiske, "for in the first place you can march wearing any clothes that you have, but I think you could get white ones and not pay very much for them."

Then she went out and bought her own outfit to see what could be done. She went to an inexpensive shop and bought a last year's white suit, coat and skirt, for 80 cents. The coat was too long and she cut it to the proper length for this year. She bought a pair of white gloves for 25 cents and a hat for 30 cents.

The Bronx will not show all its strength in its own division, for a large number of the 10,000 registered women suffragists there is in business downtown and will march in the ranks of business women to which it belongs.

The gay transparencies of the Woman Suffrage Party automobile will be features of the out-door speechmaking of the Woman Suffrage Party part of the parade, which will wind up the day. The first part of the marchers, as many as can get in, will hold a big mass meeting in Carnegie Hall, but the party members will continue to Fifty-ninth Street and Broadway, where will be stationed an automobile, gayly decorated in suffrage colors with transparencies and lanterns. Down Broadway will be others, at Forty-fourth Street, Fortieth, Thirty-sixth, and Thirty-second, all with bright lights and many speakers. Among these will be Mrs. Beatrice Forbes-Robertson Hale, Miss Vida Sutton, Mrs. Ruth Litt, Miss Leonora O'Reilly, Miss Elizabeth Freeman, Mrs. Penfield, Mrs. James Lees Laidlaw, Mrs. A. F. Fiske, and Mrs. Martha Wentworth Suffren, besides a number of men.

At the tail end of the procession will come The Woman Voter automobile. This will contain copies of the Woman Suffrage Party organ, which will be sold by sixteen young women carrying newspaper bags of bright yellow with "The Woman Voter" on them in black letters. The same words will be in yellow on white flags and white on yellow on the automobile with a number of Votes for Women flags. The editor of The Woman Voter, Mrs. Florence Woolston, and Miss C. L. Swinnerton, its sales agent, will ride in the auto. The sixteen young newswomen will be stationed in pairs in eight different places along Fifth Avenue, and will join the parade ahead of their automobile as the procession goes along.

Except the New Hampshire women, who are allowed to drive their own automobiles in the parade because they have made the entire trip from New Hampshire in them acting as their own chauffeurs, only octogenarians will be allowed to ride. One 80-year-old civil war nurse of Brooklyn, however, has elected to march on her own two feet. The mother of Harriet May Mills, Mrs. C. DeV. Mills, will ride in an auto decorated with buttercups, and the Rev. Antoinette Brown Blackwell, 94 years old, will also be in a flower-decked carriage with a guard of honor of young girls.

Mrs. Charles Edward Knoblauch will take the place of Miss Annie Tinker, who will be kept from leading the horseback cavalcade by an operation for appendicitis. Miss Tinker is recovering from the operation, and has said that she would take her place in the parade anyway, but she will not be allowed to do so. One of the horses in the parade which will add distinction to it will be Judy, an old race horse which belonged to the late ex-Mayor Hugh Grant. She will be ridden by Miss Wenona Marlin. It is said that Judy has long whinnied for a vote.

The Men's League will form at Thirteenth Street, east of Fifth Avenue, which is the line of march for the parade, not Broadway. Jefferson Seligman, the banker, is one of the latest recruits.

Four young women wearing their parade suits and white parasols, on which were appropriate mottos, walked up Fifth Avenue yesterday afternoon getting recruits for the parades. They were Mrs. Alvin Bisbee, Miss Eleanor Brannan, Miss Dorothy Steele, and Miss Lucy Brown.

MAY BE 2,000 MEN IN LINE.

Other States to Send Male Paraders, Suffrage Meeting Is Told.

How woman's fight for suffrage is transforming her from a doll into a human being Mrs. James Lees Laidlaw, Chairman for the Borough of Manhattan of the Woman Suffrage Party, explained to the members of the Equal Suffrage League and the Men's League for Equal Suffrage, which was its guest, at a meeting in the Hotel Astor last evening.

"We don't stop to think about being ladies or conventional," she said. "We do the next thing and a day's work. We began our public speaking in patriots, which we thought was quite respectable. Then we tried political conventions and began to wonder if it was quite proper to speak at men's leagues. Even suffragists have some feeling of timidity. Then we began speaking in the street.

"At first we did it from automobiles and we liked it better if it was a perfectly respectable private automobile. Then we didn't care if it was a public auto and then we didn't mind speaking from any old soap box and last Summer we held hundreds of meetings, speaking from anything we could. We trust the man and woman in the street, and are democratic and don't stop to think about being ladylike. It does not make you healthy to feel your pulse all the time and you don't get religion by thinking of saving your soul. Women who haven't had much soul or much fibre are getting both by being human creatures. That is what we must be first and let the womanly quality take care of itself."

Miss Mary Garrett Hay presided, and Mrs. Frederick Nathan, Mrs. Bellede Rivera, Winter Russell and John S. Crosby were the other speakers. James Lees Laidlaw spoke for the Men's League and told of its arrangements for the parade. He said that a National organization is soon to be formed with 100,000 members to work for woman suffrage.

"There will be men from Harvard, Princeton and Yale marching on Saturday in the procession," he said, "and men's delegations from Connecticut and New Jersey. We are continually receiving new names of men who wish to march, and we shall certainly have 1,000 men in line and perhaps 2,000.

"There are three classes of men who stand in as many different attitudes toward woman suffrage. There is the man who believes in it, but won't come out for it until he can come out with the crowd. There is the man who takes it as a joke until he also has the crowd to give him courage to treat it seriously, and there is the man who won't come out for it at all. The only hope for him is that he will pass away."

A contribution was taken for the workers for woman suffrage in Ohio.

IMPERILED PUPILS COOL.

March Out of School in Good Order When Boiler Explodes.

Following the bursting of a boiler connected with a hot-water heating plant in the basement of Public School 1 of Long Island City, located at Jackson and Van Alst Avenues, yesterday morning, 1,657 pupils responded to the fire drill, and, with steam and ashes flying through the building, they marched out in good order. In three minutes following the explosion the building was emptied and the children were all out on the street. What caused the explosion will probably remain unknown, as the plant was entirely destroyed.

Prof. John J. Quigley, Principal of the school, was on the third floor when the shock came, and he immediately sounded the fire alarm. When the police and firemen arrived at the building they found the children standing outside. An investigation showed that beyond the destruction of the plant and the breaking of the basement windows no damage was done to the building. The children then marched back into the building and the session was resumed.

BELOVED 'FATHER JOHN' DEAD

Rev. John McGuire Was Rector of St. Mary's Church for 33 Years.

The Rev. John McGuire, for the last thirty-three years rector of St. Mary's Catholic Chrch, Long Island City, died yesterday. "Father John," as he was affectionately known to thousands of Catholics in this and the Brooklyn Diocese, was born in County Longford, Ireland, on May 29, 1842. He was educated in St. Mel's College, Longford, and then entered All Hallows Seminary in Dublin. He was ordained a priest in that city by Bishop Whalen of Bombay, India, then visiting Ireland.

After his ordination Father McGuire came to this country and was assigned by Bishop Loughlin as a curate to assist the rector of the Church of St. John the Evangelist, in Twenty-third Street, Brooklyn. He began his duties on Aug. 15, 1868. After eleven years of service there he was appointed to the rectorship of St. Mary's.

The church then was a small wooden building, and Father McGuire began work for the erection of a new church, which was dedicated in December, 1891. Two years later the church was destroyed by fire, and Father McGuire began work on another. This building was dedicated on Oct. 28, 1894. In 1893 Father McGuire took his first vacation and visited Ireland.

Father McGuire built up a parochial school, which is now considered the best in Brooklyn. He also established The Young Men's Lyceum, and he contributed largely to the success of St. John's Hospital in Long Island City.

"Father John" was more than 6 feet tall and weighed 250 pounds. His death was indirectly the result of an accident four years ago, when he was seriously injured by a fall while ascending the steps of his home, and from which he never fully recovered. One more of the Phillies' invalids, Hans Lobert, got back into the game against the Giants at the Polo Grounds yesterday, and also Horace Fogel, the main spring of the Quaker works, took a rabbit's foot to the game, but even then the Phillies got the hungry end of a 6 to 4 score. To stem the Giants onrush, Earl Moore, the Giant hoodo, was sent in to pitch, but even he couldn't prevent the Giants from making it nine straight victories.

These Phils are improving all right. In the ninth inning they became startlingly active and with spunk and ambition crowded across two runs which just let the Giants know that there's a kick or two left in the crippled Dooin crowd. There were two out in the ninth, when Knabe waltzed up and cracked a single to centre field and then stole second base, Wilson not even trying to halt him.

Titus, by way of exercise, swung mightily and whaled a Frank Baker hit into the right field grand stand, pushing Knabe home ahead of him. Paskert tried to keep up the good work, but his rocket drizzled into Devore's hands in left field.

The Ozark bear hunter, Jeff Tesreau, pitched with neatness and dispatch, or something like that. He was very neat with runners on the bases and spun the ball over so well in the pinches that nine of the Phillies were left stranded on the cushions, heart broken with disappointment. Tesreau's vaporous toss was working so well that when it left his hand it was hidden in a smoke-like mist.

Fred Merkle led the pole swingers with two sixty horse-power three baggers, which sung their course to deep centre field. Two three baggers, twice in the same place, perhaps is bad? He should worry? Not he.

There is a pang of regret in recording that Chief Meyers got only one hit. He was just about to get a second one when Umpire Klem called a strike on a ball that the Indian considered a bit too high in the upper story. Klem got up on his ear and sent Meyers to the club house, Wilson taking his place at the bat. The Redman don't kick often and when he does, he's mild about it.

It's a good thing for this man Klem that Meyers isn't one of them tomahawk-waving Indians.

And you should have seen Larry Doyle execute three dashing Ty Cobb's on "Peaches" Graham. Doyle stole second base twice and third once. Murray and Shafer also raced around the sacks with speed. The team that beats these Giants while they are traveling at their present rate will have to leave an early call.

Tesreau pulled out of a bad fix in the first inning. Knabe singled to right, but kept on going toward second. Murray whipped the ball back and Knabe was nailed off the base. Titus smote a two-bagger to centre and tried to score on Lobert's single through second, but Snodgrass relayed the ball to Merkle, who got it to Meyers in time to pluck Titus sliding home. Devore fanned as a starter for New York. Doyle walked and stole second, scoring on a single by Snodgrass. Murray forced "Snow" at second and then "Red" stole the middle sack, scoring on Merkle's three-bagger.

Cravath's double, a sacrifice by Luderus and Doolan's sacrifice fly gave the Phillies their first run in the second inning. New York tacked up three runs more in the third. Doyle walked and brazenly dashed to second, went to third on Snodgrass's out and scored on Murray's Texas Leaguer to centre. Murray sprung a "Charley-horse," dashing to first base and gave way to Becker. The latter scored on Merkle's second three-bagger. Herzog's single sent Merkle home.

Cravath, who led the American Association in batting last year, then smashed out a three-bagger and scored while Doyle was tossing out Doolan. Still another Giant count in the seventh. Doyle poled a two-bagger to centre, stole third and scored on Merkle's single.

Not so fast, the Phillies are not crushed yet. Ninth inning, two down. Everybody was rushing to the exits when Knabe hammered the ball to safe turf in centre. He stole second. Then Titus lost the ball in the grand stand and the Phillies defeat was not nearly so humiliating, but a defeat notwithstanding.

Reds Give Cardinals a Trouncing.

ST. LOUIS, May 26.—Twelve hits off Bob Harmon in seven innings to-day gave Cincinnati 10 runs and a shutout victory. Bescher opened the game with a double, was advanced by Bates's safe bunt, and was scored by Mitchell after Hoblitzel had been hit by a pitched ball. From that time on the visitors had things their own way, Gaspar retiring his opponents in rapid fashion. Score:

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Penn., May 2.—Weird pitching errors and generally ragged work by the World's Champions gave the New York Americans their second consecutive victory at Shibe Park to-day by a score of 11 to 5. It was a long-drawn-out, poorly played, and tiresome contest which caused many of the spectators to leave the grounds before the finish.

Manager Mack used two pitchers, while Manager Wolverton tried three men in the box. Wolverton's third choice, Quinn, proved the best of the lot, and the Athletics were unable to score a run in the last five innings. Both teams gathered hits freely, but many of them were scratches. In the fourth inning the Yankees scored four runs without hitting the ball out of the infield, the only hits credited to them in this inning being two little rollers to Morgan.

It was not Cy's day for pitching. He did not look good at the start, but New York failed to hit him safely until the fourth inning. Then it was his weird attempts to locate the proper places to throw the ball when he had chances to retire runners that helped the Yankees to tie the champions' four-run lead. The Athletics forged ahead again in their half of the same inning, but Jack Quinn finally went to the mound and checked any further scoring. Danforth displaced Morgan in the fifth session, and was batted freely throughout the remainder of the game.

Oldring was out of the game and Strunk played centre field, having seven putouts to his credit in seven innings. "Birdie" Cree, who has been ill since the opening of the season, was in the game for the Yankees, which caused Manager Wolverton to shift his entire outfield for two innings.

The game furnished a well-contested pitchers' battle, which was featured by some pretty fielding plays. Baker and Barry were robbed of base hits in the second by fine stops by Martin and Gardner, and Strunk made a brilliant catch of Simmons's long drive in the first. After the second inning it was either team's game until New York clinched it by scoring four runs in the seventh.

Thomas's triple, Lord's double, a pass to Strunk, and Collins's three-bagger gave the champions three runs in the third, Collins scoring the fourth run on Hartzell's poor return throw. With this lead it looked all over, but the game was thrown away in the fourth inning. Martin walked and Eddie Collins muffed Barry's throw when Simmons rolled an easy grounder. Then Morgan picked up Cree's easy one and hurled it to the bleachers, sending Martin and Simmons home and putting Cree on third base. Hartzell walked and Coleman beat out a bunt, scoring Cree. Gardner sacrificed. Thomas threw Street out, and then Harry Wolverton, who batted for Vaughan, beat out a hit, while Hartzell scored the tying run. Zinn rolled out to McInnis.

The Athletics bunched their hits with an error in their half, scoring one run off Hoff, a young left-hander, but the Yankees came right back in the fifth and tallied twice on two hits off Morgan, a sacrifice fly made off Danforth, who took Morgan's place, and an error by Strunk, who made a wild heave to the plate. Quinn replaced Hoff in the fifth, and the Athletics could do nothing with him. A couple of hits helped New York to a run in the sixth, and three hits, a pass, and a sacrifice fly tallied four more in the seventh. The visitors batted Danforth freely in the last two innings, but did not score again.

JACK CRONIN STILL PITCHING.

Old-Timer Bobs Up as Victor Reading Over New York Minors.

Old Jack Cronin, who passed out of the major leagues several years ago, bobbed up yesterday in a Reading uniform at Bronx Oval, and had no trouble with the New York team of the new United States League. The veteran wore a much larger belt than in the days when he last showed his slants to a New York crowd, but Father Time has been very lenient with his salary arm, and the speed and twisters which Jack uncovered yesterday made the Bronx batsmen look like a team made up of pitchers. Twelve Bronxites were chased back to the bench on strikes, and only five safe hits were registered, Reading winning 6 to 2.

The crowd showed a big falling off from the opening day number. It was large enough to pay traveling expenses as far as South Ferry on its first Southern trip, but it would not feed a band of husky athletes for any great period of time. Less than 300 viewed the battle from inside the fence, and about 200 more looked in from the outside. A covered delivery wagon, its top lined with fans of the deadhead species, was backed against the right field fence for eight innings. In the ninth the driver decided to go back to work, and there was a general scramble to unload. But all got new places to view the last inning.

Sammy Smith, who has worked for several teams in the International League, pitched for New York, and held the visitors well in hand, except in the sixth inning, when three hits were bunched with some loose playing, resulting in four runs. An error, a pass, and a hit accounted for two runs in the fourth inning.

Aside from the work of the pitchers, the hitting of Port and the fielding of Malay were the features. The score:

Bresnahan's Offer for Cardinals.

ST. LOUIS, May 2.—Confirmation of rumors that Roger Bresnahan, catcher and manager of the St. Louis National League baseball team, wished to take over the club came unexpectedly this afternoon when Mrs. Helene Hathaway Britton, owner of the club, testified in Judge Grimm's court that Bresnahan had offered her $500,000 for the club and park. Mrs. Britton was on the stand in her suit to prevent E. A. Steininger, President of the club and administrator of the estate of M. Stanley Robison, from voting the stock of Mrs. Britton and her mother at meetings of the club. Steininger's attorneys had asked Mrs. Britton what the baseball team and Robison Field were worth. She then quoted Bresnahan's offer. This line of questioning was dropped and all concerned refused to discuss the matter further.

The new Baseball Committee of the New York Athletic Club is said to have unearthed some first-class material for the nine which is to represent the Winged Foot on the diamond this Summer, when games will be played with other local amateur teams Saturdays and Sundays throughout the season, both at Travers Island and away from home. It is the intention of the management to play against Pelham Manor and the other teams in the former Westchester League. But two or three men are needed to round out a well-balanced team, which is expected to hold its own in fast company. The committee is composed of Charles Hatfield, Chairman; Harry Brocker, and W. M. Luhman.

AUTO INSURGENTS TO KEEP UP FIGHT

Rival Ticket for Board of Governors to be Named by Opposition.

Insurgents in the Automobile Club of America have accepted the rulings of President Henry Sanderson at Wednesday's special meeting as a challenge, and will shape their course accordingly. The estimated strength of the opposition is nearly 500 out of a total membership of about 1,700, and the first action will be the nomination of an opposition ticket for twelve new members of the Board of Governors, who will be elected at the annual meeting on May 23.

Instead of accepting defeat the leaders of the opposition movement have decided to inaugurate a general campaign directed against the present régime, and express confidence that the reform movement will gradually grow as the fight progresses. It was suggested yesterday that legal proceedings be instituted against what they term the "steam roller" methods of the President of the club, but the more conservative members of the opposition counselled against carrying the fight outside of the club. As a result, it was agreed to devote all their energies to building up and recruiting the reform movement, trusting to secure enough strength and support to outvote the present administration and their supporters in the near future.

One of the leaders of the opposition made the statement that nearly all the supporters of the reform movement are among the oldest members of the club, while the administration supporters and "innovators" are in the main newcomers. It is estimated that the average "life" of the opposition members in the club is about eight years, and these are satisfied with the present rules. It is also pointed out by the insurgent leaders that the supporters of the present régime are not really interested in the club for social purposes, but for matters of convenience, on account of the garage and workshops.

It is further alleged that the entire movement for changes in the by-laws and constitution is due to the effort to make Henry Evans, Vice Chairman of the Executive Committee, President at the expiration of Mr. Sanderson's term of office. It was stated yesterday that Mr. Evans was practically unknown to the members of the club, having joined March 9, 1906, and the fear of a defeat for Mr. Evans at the polls had actuated the changes, in order to make his election certain.

Over the signature of President Henry Sanderson the club last night sent out a statement of the meeting to the members of the club, which, in part, follows:

At the adjourned special meeting of the club, held on May 1, 1912, the report of the special committee, appointed at the meeting held on Feb. 19, 1912, was unanimously approved, its recommendations adopted, and the constitution and by-laws, amended as recommended by the special committee, are now in force.

On the roll call for the organization of the meeting 103 members were recorded present in person. In order to determine the number present by proxy, the Chair, as in the case of annual meetings of the club, appointed three Inspectors and tellers, viz.: Benjamin S. Harmon, James A. Blair, Jr., and James C. Brady, to collect and inspect the proxies, and requested that all proxies to be voted at the meeting be submitted to them for examination. Some of the members present claimed the right to appoint their own Inspectors and tellers. Under advice of John G. Milburn, counsel for the club, the Chair ruled that it was his duty to appoint them. Thereupon they took their oath of office and proceeded with their examination of the proxies. Before their work, necessary for the organization of the meeting, was completed, a motion to adjourn was made. As members present by proxy have the same rights to vote on a motion to adjourn as on any other motion, the Chair ruled that he could not entertain the motion pending the completion of the roll call and organization, otherwise a bare majority of those present in person (103) could carry a motion sine die, as they endeavored to do, and thus thwart the wishes of upward of 1,000 members of the club who had sent in their proxies.

Some of the members present thereupon withdrew from the meeting, including Mr. Ely, who took with him the proxies (blue) sent Mr. Taft to vote against the acceptance of the report of the special committee. Such proxies, however, at Mr. Taft's direction had been counted prior to the taking of them by Mr. Ely, and they amounted to but 62.

The tellers reported that 908 members of the club were present by proxy and entitled to vote at the meeting. The Chair thereupon declared the roll call complete, the meeting duly organized, and ready to proceed to business.

CHICAGO, May 2.—A tentative route of the American grand circuit aeroplane race through the Middle West in control of the Aero Club of America and the Aero Club of Illinois was announced to-day. It shows a circuit of 1,800 miles.

As now scheduled, subject to later revision, the aeroplanes will go from Chicago to Cedar Rapids, Iowa, to Des Moines, to Omaha, Neb.; to Lincoln, to St. Joseph, Mo.; to Kansas City, to Jefferson City, to St. Louis, to Indianapolis, to Cincinnati, to Columbus, to Cleveland, to Toledo, to Detroit, Mich., to Chicago. A possibility is a finish across the lower end of Lake Michigan, a distance of sixty miles. The race will probably be held Sept. 16.

More Entries for 500-Mile Auto Race

Special to The New York Times.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 2.—Three additional entries have been made for the 500-mile sweepstake race to be run at the Indianapolis motor speedway on Memorial Day, which will bring up the list of entries to twenty-six. The new entries are a second Lozier, entered by O. Applegate of New York, with Joe Matson nominated as pilot; Continental "Shark," entered by Frank N. Martindale of Indianapolis, and a third, the make of which will be announced later. The speedway management expect that the limit of thirty will be reached.

To Discuss Auto Reciprocity.

Automobile Commissioner J. B. R. Smith of New Jersey will discuss the recent reciprocity enactments relating to the use of the roads of New Jersey by New York autoists at the Bedford Y. M. C. A. Automobile School, Bedford Avenue and Monroe Street, Brooklyn, tonight. Commissioner Smith will explain the rights of the holders of New York licenses to the use of the roads of another State.

Turf and Field Club Horse Show.

Special to The New York Times.

The Turf and Field Club announces that it will held a horse show at Belmont Park on Wednesday, May 29, and Thursday (Decoration Day,) May 30. A well arranged prize list of about thirty classes is being prepared for horses and ponies under saddle and hunters. Purses or cups will be offered as prizes. The show ring will be on the lawn in front of the field stand, and is an ideal spot for an open-air exhibition. The decision to hold the show was reached after there was a unanimous opinion in favor of it, and it is also in line with the club's policy to provide other events this season for its members and the public. The committee includes Perry Belmont, Henry W. Bull, August Belmont, W. Burling Cocks, Harry S. Page, Alfred B. Maclay, F. K. Sturgis, B. Lambert Sackett, Phillips B. Thompson, Samuel Willets, Harry T. Peters, Henry C. Phipps, Henry L. Bell, Ralph Ellis, J. P. Grace, W. A. Hazard, Clarence H. Mackay, Allan Pinkerton, and the Assistant Secretary is W. S. Blitz.

No Ferry Service at Tarrytown.

New York automobilists are warned that owing to a ferry war at Tarrytown no provision can be made to cross the river at Nyack for at least two weeks. Hundreds of autoists were turned back yesterday. The North River Steamboat Company and the North River Ferry Company must build new slips for their ferries before any traffic can be accommodated.

Kilbane and Burns Matched.

The McMahon brothers, Jess and Eddie, joint managers of the St. Nicholas Athletic Club, last night called off the match between Johnny Dundee and Johnny Kilbane of Cleveland, the featherweight champion of the world, scheduled for May 14, but decided to keep the date and substitute Frankie Burns of Jersey City for Dundee. Burns recently gave Johnny Coulon, the bantamweight champion, a hard fight, and he is in the best of condition. The weight for both boxers will be 122 pounds at the ringside.

Honors Even in Billiards.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 2.—Chicago evened the contest for the championship of the National Amateur Three-Cushion Billiard League here to-night, when A. J. Harris defeated Bert Kerr of Kansas City, 50 to 42, in a fast, snappy game.

HYDRO-AEROPLANE PUZZLE.

Rules of the Road Present Difficulties for Water-Air Craft.

When the members of the Aero Club of America hit upon the idea of giving races for the hydro-aeroplanes on and over the Hudson River they had in mind principally an outdoor and public adjunct to the show to be opened in the Grand Central Palace next week, and they fixed upon May 4 and 5 as the dates for the races. But the thing grew in importance very fast, and with the addition of races for motor boats against hydro-aeroplanes to the original programme its association with the show became of secondary interest. Moreover, it dawned upon its sponsors that the event would be one of much greater interest if it were held in June, when a large part of the yacht and motor boat fleets would be in commission, than it would be in May, with scarcely a boat in the water.

Then it became evident that there was much work to do in the way of preparation; very much more than could be accomplished before the day originally set. It presently occurred to the men interested that some difficult problems in the nature of "rules of the road," right of way, etc., would have to be solved. The rules of the road as regards boats are well defined, and while a hydro-aeroplane is travelling on the water, it is a boat, nothing less nor more, but the instant it leaves the water it is no longer a boat; no longer governed by the rules of the road, but at the same time may be in a position, while flying low, to seriously interfere with the right of way of a boat. Fully as important is the fact that right of way in the air has never been defined, and in undertaking to formulate rules of the road in the air, one must take into consideration travel in a vertical plane, and also travel in a plane along angles from the horizontal to the vertical.

All this indicated work that could not be accomplished in a day nor in a week. And even when rules have been worked out there remains the task of teaching them to competitors. Then owners of fast motor boats who wanted to enter their craft complained that the date originally set was too early in the season, and builders of both motor boats and hydro-aeroplanes begged for more time in which to get their products ready for racing, and the committee in charge of the event became convinced that a day in June was much more desirable than one early in May, and that an attempt to carry out the original plan would be an effort wasted. Therefore at a meeting of the committee held on Wednesday it was voted to postpone the affair until June 8 and 9. Meanwhile sub-committees will take up the various problems that have presented themselves, and during the coming months conditions will be worked out so that the event will be one of great interest to those who compete and those who look on as well.

TIGER POLE VAULT RECORD.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., May 2.—Princeton track enthusiasts had their first opportunity to inspect this year's material today at the Caledonian games, an annual event which affords the initial workout for 'Varsity candidates. A stiff gale hampered the sprinters, but the distance men were in good form. Torrence Fiske, a sophomore, broke the Princeton pole vault record with a vault of 12 feet 2 inches. Fiske participated in his first 'Varsity meet on Saturday at Philadelphia, and is the most promising vaulter that has ever worn the Orange and Black.

The meet resulted in a tie between the seniors and juniors at 36 points each. The freshmen made a splendid showing with a total of 29 points, and the sophomores were fourth with 16 points.

McKenzie, interscholastic mile champion last Spring, took a pretty race from Curtis in 4:27 1-5, and M. J. Hays, last year's freshman Captain, ran a clever half mile, winning in 2:00 3-5. Curtis was also a close second in this event. In the low hurdles, the Tiger's weakest event, Jermyn, Mason, and Mills, all freshmen, took the honors from the 'Varsity candidates. Thomas and Harland, both juniors, divided premier honors in the 100 and 220 yard dashes by pretty spurts at the finish. Stickney led the field in the two-mile run, and won handily in 10:06 4-5. Bissell, with a putt of 44 feet 2½ inches, and Speers, with a throw of 145 feet 5 inches, were high men in the weights.

POLO LACKS FEATURES.

H. P. Whitney's Whites Defeat Monte Waterbury's Blues

Special to The New York Times.

LAKEWOOD, N. J., May 2.—At the Georgian Court this afternoon there were ten periods of a practice game of polo. The weather was ideal and the ground in excellent condition. Ten players participated. It was a featureless display, if one excepts the first two periods in which polo of a first-class order was shown. These periods were a real test, for the teams were evenly matched. Neither side could score, though every effort was made by the players to attain that end.

Whitney at back for the whites and Loew in the same position for the blues were simply invincible, and though Stevenson on the one side and Keene on the other used all the cunning and finesse of which they are past masters, they could not lower the colors of either side. In the concluding periods of the practice this combination was no more in evidence, new line-ups being played every second period. Whites were eventually victorious by 15 to 5. The original line-up was:

Whites—No. 1, J. R. Fell; No. 2, C. C. Rumsey; No. 3, M. Stevenson; back, H. P. Whitney.

NEW YORK A. C. YACHTSMEN.

Members Organize an Accessory Body and Elect Officers.

The New York Athletic Club Yachting Division, recently organized by members of the club, with its own officers and a constitution and by-laws, is now a full-fledged yacht club, and entitled to representation on the Long Island Regatta Committee and similar bodies. The officers elected are recognized by the Board of Governors as their duly authorized representatives, and are on a par with the ranking officers of other yacht clubs along the Sound.

This separate organization within the parent club is conceded to be a distinct advance in the growth of yachting in the New York Athletic Club and reflects the progressive policy of the Board of Governors in making it possible.

The club has engaged the services of a well-known designer and builder, W. McCullough, who is at present engaged in the construction of a seventy-foot launch, as well as several thirty-five and forty-five foot motor boats. He has just finished for a New York A. C. member a four-thousand-dollar five-room houseboat.

POLICE CHAUFFEUR FAILS AS A BOXER

Billy Lietch Merely a Punching Bag for Papke, Who Wins Quickly.

Billy Lietch, an ex-chauffeur in the Police Department, who was said to have forsaken the department to win the middleweight championship of the world, had his chance last night. An application for the old job is likely to be filed with the Police Department to-day. After bounding around the canvas for the greater part of two rounds against Billy Papke at the National Sporting Club, Lietch was carried to his corner in a badly dazed condition. A towel, hurled by Sammy Kelly, came into the ring just after Papke had delivered a right hand blow to Lietch's jaw with sufficient force to put the ex-chauffeur to sleep.

Whoever persuaded Lietch to forsake the chauffeur's doeskin gloves for the five-ounce mitts will probably be crossed off the list of worthy friends. The bout, from the opening gong until the limp form was carried to its corner in the second round, was little more than a joke. It was a bout of the most unskilled novice against a boxer who has held the middleweight title, and at best it was the sort of matchmaking that can do no good to the boxing game.

It was a big success from a financial standpoint, the West Forty-fourth Street clubhouse being crowded with friends and well wishers of Lietch. When introduced he received an ovation, but as soon as he put up his hands it was apparent that he stood no chance against the Kewanee battler. Many of the spectators were on their way when the knockout arrived, as they preferred not to witness that needless finish. They saw enough to know what might be expected if the bout was not stopped, and Referee Haley did let the one-sided affair go further than he should have done.

Lietch went down the first time less than fifteen seconds after the bell started the pair on their way. But for Papke's wildness he would never have finished the round. He went down for the count of five just before the round ended and as he staggered to his feet a few seconds before the bell Papke shot over another terrific right, the ropes saving Lietch from going down.

In the second round Lietch was floored three times before the final punch put him down for the last time. He showed his limited knowledge of ring tactics by arising as soon as possible, rather than rest through the count of nine, and his work with his hands was as weak as his headwork. He was staggering around the ring and the ropes saved him from going down twice more during this round.

The crowd filed out wondering if Al Palzer and Tom Kennedy carried both arms in a sling during the practice bouts in which Lietch has been pictured as giving them such hard fights.

DAN TONE REPRIMANDED.

Referee of Walsh-Coster Bout Grilled by Boxing Commissioner.

Dan Tone, the referee of the Olympic A. C., and St. Nicholas A. C., boxing clubs which are under the management of the McMahon brothers, came in yesterday for a reprimand from Frank S. O'Neil, one of the members of the State Athletic Commission, as the result of a complaint registered by Eddie Keevin, manager of Jimmy Walsh, who charged that Tone had shown incompetency when he refereed the bout in the Empire A. C. between Jimmy Walsh and Joe Coster in the eighth round of which Tone disqualified both boys for clinching.

At the end of the reprimand O'Neil intimated that if matters in connection with Tone's work were not remedied to the satisfaction of the commission the latter body would take what it fancied would be the proper action.

The commission found it necessary to send a warning to the District Attorney of Jamestown, N. Y., Edward J. Greene, asking him to take action against the Boilermakers Helpers' Association, which had scheduled a boxing series last night at the Drohen Theatre, Dunkirk, for which no license had been granted.

The Knickerbocker A. C. of Albany sent $20 to the commission and announced that it was money which had been promised to Jack Cottman for his bout Monday night with Kid Black. Claude Tibbetts, the referee, accused Cottman of stalling and chased him out of the ring, following which the club withheld the money. The managers ask that the money be given to the Titanic fund, or to any charity the commission desires, as they feel that Cottman is not deserving of it.

Several out of town organizations filed applications for licenses, but on account of irregularities they were not issued. The Long Acre A. A. was granted permit to transfer its quarters from 160 West Twenty-ninth Street to 800 to 806 Seventh Avenue.

NEW CROSS IN RING.

Scored Two-Round Knockout When Burns and Keyes Failed to Go On.

A mixture of a lame arm and a poor house, very little arm and still less gate receipts, prevented Pinkey Burns from boxing Johnny Keyes in the main bout at the Fordon A. C. last night. Announcement was made that the postponed clash would take place next Thursday night and that the customary rain checks would be issued in addition to a free show for those in attendance.

The features of the entertainment offered by the club was the appearance of Marty Cross, another brother of the well-known Leach Cross, who celebrated his debut by knocking out Young Davis in two rounds. The new Cross looks like a promising lad. He is only seventeen years old and weighs 110 pounds. In the first round Cross showed surprising speed and strength and floored his heavier opponent with a right swing to the jaw.

In the second session Cross showed inexperience by shifting at a critical moment when Davis pounded in a hard right which put Cross to the canvas for a count of six. After that little lesson Cross came back at his rival with both hands and finally knocked him out.

Dillon to Box Klaus To-night.

Jack Dillon, the Indianapolis middleweight, will make his first appearance in a New York ring to-night when he faces Frank Klaus of Pittsburgh in a scheduled ten-round bout at Madison Square Garden. Dillon finished his training at Woodlawn Inn yesterday and appeared to be in fine condition. He is down to the required weight, 158 pounds. The same is true of Klaus, who has spent the last week at Cannon's Roadhouse in Westchester. The two men have clashed twice in the ring, the first time in a six-round bout at Pittsburgh, where Dillon won the popular decision, and recently in a twenty-round bout in San Francisco, where the referee's decision went to Klaus. That battle was one of the roughest ever fought on the Coast, but both men have been notified that they must live up to all the rules to-night or suffer disqualification, which would mean no pay for their services. A six-round preliminary and a ten-round semi-final will be staged before the main event, the first between featherweights and the other between light heavyweights.

WIPE OUT DEFICIT IN HUDSON TUBES

SHORT $41,890 LAST YEAR

Carries 10,000,000 More Passengers —Much More Traffic Expected Now from New Jersey City Connection.

In the annual report of the Hudson & Manhattan Railroad Company for the fiscal year ended March 31 it appears that a net income of $50,279 was earned after deducting fixed charges applicable against that portion of the property employed in the company's present operations. For the preceding year the company had worked at a deficit of $41,890.

Gross income from all sources was $4,845,490, a considerable increase over the gross revenue for 1911, which was $4,163,492, and there was a substantial decrease in the ratio of operating expenses. In 1911 this was 40.45 per cent. of the railroad revenue, but in 1912 it was only 37.91 per cent. There was an increase in the number of revenue car miles operated last year from 6,592,271 to 7,335,733, and the net railroad revenue per car mile rose from 24.35 cents in the year before to 27.25 cents.

A handsome profit was earned last year on the Hudson Terminal Building. For the twelve months ended March 31, 1911, the net income from the building was $861,024, and for the year ended March 31, 1912, $925,813. The ratio of the cost of operating the building to its net total operating revenue showed a slight decrease. In 1911 it was 28.99 per cent. and this year it was 28.76 per cent.

In his annual report, William G. McAdoo, the President, points out the extension of the company's service on Oct. 1 last year to the Manhattan Transfer, and on Nov. 26 the regular service to Park Place, Newark, was started. This was carrying out an agreement with the Pennsylvania Railroad, on account of which the latter company has dispensed with many of its trains between Manhattan Transfer and its old Jersey City station.

Mr. McAdoo also speaks of the construction by the Public Service Corporation of New Jersey of a terminal adjacent to the Summit Avenue, Jersey City, station of the McAdoo lines. It will operate a large number of its existing lines to this point, with the result that a new service will be provided between the residential districts of Jersey City and downtown and uptown New York which will place Summit Avenue within eight minutes of the Hudson Terminal and nineteen and a half minutes of Thirty-third Street and Broadway. The Newark Rapid Transit line now also provides a through service from Park Place, Newark, to the Hudson Terminal in twenty minutes.

As additions and extensions are made to the lines of the company a larger proportion of interest on the company's debt is charged against income. Thus during the first three months of 1912 interest on $60,000,000 was charged in place of the interest on $50,000,000, charged during the same period of 1911, and since April 14, the date of the opening of the Summit Avenue, Jersey City, station, the interest on $65,000,000 of outstanding bonds has thus been met. In addition to these there are also outstanding $6,423,000 of first mortgage 4½ per cent. bonds, but by agreement with the Hudson Companies, the owner, no interest is to be paid on these till Feb. 1, 1914, after which date they will bear interest at 4½ per cent. to maturity and an additional 2 per cent. to Feb. 1, 1920, as far as this is earned.

The traffic returns for the road show during the year a total number of 57,416,950 five-cent fares, and for three months and eight days the additional two-cent rate for the uptown service was charged and 7,927,941 of these fares were collected. Reducing these to a five-cent basis, it appears that there were 60,588,126 passengers accommodated, as against 50,926,980 in the preceding twelve months.

Dedicate Horgan Church on May 30.

The new memorial Church of St. Denis, at Lowerre, a gift of Mrs. Denis Horgan in memory of her husband to the Archdiocese of New York, will be consecrated on Decoration Day, May 30. The solemn pontificial mass at 10 A. M. will be celebrated by Cardinal Farley. The rector, the Rev. Richard O. Hughes, formerly of St. Patrick's Cathedral, has formed a committee of laymen who will take charge of the reception and dinner to the Cardinal at the Park Hill Inn, which will follow the dedication ceremonies.

To Ask Wilson About Wireless Funds

Col. Christopher Columbus Wilson, ex-President of the United Wireless Telegraph Company, who was sentenced to Atlanta Penitentiary for having used the mails to defraud, was brought to town yesterday by a prison keeper. He will be examined to-day in bankruptcy proceedings by Commissioner Alexander and will be questioned particularly as to whether he sent $400,000 to Europe before the United Wireless Company went into bankruptcy. In his stay here he will be kept in the Tombs.

SEES SOCIAL CHANGES.

Sir Robert Perks Says Employers Must Alter Their Attitude Toward the Employed.

Among the passengers sailing yesterday for Liverpool on the Adiratic was Sir Robert Perks, the British railroad financier and contractor, and temporal head of the Wesleyan Church in Great Britain. He had just returned from a trip through Canada to inspect some of his properties there, and said that the farmers in the western part of the Dominion did not feel that they were having their fair share of the profits, but that the manufacturer was getting the best of the matter.

"Those farmers," he said, "would have benefited by reciprocity with the United States, and are strongly inclined that way. They feel that the manufacturer is getting more from their work than they are, and this condition will some day have to be adjusted. It is to be a fight between the farmer of the West and the manufacturer of the East.

"In the United States I fell that you waste too much time on your elections. This waste of time is deplorable, and the money that is wasted should be spent in commerce and general trade. A lot of trouble could be averted by not spreading your elections over six months.

"And there is another thing I have observed, both here and in England and Germany. That is the necessity for a readjustment of our conception of the relationship between employer and employed. The working classes have become educated to the conditions, and they cannot much longer be deceived. They know that they are entitled to a fair share of the profits from the articles they make, and they are bound to get it. We must readjust our old-fashioned notions. We have got to grasp the fact that there is a new social condition arising, and we have got to meet that condition."

Mrs. N. Aubart, a young Frenchwoman, who was a survivor of the Titanic wreck, in which she lost everything she had, was a passenger on the Adriatic on her way back to Paris, accompanied by her maid. In her excitement owing to her nervous condition caused by the wreck Mrs. Aubart left her steamship tickets at 3 West Thirty-eighth Street, as well as her tickets from Liverpool to Paris. When the attention of Manager Jefferies of the line was called to the matter he instructed Purser Palmer to see that she received railroad tickets from the Liverpool office on her arrival.

TO REGRADE MURRAY HILL.

Board of Estimate to Hold Hearing on Fourth Avenue Project.

The Board of Estimate decided yesterday to hold a public hearing on June 13 on the plan submitted by Lloyd Collis, as engineer for the Fourth Avenue Improvement Association, providing for a change of grade in the vicinity of Fourth Avenue and Thirty-fourth Street.

This plan would open Fourth Avenue to its entire width from Thirty-second Street to Thirty-fourth Street, and beyond this street the present unused portion of the avenue in front of the Seventy-first Regiment Armory being transformed into a carriageway and sidewalk. Thirty-third Street, which is now closed across Fourth Avenue, would become an open thoroughfare and the steep grade on Thirty-fourth Street, between Madison and Lexington Avenues, would be eliminated.

The plan also provides a means of locating the proposed moving platform on Thirty-fourth Street between the new street surface and the roof of the present Fourth Avenue Subway.

Mr. Collis said last night that the plan was the result of three years' work.

"There is a great demand from the property owners on Fourth Avenue and the cross-streets for the elimination of the obstables presented by the present street conditions at this point," he said. "N. P. Lewis, Chief Engineer of the Board of Estimate, has reported favorably on the project, and, with this indorsement, I am confident that before midsummer we shall see the dirt fly."

Some weeks ago Mr. Collis's plan for the opening of Forty-first Street across Park Avenue under the proposed Grand Central viaduct was approved, and the work of changing Thirty-fourth Street, if approved, will be carried out at the same time as the building of the viaduct.

Women Complain of Dirty Streets.

At the regular April meeting of the Woman's Municipal League of this city resolutions were adopted yesterday, condemning the "unusually dirty" condition of the streets and public conveyances. Attention was called to advertising circulars slipped into newspapers by the newsdealers and thrown away by the readers. The police and Magistrates are asked to stop the nuisance.

UNTERMYER ACCUSES THE NEW HAVEN ROAD

Lawyer Tells Service Board That Company Is Already Taking Over the Rutland.

NEW HEADS JUST APPOINTED

Vermont Delegation, Headed by Gov. Mead, Favors Transfer of Road to Control of New Haven.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, May 2.—Gov. John A. Mead, who declared that he was one of the largest shippers in Vermont, headed a delegation from that State favoring the application of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company for permission to acquire control of the Rutland at a second hearing before the Public Service Commission here to-day.

To-day's hearing was at the request of the petitioners favorable to the proposed transfer, and there were more than 200 prominent residents of Vermont and Northern New York present. The only discordant note among the citizens and commercial bodies was from Burlington, Vt., where at first action was taken favoring the petition, and later the action was reversed.

Smith Henry, who appeared for the Merchants' Association, said that he gave way to the apparently overwhelming sentiment in favor of the application. Mayor George E. Van Kennan of Ogdensburg, together with former Mayors E. A. Newell and D. B. Lucy of that city, and Mayor F. M. Hugo of Watertown, headed the Northern New York delegation. Petitions from village boards, commercial bodies, labor organizations, shippers, and citizens, containing several hundred signatures, from a score of cities and towns along the line of the Rutland in New York and Vermont, were presented by people from these localities, all favoring the granting of the New Haven application.

Samuel Untermyer, representing 17,000 shares of minority stock, made a vigorous protest to the reception of the petitions and personal statements, declaring that the New Haven road had acted in bad faith. He said further that notwithstanding the pending petition, the company had actually made arrangements to take control of the road, and that although five months had elapsed since the New Haven had bought one-half of the majority stock from the New York Central it had done nothing to undo the unlawful act in taking this stock. The commission held that the papers and statements should be received, and would be taken in the same way as were statements made by Mr. Untermyer.

It was the expressed belief of Percival W. Clement, Mayor of Rutland and President of the Rutland Railroad from 1883 to 1902, that the taking over of the Rutland by the New Haven would be highly desirable, as the New Haven was in a position, and it would be to its advantage, to give the Rutland a large volume of traffic. In answer to Mr. Untermyer, he said he had no fault to find with the New York Central's control of the Rutland, as it had increased its gross earnings a million a year, but had paid no dividends because of the increased operating expenses and large amounts put in for improvements.

Answering a question by Commissioner Decker, Mayor Clement said that the New Haven control would undoubtedly mean an increase of traffic which ought to amount to $500,000 yearly. If so, the road ought to pay 4 or 5 per cent. yearly dividends.

Mr. Untermyer, stating that his motive was to show that Mr. Clement's testimony was biased, asked him if he had not acted as an accelerator in arranging public meetings. Mr. Clement denied this, but admitted that he had employed counsel to interview stockholders to induce them to attend the hearing and favor the New Haven's petition.

In the course of a controversy with Mr. Clement over suits now in the courts in regard to the Rutland property, which Chairman Stevens said had no place in the proceedings, Mr. Untermyer angrily remarked that minority stockholders had some rights which thus far had not been well regarded by the commission.

Mr. Untermyer insisted that fully 40 per cent. of the minority shareholders were opposed to the transfer. This was disputed by E. D. Robbins, general counsel. William H. Butler, representing Dr. W. Seward Webb and owners of 2,800 shares, said his clients favored the exchange.

Gov. Mead said he believed the proposed transfer would be greatly to the benefit of the State of Vermont; that it would provide competition which does not now exist.

Arthur S. Leland, owning 1,200 shares, objected to the granting of the application unless some plan satisfactory to the minority stockholders was adopted.

An acrimonious discussion arose between Mr. Untermyer and James B. Colgate of New York when in answer to a question Mr. Colgate said that he resented the insinuation of Mr. Untermyer that he had been purchasing Rutland stock for interests connected with the New Haven, and gave his opinion that the present opposition of minority stockholders was a hold-up.

Mr. Untermyer hotly objected to the charge of Mr. Colgate, and characterized the statement as infamous.

President Mellen, who sat near by, said that neither he nor any Director of the New Haven had taken or attempted to get a single share of the minority stock.

It is understood that 5,435 shares are willing to sell if the price paid is equal to that paid the Central, and 6,865 shares if 75 is paid.

In view of the assertion made by Mr. Untermyer that the New Haven had made arrangements already to take over the Rutland, changes in the Rutland's operation department announced to-day are interesting.

G. R. L. French, formerly Terminal Superintendent of the Boston & Maine at Boston, is appointed General Superintendent, and S. S. Colton, formerly General Superintendent at Rutland, is appointed Division Superintendent, both with headquarters in Rutland. S. R. Cramer, formerly trainmaster, is promoted to Division Superintendent, and A. F. Carrigan, formerly trainmaster on the Ogdensburg & Lake Champlain Railroad, is also named Division Superintendent.

JEWELRY SWINDLER TO CELL.

Klein Gets 60 Days for Stamping 14-Karat Mark on Cheap Bracelet.

Frank Klein, a jeweler, at 27 Eldridge Street, was sentenced to sixty days in the City Prison and to pay a fine of $250 yesterday by the Justices of Special Sessions after he had been convicted of stamping a cheap gold bracelet with a 14-karat mark and selling it at a price much higher than its value.

Klein's case was brought to the attention of the authorities by the American Jewelers' Association, which says that men like Klein are demoralizing the jewelry business. Ludwig Nissen, President of the association, appeared in court yesterday, and urged a prison sentence, stating that Klein's action is not only a menace to the public but to all honest jewelers as well.

IGNORE TAP LINE INJUNCTION.

Commerce Board Holds That Railroads Must Cancel Old Rates.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—Tariffs filed with the Inter-State Commerce Commission canceling allowances made by trunk lines with so-called tap lines must be observed by the trunk lines and shippers or they will face prosecution for criminal violation of the Inter-State Commerce Act and the Elkins Act.

This is the determination of the commission of a unique situation that has arisen as a result of its decision of the tap line case. The tariffs filed with the commission by the trunk lines canceling the allowances made to the tap lines were to have become effective at midnight April 30. Four hours prior to that time, on application of some of the tap lines, the Circuit Court of Missouri—a State tribunal—granted an injunction to restrain the St. Louis, Iron Mountain & Southern and other Southwestern lines from canceling their through rates and rates with the tap lines.

The commission holds, in effect, that no court can enjoin a thing already done. The tariffs complained of were filed with the commission to become effective at midnight, April 30, the legal notice of thirty days having been given. The commission had exhausted its time limit of suspension of the tariffs—ten months—and they had to go into effect automatically.

INDICTED FOR REBATING.

Liquor Broker and Freight Agent Named by Federal Grand Jury.

Indictments charging the giving and taking of rebates on railroad shipments were returned yesterday by the Federal Grand Jury to Judge Learned Hand, against Harold R. Wakem of the customs brokerage firm of Wakem & McLoughlin of Chicago and William L. Divine, General Freight Agent of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad Company. It is charged that the rebates concerned shipments of alcoholic liquors in bottles and olive oils in barrels and boxes, which were sent from this city to Chicago over the Chesapeake & Ohio and its allied lines. Each indictment contains five counts, and concerns as many shipments between Jan. 4, 1911, and Oct. 31, 1911, which aggregated 207,059 pounds. The published tariff was 44 cents for 100 pounds.

According to the indictment, Wakem & McLoughlin, who are liquor dealers and forwarders as well as custom brokers, made an agreement with the railroad company, by which the latter was to pay the firm each month for six months a salary of $150. After that period the railroad company would be able to figure out what basis of commission it could afford on shipments, whether 5 or 10 per cent. In this way it is charged that the firm received on the five shipments rebates amounting to $760. The Government charges that Wakem & McLoughlin by acting as customs brokers as well as being in the liquor business for themselves were able to obtain a practical rebate on their own shipments in the form of a commission.

SAY LAWYERS MISMANAGED.

Mrs. Fannie Lawrence's Heirs Complain to Court.

The charge that a large part of the estate left by Mrs. Fannie E. Lawrence, a hotel proprietor of Saratoga Springs and this city, who died about three years ago, had been dissipated by bad management figured in proceedings before Surrogate Cohalan yesterday. Mrs. Lawrence owned the Columbian Hotel at Saratoga Springs and held long leases on the Alabama and Van Rensselaer Hotels in East Eleventh Street.

When Mrs. Lawrence died her only heirs were her sisters, Mrs. Mamie Van Loan and Mrs. Elizabeth Scott. They told the Surrogate yesterday that they knew nothing of the hotel business. They called in Harry M. C. Vedder of the General Audit Company to assist them as active manager. Vedder was made an executor of the estate.

Some time ago the sisters began to question Vedder's management. They said he had sold the Saratoga Springs hotel for much less than it was worth, and instituted proceedings to have him removed. They engaged as their lawyer Reno R. Billington. Mr. Billington negotiated with Vedder for a settlement and appeared for the sisters in lengthy accounting proceedings in the Surrogate's Court. He also took over much of the business management of the estate, it appeared yesterday. A corporation known as the Van Rensselaer Realty Company was formed to take over the two hotels in the Washington Square district of this city. According to the sisters, this enterprise did not prove successful.

Their next step, the sisters said, was to remove Mr. Billington. They engaged Wingate & Cullen to represent them. They signed an agreement to pay Mr. Billington $3,000 for consenting to the substitution. They declared they regarded this as fair compensation. He filed a claim for a larger amount and asserted his attorney's lien on the various papers in his possession.

Surrogate Cohalan signed an order sending the case to a referee.

WOULD ANNUL CROSSING LAW

Gov. Wilson Acts on Bill Passed by Assembly Over His Veto.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., May 2.—Acting under a statute of 1873, which sets forth the procedure under which the chief executive of the State may seek the annulment of any law or joint resolution not duly passed by the Legislature, Gov. Wilson has directed the Attorney General to institute proceedings for the annulment of the grade crossing law.

This bill was vetoed by the Governor, and then filed with the Secretary of State as a law, although only the house of Assembly and not the Senate had passed the measure over his disapproval. A decree of annulment requires the votes of at least three of the members of the Supreme Court.

FAILURES IN APRIL.

Both Dun's and Bradstreet's statistics of coffercial failures during April make favorable comparisons with preceding months, and in the case of Dun's figures with the same period in two preceding years. The figures of the two commercial agencies do not agree in detail because of divergent sources of information. Dun's says:

> Commercial failures in the United States during April, as reported to R. G. Dun & Co., while large both in number and in amount of liabilities, compared favorably not only with the three preceding months of this year, but also with the corresponding periods in the two previous years. The 1,279 insolvencies that occurred last month were the smallest since December, while the $16,874,727 of indebtedness involved was slightly less than in April, 1911, and about $1,000,000 below 1910. In 1911 there also was a falling off in the April business mortality as compared with the preceding three months, but the reduction was not so marked as was the case this year. This fact indicates some betterment of conditions. Of the 1,279 suspensions last month, twenty-seven were for $100,000 or more, aggregating in all $6,644,958, which sum is lighter than was similarly reported in 1908, 1909, and 1910, but heavier than in 1911 and other earlier years. There were 1,252 defaults for less than $100,000, the average for these small failures being $8,171, or a figure lower than in either 1911, 1909, or 1908.

Bradstreet's says:

> There were 1,079 failures reported to Bradstreet's journal for the month of April, a decrease of 2 per cent. from March, but an increase of 9.5 per cent. over April a year ago, or 23.4 per cent. over April, 1910, and of 8 per cent. over 1909, though compared with April, 1908, there is a decrease shown of 6.3 per cent. The liabilities for April this year aggregated $15,073,400, a decrease of 15 per cent. from March, but an increase of 13.5 per cent. over April, 1911. Compared with the like month of 1910 liabilities are 22 per cent. smaller; the decrease from April, 1909, is 16 per cent., and the decrease from April, 1908, is 32 per cent.

MOFFAT'S RAILROAD PASSES TO RECEIVERS

Late Denver Banker Lost His Millions in It and Fought Hard to Get It Through.

HOLDING COMPANY FAILS, TOO

Great Project Reaches an Altitude of 11,600 Feet Crossing the Continental Divide—4-Mile Tunnel Needed.

Another attempt to build an independent railway line was stamped with failure yesterday, when the District Court at Denver, Col., appointed D. C. Dodge and S. H. Perry receivers for the Denver, Northwestern & Pacific, popularly known as the Moffat Road. This action was taken on the initiative of Denver interests. The receivership came as a surprise to Hallgarten & Co., who have done some of the financing.

Along with the railroad the Denver Railway Securities Company, which was closely allied to the Denver, Northwestern & Pacific, and which was formed a few months ago to take over the interests of the Moffat estate in the railroad, was also put into a receivership. It is expected that a considerable scaling down of the outstanding securities will have to be effected before the property can meet its interest charges.

Like Henry H. Rogers's Virginian Railway, the Denver, Northwestern & Pacific was a one-man project. The late David H. Moffat conceived the line when he was President of the Denver & Rio Grande, and he undertook its construction largely through local patriotism to enhance the importance of Denver by putting that city on the main line of a transcontinental railway. The new road was to give the short route between Denver and Salt Lake City. It has been completed and put into operation as far as Steamboat Springs, Col., a distance of 216 miles, but the tremendous grades over which the line runs have made its operating costs very heavy. The road crosses the continental divide at an elevation of 11,600 feet, the highest altitude of any standard gauge road in the world. For twenty-six miles the line has a 4 per cent. grade, and it was built at a much greater cost than other transcontinental lines owing to the numerous tunnels along its line. Mr. Moffat had planned to cut a four-mile tunnel through the mountains to get rid of the worst grades, but died before he could finance the project.

Mr. Moffat was President of the First National Bank of Denver at the time of his death, and his estate was found to be deeply involved in the railroad's affairs. He started in business with nothing, and after accumulating a fortune of nearly $20,000,000 left very little property at his death, which occurred in this city about a year ago. He started the Moffat road in 1902, against the advice of many of his friends, who predicted that it would break him. At one time he had $10,000,000 of his own money tied up in the work, but at his death it was said that about $6,000,000 was represented by his holdings of 90 per cent. of the new road's stock. He was jealous of allowing any Eastern financial interests to become identified with the road and tried to raise local capital to complete the line, but without success. The people of Colorado are to vote next Fall on a proposition to spend $5,000,000 for the construction of the Moffat tunnel through the continental divide, which would shorten the line by sixteen and a half miles. It is proposed to make the tunnel available for any road, but with a provision allowing the Denver, Northwestern & Pacific to buy it from the State.

The Colorado-Utah Construction Company, which built the Moffat road, had outstanding $4,000,000 of 6 per cent. two-year notes, personally guaranteed by Mr. Moffat, which matured on May 1, 1911. At that time $500,000 was paid off and the balance extended for one year. Efforts to arrange for another extension failed. Bankers in this city said yesterday that the notes are amply secured by $8,000,000 of the first mortgage bonds, which are deposited behind them as collateral.

After Mr. Moffat's death, early in 1911, efforts were made to sell the new road to the Denver & Rio Grande and other established systems, but without success. W. G. Evans, President of the Denver City Tramways and Vice President of the Moffat road, announced at that time that control would remain in Denver and that local money would be forthcoming to complete the line. As projected, it would have been 575 miles in length, running about midway between the Rio Grande on the south and the Union Pacific on the north.

Steps were taken in New York yesterday to form a protective committee for the noteholders, and the names will shortly be announced. An associate of the late Mr. Moffat says that the company earned its interest charges up to the first of this year, but has since been running behind. The road suffered severely from snow last Winter, and it is necessary to spend a large sum for snow sheds this year. Shortage of equipment has prevented the company from realizing its traffic possibilities. There are large coal deposits in Routt County, which was one of the objective points when the road was projected.

FIGHTS FOR HIS HOTEL STOCK

Former Manager of Cumberland Says He Was Deprived of It by Fraud.

Richard J. Bingham, formerly manager and director of the Hotel Cumberland, filed in the Supreme Court yesterday an application enjoining the Northern Bank of New York, James M. Gifford, and others, from selling 180 shares of the hotel's stock which belong to him and of which he declares he has been fraudulently deprived. Implicated in the suit is Joseph G. Robin, who, like Bingham, alleges that he has been victimized by the bank and the hotel of which he was formerly a director. In addition to the application for an injunction, Bingham demands $30,000 as due him from the Hotel Cumberland and its owners, James M. Gifford and Harry P. Stimson.

In his complaint Bingham states that at the suggestion of Robin, Gifford, and Stimson he was induced to buy ninety shares of common and ninety of preferred hotel stock for $10,000. As an inducement Robin gave him a note for $5,000 on the Northern Bank of New York, which was then the Riverside Bank, and Bingham deposited 140 of his shares as collateral.

Bingham says he never received any dividends on his shares after the first year, despite the fact that the hotel company was always a profit-making corporation. In 1910, moreover, George Sanborn offered $75,000 for the complete purchase of the hotel. Both Robin and Bingham declared that in their opinion the hotel was worth $150,000. Moreover, Gifford wrote from Europe that he would himself pay Robin and Bingham $200 a share if they would not sell to Sanborn.

The promise of Gifford, however, never materialized. Robin, in the meantime, was indicted by the Grand Jury for grand larceny. Gifford and Stimson thereupon, according to Bingham, made threats that they would see to it that the District Attorney treated him as he had Robin if he did not resign as director and manager of the Hotel Cumberland. Bingham declares that he was frightened, although quite guiltless, and did as he was told under duress.

Soon afterward the Northern Bank closed its doors, and an advertisement appeared offering Bingham's shares for sale.

THE BUSINESS WORLD

DAY SEES PROSPERITY NEAR.

Equitable President Points to Busy Factories and Mills.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURGH, Penn., May 2.—The Nation is rapidly approaching a period of unparalleled prosperity in the opinion of Judge William A. Day, President of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of New York, who is making a tour of the entire country and arrived here this morning.

"Barring some of the uncertainty caused by the Presidential campaign," he said, "I believe that the business of the country is assuming such shape that we will soon enjoy one of the most prosperous conditions in the history of the Nation.

"I think there are signs of great prosperity in every section of the country not recently visited by some big catastrophe. I have in mind the big flood in the Mississippi at the present time.

"I believe that the first impetus toward the coming period of prosperity was the result of the gigantic cotton crop of last year. That bumper yield did not prove to be a calamity, as some people feared it would be.

"The supply of all kinds of products is small, and the manufactories are getting busier every day in supplying the demand. Take the steel mills in Pittsburgh and vicinity. They are almost running to their capacity. The railroads have allowed their roadbeds and rolling stock to get into bad shape, and big orders for improvement work are being awarded every day."

Judge Day stated that his company was not a heavy loser by the Titanic disaster.

"Our losses from the wreck amounted to only $85,000," he said. "We had over $300,000 in policies among the passengers, however. In addition to that passengers on the Titanic had application for over $300,000 more insurance with our company, but for some reason or other the policies had not been written.

"We had a narrow escape from being deeply interested in the wreck of the New York Central Limited last Winter. We had over $1,000,000 in force among the passengers on that train."

HEAVY WHITE GOODS TRADING

Seasonable Weather Gives Local Market a Much Needed Stimulus.

The appearance of seasonable weather has given spot trading in wash and white goods in the New York market a much needed stimulus. Buying in these lines has been very active in the past two days, and prospects for excellent business for the remainder of the season are said to be unusually bright. Following a prolonged period of inactivity in these lines on the part of retailers, trading is unusually heavy, and Wednesday's sales in one of the largest jobbing departments in the city exceeding the best previous May 1 by close to $5,000.

The Spring season on the heavier lines of dress goods is about over, and very little wholesale business is expected after May 15. Shipments of these lines are still going forward on a small scale, however, and are dominated by serges and whipcords. Reports on Fall business from the road are very encouraging, and in several instances sales to date have greatly exceeded those of last year. This leads to a general belief that when the Fall spot buying season opens about July 1 some excellent business will be done.

SILK IMPORTS FALL OFF.

Less by 25 Per Cent. Than for the Same Period Last Year.

A report issued yesterday by the Silk Association of America, covering the dutiable silk imports at the customs districts of New York, Philadelphia, Boston, Hartford, Bridgeport, Chicago, Cincinnati, and San Francisco for the three months ending Dec. 31, 1911, shows a decrease in importations of more than 25 per cent. as compared with the corresponding period of the previous year. The aggregate value of imports is given as $6,123,604, against $7,808,326 in 1910. Duty collected totaled $3,155,670, and the average ad valorem duty was 51 per cent. In 1910 the duty collected during the same period amounted to $4,117,709, and the average ad valorem per cent. was 53.

Of the aggregate value of imports given, $1,629,351 represents the value of fabrics woven in the piece, $542,237 covers the value of plushes, velvets, or other pile fabrics entered, and $1,287,363 is the value of spun silk or schappe yarns. Artificial silk entered totaled $487,327.

WARNING TO GOLD MINERS.

Told to Beware of False Reports of Rich Strikes in Bolivia.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—American miners, especially those in the western section of the country, are warned against false reports of enormously rich gold discoveries in Bolivia, which already have sent a number of American fortune hunters into Bolivia with disastrous results.

The American Legation at La Paz today cabled the State Department that many of these miners were now returning from Tipuani bringing unfavorable reports, and that although the Bolivian Government had been assisting in their search, so far no discoveries of gold warranting a trip to Bolivia had been made.

FOR LOWER SUGAR DUTIES.

Wholesale Grocers Issue Bulletin Urging Reductions in Present Tariff.

A committee of wholesale grocers, organized to assist in obtaining cheaper sugar for consumers through reduction of the present duties on raw and refined sugars, has just issued a bulletin through Secretary F. C. Lowry, 138 Front Street, presenting reasons why the present tariff should be reduced. It says in part:

> A material reduction in the tariff on sugar would reduce the price. It, therefore, would be to the advantage of consumers, manufacturers, and dealers of sugar. A few independent cane sugar refiners have declared themselves in favor of lower duties. A reduction in the price of sugar would result in increased consumption and increased business. When the tariff on sugar was removed in 1891, the consumption increased 23 per cent. in one year. Such an increase would be double last year's production of beet sugar in the United States. Consider the advantage this increase in business would mean to jobbers, retailers, manufacturers, refiners, and transportation companies.
>
> The United States, because of its proximity to Cuba, Porto Rico, Hawaii, and the Philippines, as well as from the fact that beet sugar can be produced in the Western States at a very low cost, should have cheaper sugar than any nation in the world. From these sources, with their natural advantages, an ample supply is assured, which can be obtained at a minimum cost under favorable tariff conditions. Are the people to receive the benefit of the country's natural advantages, or are they to be exploited for the benefit of the promoters of our domestic beet and cane sugar industry? The present high tariff means the latter.

The committee proposes a reduction of the present duty on refined sugar from 1.90 cents per pound to .624 cents, and on raw sugar, 96 degrees test, from 1.685 cents per pound to .60 cents. Under the reciprocity treaty importations of Cuban sugar are recommended to pay 20 per cent. less in both cases.

Frederic R. Coudert, Edwin Gould, and Frederick Townsend Davies were elected to the Board of Trustees at a meeting yesterday of the National Highways Protective Society, at 46 East Twenty-ninth Street. An increase of the Board of Trustees by six members was authorized at a meeting of the society on April 22. Three trustees are still to be elected.

BUSINESS NOTES.

A quarterly meeting of the Board of Managers of the Silk Association of America will be held May 8 in the rooms of the association, 487 Broadway.

The advent of warmer weather has had a stimulating effect on the hosiery business. Retailers are said to have been very active in the last day or two. Active buying in silk, lisle, and other lightweight hosiery in black, tan, and white, was much in evidence. Stocks of white hosiery for immediate delivery are said to be hard to find.

It was learned yesterday that plans for the organizing of a lace and embroidery club, similar to the Merchants' Club of St. Gall, Switzerland, have been temporarily abandoned because of the lack of interest shown in the movement.

LATEST CUSTOMS RULINGS.

Goose Skins with Down On Are Held Dutiable as Dressed Furs.

Importers of goose skins with the down on have won a victory before the Board of United States General Appraisers. It appears that the goose skins not only had the down on, but were dressed, cleaned, and plucked. Collector Loeb returned the merchandise as birds' skins advanced by manufacturer, duty being assessed at the rate of 50 per cent. on the value under the Tariff act of 1897, or at 60 per cent. under the act of 1909. The board decides that the Collector erred, and that the skins are dutiable by similitude as furs dressed on the skin, at 20 per cent. under both of the Tariff acts named. The claims are, accordingly, sustained. The importers in the case include James G. Johnson & Co., Gross, Engel & Co., and Fischlowitz, Konigsberg & Leon.

Edwards & Rierdan were unsuccessful in their claim for lower duty on natural grasses dyed and prepared and artificial flowers composed of various materials suitable and used for ornamental or millinery purposes. Duty was assessed at the rate of 60 per cent. under Paragraph 438 of the present tariff, whereas the importers ask free entry under Paragraphs 578 and 630, or that duty should have been assessed at the rate of 35 per cent. under Paragraph 463. The Collector is affirmed.

The board decided that marble and alabaster columns, pedestals, cups, &c., which were assessed as manufactures of marble under the act of 1909, are not in any sense sculptures, as claimed by F. Bing & Co., George Borgfeldt & Co., Lazarus & Rosenfeld, John Wanamaker, Davies, Turner & Co., and Corsi, Zumsteg & Co. As sculptures the merchandise would pay a lower duty than that assessed.

BANKS PUZZLED BY 'MONEY TRUST' QUERY

TO GUARD PRIVATE AFFAIRS

State Banking Department Leaves Decision to Institutions—Object to Naming Stockholders.

Several State banks and trust companies telephoned yesterday to the State Banking Department for advice as to whether they should answer all the questions put to them by the Pujo Committee, which is preparing to investigate the so-called Money Trust. They were told that the matter was one in which the department was not concerned and was entirely between the financial institutions and the committee.

The department has been ignored in the inquiry up to this time, and it was decided that it was not called on to take any attitude as to the propriety of the questions. If the committee applies later on to the Banking Department for information, it is felt that that will be time enough for it to consider what its attitude shall be as to the private affairs of the customers of the banks and trust companies.

The National banks in this city received their blanks from the committee yesterday afternoon. These were received by the State institutions on Monday, and there had been some speculation as to whether the committee had decided to hold back their inquiries from the National banks until it had had time to examine into the contention that they are protected, under the banking law, from investigation by anybody except the Controller of the Currency or by order of the courts. It was said, however, that the failure of the National banks to receive their blanks was simply due to the fact that all could not be sent out at one time and that the names of the State institutions happened to be reached first by the committee's mailing force.

In the meantime counsel for the National banks as well as for the trust companies have been studying the question of the committee's power to compel answers to the questions. Counsel for one of the big trust companies said yesterday that whether or not there was any merit in the contentions that had been raised, this was an age in which investigating committees generally got what they were after sooner or later, and that the institution he represented would interpose no objections to giving the information sought.

Attitude of the Courts.

Counsel for another bank, who has made a thorough study of the decisions of the courts as to the powers of investigating committees, said the strongest ground on which the matter could be contested was to question the power of any investigating committee to dig into private business matters merely as an aid to legislation. The Federal courts, he said, had never held that they had such power, and some of their decisions hinted that they had not, where legislation was the purpose.

Where the power had been upheld in the State courts, he said, it was in every case in connection with the investigation of a Governmental department or a public official. He was not much impressed by any of the specific points that had been brought up in the discussion of the authority of the Pujo Committee in this particular investigation. His advice, however, to the institution he represented had been to answer the questions embraced in the blanks.

In the further study of the Pujo blanks that was in progress yesterday it was discovered that the committee had not asked for the names of borrowers who had used bank stock as collateral, as was at first supposed. Schedule C is headed, "Loans to financial institutions and to individuals secured in whole or in part by stocks of financial institutions," and it was thought at first that this would reveal the private operations of all individuals who had made loans with bank stock as collateral. The columns under the heading, it was found, called only for the name of the institution whose stock is pledged, date and amount of loan, market value of stock, and number of shares held as collateral. There is no column for the name of the borrower.

In the case of stockholders in the bank, however, the case is entirely different. Schedule G calls for the names of the officers, Directors, and stockholders. The practice of the banks has been to guard the names of their stockholders jealously, and every precaution has been taken to prevent them from becoming public. The schedule also calls for the particulars of any loans made not only to officers and Directors, but also to stockholders, so that the stockholders have no such protection in regard to their private affairs as is apparently extended to other borrowers.

Samuel Untermyer, chief counsel for the Pujo Committee, is to be in Washington to-day for further conferences with regard to the plan and scope of the investigation.

Would Be Breach of Confidence.

The point most insisted upon is that in supplying the committee with the information for which it has asked the banks would be violating the confidence which they owe to their customers in respect to their private affairs. This view is emphasized in this statement regarding the investigation made yesterday by the President of one of the largest of the banks in the financial district:

"The investigation by the Banking and Currency Committee promises, in the light of the methods indicated by the effort which the committee is now making by a circular to all the banks of the country to obtain information regarding their affairs, to do no good and possibly do a good deal of harm. The harm will come, if the committee is successful in its efforts, through the parading in public of the private and confidential affairs of many customers of the banks, many of whom are in no way whatsoever related to the matters which would properly fall within the purview of the Congressional inquiry.

"For my part, if I were convinced that this was to be a business-like investigation prompted by sincere desire to work out some constructive result, I should not for a moment hesitate, providing proper assurances that the information would be treated with becoming confidence were given, to lay before the committee any and every transaction in which this institution has been or may be at present engaged. The fact is, however, that the investigation is being undertaken by a political committee, with the help of astute counsel, and it is more than likely that if the endeavor of the committee is allowed to run its full course much inconvenience will be caused to the customers of the banks with some resulting harm to them, but without the acquisition of any information really valuable as an aid to any banking legislation which may be undertaken.

"It is certain that it is only as a means of enabling it to properly frame new laws, or to modify those already on the statute books, that Congress has any right to investigate banking affairs, and the committee entering upon this inquiry is doing so in about the poorest way, if really valuable results are desired.

"Any information desired for the purposes of reaching general conclusions regarding the banking situation could have been had through the Controller of the Currency, and with the co-operation of the State Banking Departments, supplemented, if necessary, by specific inquiry into such points as might need further elaboration and which might fall within the matters on which the public is entitled to information. It is not entitled to information dealing exclusively with the private affairs of individuals, for whatever may be the technical view of the matter, it is an invasion of private rights, guaranteed as sacred under the Constitution, to reveal private business in a way to harm the individuals affected.

No Secrecy About Loans.

"To go over the loans of the banks and to inquire into their other operations as the Controller does, putting into his public reports only general information, while private transactions are regarded as strictly confidential, would do no harm and would accomplish all the good that is to be accomplished through an inquiry into the banks.

"To make all this inquiry public, or so much of it as the committee and its counsel might desire, would not only accomplish no good, but would be seriously embarassing to many customers of the banks. It leaves the way open to serious abuses, for under such a procedure it would be within the powers of those guiding the investigation to use it to the detriment of those whose affairs they might chose to make public while passing over others.

"I am aware, of course, that such an attitude as this can very easily be distorted into an effort to conceal facts on account of some fear of having the public know the class of business in which the banks are engaged. That criticism is entirely unfair as any fair-minded man can see if he stops to consider the facts. But even if such criticism is aroused, my own feeling is that a bank owes it to its customers to keep unbroken the confidence which they have imposed in it. It is really the rights of the public at large which are being invaded in this matter, for there are few who have neither a bank account or borrow funds from banks. If you invade the private affairs of any private bank depositor you have an equal right to invade those of all.

"This is a matter which concerns the small banks all over the country fully as much as it does those here in New York, and I shall be surprised if it is not soon made evident to the committee that in the steps which they are taking to expose the private affairs of bank customers to the general public they will arouse opposition from many unexpected sources."

COAL RATE ORDER HELD UP.

Inter-State Commerce Board Acts on Southern Tariff Complication.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—A freight tariff of the Southern Railway canceling joint rates with the Louisville & Nashville on bituminous coal shipped by the Stony Fork (Va.) Coal Company to destinations in Georgia, South Carolina, and other points in the Southeastern territory was suspended to-day by the Inter-State Commerce Commission until Sept. 3.

The effect of the cancellation would be to increase materially the rates on coal destined to the Southeast. The Southern Railway and the Louisville & Nashville could not agree as to which should furnish the equipment to carry the traffic. The Commerce Court recently decided that the obligation to supply the coal cars rested equally with both roads.

Thereupon, the Southern Railway canceled its joint rate arrangement with the Louisville & Nashville on the traffic in question. The commission will investigate the cancellations before permitting them to become effective.

THE OUTSIDE SECURITIES.

COMMODITY MARKETS.

Grains and Coffee Lower—Cotton and Provisions Firm.

Wheat was lower on more favorable hard Winter wheat reports and favorable weather. Corn declined on larger receipts and quiet cash demand. Oats were lower on favorable weather conditions. Provisions were quiet and about steady. Cotton displayed an improved undertone after early liquidation. The weather map was favorable, but private accounts of rains in parts of the Eastern belt incited a buying movement. Cottonseed oil continues firm, with crude offerings light and the pressure of actual oil unimportant. Coffee reacts slightly. Monthly statistics were less bullish than had been expected.

WHEAT.

Wheat lower, closing at a net decline, although at a good rally from the low point. The net loss varied from ⅛c to ⅝c, the greatest declines being in the distant deliveries. The news was more favorable as far as the weather was concerned. A report on the Winter wheat crop by a Western statistician was bullish, but did not have a great deal of effect, as it was in line with previous predictions from the same authority. This report made a loss in area of 18.2 per cent., or 5,883,000 acres, leaving 26,330,000 acres for harvest, which showed an average condition of 75.9 per cent., against 81.2 per cent. last month. This was figured as indicating a possible crop of 358,000,000 bushels, against 430,000,000 bushels final a year ago. The condition in Ohio was given at 47, Indiana 40, and Illinois 43. He also reported Kansas at 74. The Kansas State report, however, made the condition 82, with 6,065,000 acres for harvest. This would make about 94,000,000 bushels if present condition is maintained. The weather conditions were favorable in Winter wheat States and also in the Northwest, where seeding is rapidly nearing completion at a date, if anything, a little earlier than the average for the completion. Estimates as to possible decrease in area now range from 1,000,000 acres decrease to practically nothing if weather is favorable for another week or ten days. Reports from the Canadian Northwest were also favorable as to seeding. Cables were lower, particularly the English cables. The indications for the Argentine exports were for 4,800,000 bushels. No export trade was reported. Cash wheat was nominal, with No. 2 red $1.22¾, free on board; No. 2 hard Winter, $1.24¼; No. 1 Northern, opening of navigation, $1.24¼; No. 1 Manitoba, $1.14.

OTHER GRAINS.

CORN.—The market was dull and heavy, closing a little up from the low point. Selling was credited to cash houses owing to larger receipts. The Western movement has doubled in four days, compared with last week. Cash corn was quiet. Weather conditions were reported favorable for Spring plowing. The estimated Argentine exports for the week were 1,700,000 bushels against none last year. Spot corn was nominal at 86¼c, free on board.

OATS.—Trading was quiet, with the prices showing some strength early, but declined about ⅝c, and closed at unchanged to ½c net decline. Weather conditions were excellent for work in the northern section, while the advices indicated excellent appearance of the oats already sown. Demand for cash oats continues slow, particularly through the East, where the competition of Canadian oats is proving a material factor. Standards No. 2 and No. 3 whites were quoted at 63c, nominal, elevator.

PROVISIONS.

A much quieter market developed in hog products with narrow changes but a steady close. The statement of product stocks at Chicago showed a total about as looked for. Pork lost 1,000 barrels, during the month lard gained 11,000 tierces, while ribs lost 1,750,000 pounds. The total stock of meats is 164,000,000 pounds, or 4,000,000 pounds less than last month, but 37,000,000 pounds more than last year. The world's stock of lard was given at 322,000 tierces, against 350,000 tierces last month, and 214,000 tierces last year. Hog receipts, West, were 126,000, with hog prices, 5 to 20c. lower.

COTTONSEED OIL.

The market continued its upward tendency yesterday, but the advance was more orderly. Offerings were limited, and it was apparent to many that timid holders had evened up their contracts to some extent. The early weakness in cotton, reflecting another day of favorable weather through the South and hesitancy in the lard market, failed to inspire much selling of oil, with aggressiveness among bears at a minimum. Crude was firmer, and it was reported by some authorities that sales had been made on a higher basis, although undoubtedly the volume of business passing is small. Official crude values were about unchanged, with the market quoted at 6c to 6.13c all sections. A further slackening in the consuming demand was noted, but the light crude offerings and well-controlled stocks adequately explain the firm spot situation. Attention was attracted by the higher prices for "off oil," which was quoted at 6.91c to 7.05c, against 6.35c to 6.50c the previous day. There were sales of a few lots on the upturn, with the demand brought about by the abnormally large differences prevailing hitherto.

COTTON.

Scattered liquidation, which in the aggregate was quite heavy, served to keep the undertone to the market heavy during the early part of yesterday's session and small declines ruled. Rallies were feeble for awhile, and the tendency of offerings to assume large proportions on the small upturns made it apparent that there was more or less cotton still overhanging the market. As the day progressed, however, selling pressure relaxed, and under the stimulus of buying by spot interests of the near positions, the list gradually recovered. Buying by shorts and some demand on the theory that a reaction upward was only natural following the recent decline occurred in the late dealings with the movement aided by the reports of rains through Alabama. At the best the list exhibited gains of about 20 points from the low with sentiment very much confused at the finals and the market still sensitive to climatic changes.

The advices of precipitation falling in parts of the eastern belt were not anticipated, inasmuch as the forecasts for those sections were for generally fair weather. Unsettled and showery weather, however, was predicted for the West. Memphis wired that it was cloudy there, with the outlook for rain and with the numerous claims of delayed planting, particularly in the Central and Eastern States, heavy precipitation at this time will not benefit the soil condition. The Journal of Commerce advices pertaining to the entire belt were in confirmation of recent correspondence, it being claimed that the plant is from two to three weeks backward as an average; that the soil was hurriedly prepared or neglected and that the outlook was for a lessened use of fertilizer and a smaller acreage in all States excepting possibly Louisiana. In Texas little change was suggested.

Apprehension as to the situation in the lower Mississippi Valley was not great as the explicit information to the effect that recent breaks in the levels had inundated only sugar lands, was sufficient to allay fears of cotton shorts. Comment was made on the indisposition on the part of Southern holders to grant concessions as a comparison of values discloses only a partial response to the weakness of the future market during the last few days. Most opinions are that demand over the South is quiet but holders undoubtedly firm and weather conditions have not continued favorable for a long enough period to have them alter their views materially. Yesterday's Southern spot markets were unchanged to ⅛c lower and New York spot cotton unchanged with middlings 11.40c. At several important spot centres through the South middlings are quoted at 11⅛c. At Liverpool spot business is fairly large, yesterday's sales amounting to 12,000 bales. The foreign future market was partly instrumental in our early weakness and it was privately cabled that there were fears of renewal of liquidation there by Wednesday's sellers. Manchester reported yarns and cloths quiet but firm. Exports to date total 9,740,000 bales against 6,912,000 last year.

COFFEE.

Coffee was inactive early, opening at a decline of 2 to 6 points. Values then declined 6 to 10 points from the previous close. Late in the day a steadier feeling prevailed, and the close was net unchanged to 7 points lower on total sales of 73,250 bags. The world's visible supply showed a decrease during April of 408,552 bags, bringing the total to 11,831,863 bags, compared with 12,518,312 last year, when the decrease for the month was 412,416 bags. Havre declined 1¼ francs, and Hamburg was ½ pfennig lower. Rio was closed, and Santos declined 50 reis. Receipts were again quite liberal.

Spot coffee, 14½c for Rio 7. Contract prices follow.

Suppose you had for investment $500 or $1,000, and that as time went on you hoped to get a substantial interest in the field of conservative investment. How could you do better than to make your first investment a high-grade Public Utility Bond to yield about 5 per cent.? Subsequently, you could take on a Municipal Bond, a Railroad Bond, a Guaranteed Terminal Bond and an Industrial Bond. By this method it would not be long before you owned a number of reliable and diversified investments, the return from which would average a liberal rate of income.

Write for Circular No. 848, "Conservative Investments," which comprises eight pages, and in which we describe Railroad Bonds, Municipal Bonds, Public Utility Bonds, Guaranteed Terminal Bonds, and Industrial Bonds.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Irregular Movement in Prices, with Recovery in Steel and Some Sharp Advances.

Although price changes yesterday showed much irregularity, the day's record seemed to indicate that there was not much pressure upon the market. This was perhaps shown most clearly by the net gain of a point in United States Steel after the decline which occurred in that stock on Wednesday because of the small earnings reported for the first quarter. Some of the larger advances of the day, however, seemed clearly due to the operations of a group whose activity is regarded as responsible for some of the most pronounced of the recent upward movements. To this extent the market lacked spontaneity, and greater weight should perhaps, therefore, be given in gauging the market to the reactions in other parts of the list. So far as the movement in Steel is concerned it helped to emphasize the view that Tuesday's poor earnings statement is to be accepted rather as a measure of the stress of recent competition than as an indication of current or near-by future earnings.

Toward the end of the day it was made known that the firemen on the Eastern railways, following the course previously pursued by the locomotive engineers, had presented demands upon the railways, including an increase in wages. This hardly comes as a surprise, because the representatives of the railroads all through the recent negotiations emphasized the point that success on the part of the railroad engineers in obtaining an increase in wages would inevitably lead to similar demands from other classes of railway employes. It is perhaps fortunate that the firemen's demands should come just at this time, for it may serve to impress upon the arbitrators the view of the railroads that in passing upon the demands of the engineers count must be taken of the cost of granting similar increases to other classes of labor. Indeed, from the railroad point of view, it would seem to be desirable that a single Board of Arbitration should pass not only upon the demands of the engineers, but upon such demands as other employes may make, as the firemen have now made, for then there would come before the arbitrators at one time the full scope of the wage increase demands which the railroads are facing.

The Bank of England maintained its rate at 3½ per cent. yesterday, contrary to the expectation which had been formed that a reduction would be made at this time. In the open market discounts rose a fraction in London, emphasizing the fact that had the rate been reduced to 3 per cent., many bills would have gone to the Bank on the slightest advance in the open market rate. As was natural under the circumstances, sterling exchange rates rose here though there were indications that the exchange market was still affected by withdrawals of American money from the European markets.

MONEY AND EXCHANGE.

Money on call loaned on Stock Exchange collateral at 2¾@2⅞ per cent., with the last loan at 2¾ per cent. Most of the day's loans were made at 2⅞ per cent.

Time money rates, 3@3¼ per cent. for sixty days, 3¼@3½ per cent. for three, four, and five months, 3½@3¾ per cent. for six months, and 4@4¼ per cent. for eight to twelve months.

Commercial paper was quoted at 4@4½ per cent. for prime four to six months maturity.

New York Clearing House statement: Exchanges, $474,795,393; balances, $28,363,726; Sub-Treasury debit balance, $701,885.

The local banks lost $2,645,000 on their Sub-Treasury operations since Friday.

FOREIGN RATES.

Discount rates abroad yesterday were: London, 3 per cent. for short bills and 3@3 1-16 per cent. for three months bills; Paris, 3⅛ per cent., and Berlin, 3¾ per cent. The money rates were 2½@2¾ per cent. in London, and 4½@5 per cent. in Berlin.

The Paris check rate on London was 25f 23c, and the Berlin check rate on London, 20 marks 47½ pfennigs.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Costly Railroad Country.

Building a railroad through the Rocky Mountain country is expensive pioneering. Barring the Great Northern, all of the important United States lines crossing the continental divide have had to go through a receivership and reorganization before they were able to pay interest on their first cost. The Moffat road proved a heavier burden than its promoter could carry, and it is doubtful if the receivership could have been avoided much longer even if he had lived.

St. Paul's Slow Recovery.

A preliminary estimate of St. Paul's earnings for April did not make a very favorable showing yesterday. For the old system it is expected that gross will exhibit an increase of $62,000, with an advance of $393,000 in expenses, making a net loss of $331,000. The Puget Sound suffered a decrease in gross and an increase in expenses, so that its net for the month was smaller by about $112,000.

⁂

Trading and the Stock Market.

April receipts by the State from the tax of 2 cents per $100 of par value on all stock sold or transferred within the State amounted to $422,824. Assuming that every $100 of par represented a single share, which is, of course, far from the case, since even on the Stock Exchange a large proportion of the trading is in shares of $50 and $25 par and under, these receipts indicate a total of 21,141,200 shares traded in during the month. On the same basis, that is without taking account of the fact that much of the April business on the Stock Exchange was in shares of less than $100 par value, the total trading on the board was 15,986,827 shares. There seems to be no conclusions but that, roughly speaking, little more than two-thirds of the stock sales of the State take place on the Stock Exchange. The next largest market is the Curb, but there are several local Exchanges up the State, and the over-the-counter business is no doubt larger in the aggregate than is generally recognized.

Record April Financing.

According to the compilation made by The Wall Street Journal, financing actually accomplished by the railroad, industrial, and public utility companies of the country in April totaled $220,000,000 and made a record. The figures are $2,000,000 greater than January's, the previous high record month, and $92,000,000 in excess of the corporate financing of April last year. Although 1911 had made a record for the volume of financing accomplished, the four months to the end of April exceeded the record of the period of last year up to that date by $168,000,000.

⁂

Stock Market Averages.

The twenty-five typical railroad stocks and twenty-five industrials yesterday averaged both a bit higher during the day's trading, although the railroads were just a shade lower at highest than on Wednesday. The close for both railroads and industrials was about a fifth of a point higher. The averages follow:

TRUST CONNECTION COSTLY.

Waters-Pierce Paid $3,197,673 for Standard Oil Domination.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 2.—Domination of the Waters-Pierce Oil Company of St. Louis by the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey has cost the St. Louis corporation $3,197,673 in fines, attorneys' fees, and other legal expenses during the last six years, according to its annual report made public to-day.

The company was fined $50,000 in Missouri, $1,675,000 in Texas, and $50,000 in both Arkansas and Oklahoma. Its attorneys' fees during the litigation, according to the report, aggregated $200,000.

FINANCING IRON MOUNTAIN.

Refunding Mortgage Issue to be $200,000,000 for All Needs.

Directors of the St. Louis, Iron Mountain & Southern Railway decided yesterday to make the amount of the new refunding mortgage, which is designed to care for all financing needs for a long period to come, $200,000,000. A special stockholders' meeting to authorize the new issue has been called for July 9 at St. Louis.

President Bush said after the meeting that the bonds issued under the new mortgage would be sufficient for the refunding of outstanding obligations and the provision of extensions, additions, betterments, and equipment. With the existing Missouri Pacific mortgage, the new indenture will take care of all financing now contemplated.

MORTGAGE CANADA SOUTHERN

Bonds for $40,000,000 Authorized by Michigan Central Stockholders.

DETROIT, Mich., May 2.—At the annual meeting here to-day of the stockholders of the Michigan Central Railway, a new Canada Southern mortgage for a total issue of $40,000,000, and to run for fifty years, was authorized. It was decided that the Michigan Central should guarantee the new mortgage bonds, it being the lessee of the Canada Southern road.

The Board of Directors was re-elected.

STOCKS OUT OF TOWN

Chicago Market Broad and Stronger—Other Centres Less Active and Irregular.

Trading in the principal out-of-town markets yesterday was without consistent tendency in either direction, but Chicago's market was broad and stronger, according to the special dispatches to THE TIMES.

Traders in Boston appeared reluctant to take on a line of standard coppers in view of the prevailing belief that the Copper Producers' Association statement Wednesday will show a fair-sized increase in the domestic visible supply of the metal. The result was that minor issues, with a relatively greater speculative following, were brought into prominence. In a few of these the price movement was broad, but activity was scattered.

Hancock was active on the advance to 36, reports being current that a rich vein had been cut at the bottom of No. 2 shaft. Indiana rose past 21 on advices of favorable underground developments, and Algomah went above 8 for a similar reason. Giroux was a little stronger and North Butte moved up a fraction. Massachusetts Gas common sold off to just above the lowest point of the year on talk of poor earnings from the coal end of its business. The industrials were firm, with Steel and United Fruit about a point higher. Butte & Superior, a zinc stock, stopped just short of 37, compared with a quotation of 34⅝ at Wednesday's close.

On the Chicago Exchange the features of a broad and stronger market were the swift upturn of around 4 points in the price of Sears, Roebuck common, followed by a small reaction, the sharp rise of more than three points made by Pneumatic Tool shares, and the new high record of 40½ set by American Can common. Union Carbide sold up a point. The subscription rights were unchanged. Diamond Match and Commonwealth Edison gained ½ each. There were fractional advances in the Booth Fisheries, Swifts, and Boxboard. Public Service common dropped 1½ points, furnishing the principal decline. Business in bonds was confined to a few issues, and prices ruled steady all around.

There was a better tone to Philadelphia stocks, and recessions were mostly made up during the morning dealings, although with but few exceptions the volume of transactions was disappointingly light. Activity developed at the outset in Philadelphia Electric, and the price recovered to 18½. United Gas Improvement was less active, but also rallied, and this was true of Philadelphia Rapid Transit. Northern Central was not affected by the announcement that the minority stockholders who have been fighting the proposed lease to the Pennsylvania Railroad had secured a partial victory in the United States Circuit Court's decision sustaining the motion of the complainants to strike out the plea of the defendants for the dismissal of the suit.

High Grade Oil preferred, which has been steadily rising in Pittsburgh on small sales, rose ¼ higher yesterday, to 88½. Pittsburgh Brewing common was easy and dropped from 9½ to 9, while the preferred was steady at 39¾ bid, and the bonds unchanged at 99. Independent Brewing was a shade easier at 4¼. Crucible Steel preferred rallied ½, to 84, and Pittsburgh Plate Glass ⅝, to 104½.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE.

Led by United States Steel common, an irregular recovery in prices was under way on the Consolidated Stock Exchange during most of the day. While there was a disposition on the part of certain of the professional operators to oppose the advance in Steel, their selling was generally well absorbed. The offerings, however, imparted relative softness at times, compared with the New York Stock Exchange price level. There was a transaction in Colorado Fuel at 30, the only sale of that stock reported in Wall Street during the day. Fifty-four different stocks made up the list.

BOURSES OF EUROPE

Bank of England Rate Not Reduced, Owing to the Weakness of Foreign Exchanges.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Friday, May 3.—The Times in its City article this morning says:

"Money was in fair demand in the morning, but although the supply was somewhat reduced owing to calls in connection with the monthly bank balance sheet preparations, there was no pressure and the terms for day-to-day advances and short fixtures remained as on Wednesday. The India Council renewed a fair amount for about a month at 2¾ per cent.

"The discount market was at first rather weak, buyers of bills being inclined to work at sellers' rates, which were under 3 per cent., but the amount of business done at the reduced level was not great, the promptness with which the Bank of England arrived at a decision to maintain the official minimum checking the buying.

"On the appearance of the bank return, which seems to have caused some disappointment, most houses ceased to take bills and raised their quotations once more to Wednesday's level.

"The stock markets opened quietly after the holiday. Business was inactive all day in most departments, but except as regards shipping securities, which were flat, the tone on the whole was fairly satisfactory. The market in gilt-edged securities remained steady and in the home railway market prices closed higher on balance, although not at the highest points reached.

"American shares opened well above the lower parity level, cabled from New York, but after being fairly firm the tone became easier toward the close.

"Canadian Pacific shares were in keen demand on Continental account, but the chief feature of the markets was the heavy fall of Peninsula & Oriental deferred on the official announcement that no proposal for amalgamation with any other company had ever been made to the Directors.

"Marconi shares recovered from Tuesday's fall."

PARIS, May 2.—Prices were firm on the Bourse to-day.

Three per cent. rentes, 94f 55c for the account.

Exchange on London, 25f 23c for checks.

Private rate of discount, 3⅛ per cent.

BERLIN, May 2.—The reopening of the Dardanelles caused a better feeling on the Boerse to-day. Canadian Pacific was firm and higher.

Exchange on London, 20 marks 47 pfennigs for checks.

Money, 5 per cent.

Private rate of discount, 3¾ per cent.

FINANCIAL NOTES.

Application has been made to the Stock Exchange by the Pacific Power & Light Company to list $5,295,000 first and refunding mortgage 5 per cent. bonds, due 1930.

These seats have been posted for transfer on the Stock Exchange: That of the late Richard B. Lounsbery to George J. Putnam, and that of Irving Bunnell to Eliot Atwater. The price at a recent sale was $73,000.

E. B. Street, formerly of the Essex Title & Trust Company, has been elected President of the newly incorporated Glenridge Trust Company, which has $100,000 capital and $20,000 surplus. New York banking interests represented on the board will include F. N. B. Close, Vice President of the Bankers' Trust Company, and A. Mitchell Hall, a member of the firm of Rhoades & Co.

Time in which securities of the Allis-Chalmers Company may be deposited under the terms of the reorganization plan has been extended until June 1. It is stated that 80 per cent. of the bonds and more than two-thirds of both classes of stock have been deposited. The reorganization of the company is assured in accordance with the plan which has already been announced.

Howard Bayne, Vice President of the Columbia Trust Company, has been elected a Director of the Federal Light & Traction Company.

Rhoades & Co. and the Guaranty Trust Company offer the unsold portion of $700,000 St. Louis Southwestern Railway system, Stephenville North and South Texas Railway Company first mortgage 5 per cent. thirty-year bonds at 97¼ and interest, netting about 5.15 per cent. DISAGREE ON CHINESE LOAN.

Bankers Insist Upon Full Supervision of Expenditures.

PEKING, May 2.—Premier Tang Shao Yi and the representatives of the foreign bankers failed to agree to-day on an arrangement for a loan. The Premier practically demands unlimited funds with the most nominal supervision. The bankers are opposed to floating Chinese bonds without thorough supervision over expenditures.

The opinion is held that Tang Shao Yi is endeavoring to arrogate to himself a practical dictatorship, the President, Yuan Shi Kai, being temporarily placed in the background.

California Investments
Securities of Public Service Corporations in California present an unusual opportunity for investment. The State contains 158,297 square miles; liberally estimated, half of this may be regarded as unfit for a large population. The remaining HALF, with a density of population equal to that of Rhode Island, would support, without difficulty, forty million inhabitants. During the last decade, the population increased 60.1 per cent. The Panama Canal and Exposition will give an additional impetus to the present rapid increase.
The Companies whose securities we offer are conservatively capitalized and efficiently managed. They render the necessary services of lighting, heating, transportation and water supply to approximately 600,000 people in one of the most desirable and rapidly growing sections of the State.
We shall be pleased to submit our special circulars for your consideration.

THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

Big Day for Private House Sales—$8,400,000 Mortgage on Lower Broadway Corner—$2,500,000 Building Loan on Forty-second Street Improvement—More Loft Operations—Active Suburban Market.

The private dwelling market, which has been very active recently, furnished a number of additional sales yesterday, one of which, in Fifty-sixth Street, near Fifth Avenue, was reported to be for business, although the house may not be altered. The sale was the five-story, American-basement house at 36 West Fifty-sixth Street, made by Edgar A. Manning for Anna B. Kellogg, the plot being 25 by 100.5 feet. The adjoining residence, at No. 34, belonged to the late Edwin Hawley.

Henry D. Winans & May sold 22 East Seventy-sixth Street, a four-story high stoop residence, between Fifth and Madison Avenues, on a plot 19 by 102. The sellers were Golde & Cohen. The purchaser will refit the property for a residence.

On the east side in the residential section, near Madison Avenue, the four-story residence at 35 East Seventy-fifth Street, on plot 20 by 81.10, was sold by Henry D. Winans & May for Edward J. Witthauer to a client for occupancy. This is the first sale of the property in thirty-eight years.

On the west side among several deals was that of 145 Riverside Drive, a four-story house on plot 32 by 100, between Eighty-sixth and Eighty-seventh Streets. It was sold by Victor Kuzdo, who bought it at auction last November for $84,250. The selling price is said to be about $90,000.

Frederick Zittel & Sons sold for John M. O'Connell the four-story residence at 108 West Eightieth Street, on lot 20 by 102.2, to a client for occupancy.

Mary and Anna Kuhlewind have purchased from Franklin and George L. F. Ford the four-story residence at 9 West Ninety-eighth Street, on lot 25 by 100 feet, between Central Park West and Columbus Avenue. G. L. Carpenter & Co. were the brokers in the transaction.

F. & G. Pflomm sold for Thomas Morgan and others to an investor the two four-story and basement brownstone houses at 144 and 146 East Eighty-third Street.

The McVickar-Gaillard Realty Company has sold for Marie De Novellis her residence at 8 East 128th Street.

Two mortgages aggregating $8,400,000 were recorded yesterday, being taken by the Standard Trust Company of New York on the old Adams Express Company property from 57 to 61 Broadway, extending through to Trinity Place, and including the entire northerly block front on Exchange Place. The Broadway frontage is about 105 feet, and the debth about 209 feet. The mortgages are given by the new owner, the Adams Express Building Company, of which Robert J. Dowling is a member. The first mortgage is for $5,000,000, and the second for $3,400,000, both due in 1962, the former bearing interest at 4½ per cent., and the latter at 6 per cent. At the same time title was recorded from William W. Barrett as President of the Adams Express Company, the consideration being stated at $2,000,000. The property stands assessed on land valued at $2,265,000. Plans have lately been filed by the new owner for a thirty-two-story office building to cost $2,000,000.

$2,500,000 Building Loan.

BOY SLAYER IN COURT.

Maitland Jarvis, Who Shot Another Youngster, Sent to Children's Society.

Maitland Jarvis of 1,136 Clay Avenue, the Bronx, the twelve-year-old Boy Scout, who shot and killed nine-year-old Henry Luckhardt on March 23, in a lot in Findlay Avenue, was brought before Justice Mayo in the Children's Court yesterday on the charge that he is without proper guardianship. The complaint was made by Agent Robert Cosgrave of the Children's Society. The boy cried much of the time in court and his relatives were there to testify to his good character. A letter from a neighbor was read, stating the boy was "the terror of the block." He was remanded to the custody of the Children's Society for a week, while the case is being investigated.

Henry Luckhardt, who lived at 3,543 Third Avenue and his two brothers, went into the Findlay Avenue lot to fill some bottles from a spring there. Jarvis had been drilling with the Scouts, and carried a loaded rifle. He ordered the three boys to throw up their hands. Two of them crouched down behind a wagon, but Henry dared him to shoot. Jarvis fired, killing the youngster. On account of his youth he was not indicted for the shooting.

Boy Killed by a Surface Car.

Six-year-old William Kruckman, Jr., son of a retired pharmacist of 810 Westchester Avenue, the Bronx, was run over and killed at 7:45 o'clock last night by a Westchester Avenue car about two blocks from his home. The father, who had sent the boy to the grocery, seeing the crowd about the car, ran there, and, falling flat on the pavement, begged his boy to speak to him. Dr. Faust of Lebanon Hospital, who examined the child after the wrecking crew had raised the car so that his body might be extricated, said that he had been killed instantly. Witnesses said the youngster ran directly in front of the car, giving the motorman no time to stop.

BOARD OF ESTIMATE AND APPORTIONMENT.

PUBLIC NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that at a meeting of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, held January 18, 1912, the following petition was received:

THE BOARD OF ESTIMATE AND APPORTIONMENT OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK:

Gentlemen: The undersigned, The Brooklyn and North River Railroad Company, a street surface corporation duly incorporated under the laws of the State of New York by certificate filed in the office of the Secretary of State on December 30th, 1911, hereby makes application for a franchise for and during a term of ten (10) years, and for and during any and all renewals and extensions of said term, to construct, maintain and operate a double track street surface railroad for transportation of persons and property by electric motor power conducted and supplied through the overhead trolley system, along the route between the termini, as follows, viz:

COMMENCING, at a point in the Borough of Manhattan, at or near the intersection of Canal Street and the Bowery, opposite the property acquired by the City of New York for a terminal to the Manhattan Bridge; thence southerly, in, upon and across Canal Street to the south side thereof; thence upon the land acquired by the City for bridge terminal purposes in the Borough of Manhattan; thence in and upon said bridge terminal to the approach of the Manhattan Bridge in the Borough of Manhattan; thence upon and along the said bridge approach in the Borough of Manhattan, the Manhattan Bridge, and the bridge approach in the Borough of Brooklyn, to land acquired for the Manhattan Bridge terminal in the Borough of Brooklyn; thence upon and along the said land to Nassau Street; thence in, upon and across Nassau Street to Flatbush Avenue extension; thence in and upon Flatbush Avenue extension to a terminal at or near the intersection of Flatbush Avenue extension with Fulton Street, in the Borough of Brooklyn.

There is a public demand for the operation of a through service from the said terminus at the intersection of Flatbush Avenue Extension with Fulton Street in the Borough of Brooklyn, along the route described to the terminus at or near the intersection of Canal Street and the Bowery, and thence in, upon and along streets in which surface railroad tracks are now constructed, to the North River at or near Desbrosses Street Ferry in the Borough of Manhattan. In view of this demand the undersigned proposes and consents that said franchise shall be made conditional upon its obtaining the trackage rights, as a necessary part thereof, by agreement in writing with the Third Avenue Railway Company, Dry Dock, East Broadway, and Battery Railroad Company, and the New York Railways Company, to operate its street surface railroad cars over the respective double and single surface railroad tracks of said companies, for and during the term of said franchise and for and during all renewals and extensions thereof, along the route described as follows, viz:

BEGINNING at a point in the marginal way adjacent to the North River at or near the Desbrosses Street Ferry in the Borough of Manhattan; thence by double track in, upon and across the marginal way and West Street to Desbrosses Street; thence by either single or double track in and upon Desbrosses Street to Greenwich Street; thence by either single or double track in and upon Greenwich Street to Vestry Street; thence by double track in and upon Vestry Street to Canal Street; thence by double track in and upon Canal Street to and connecting with said terminus at or near the intersection of Canal Street and the Bowery in the Borough of Manhattan. Also a branch beginning at and connecting with the track above described at or near the intersection of Desbrosses Street with West Street; thence by either single or double track in and upon West Street to Vestry Street; thence by either single or double track in and upon Vestry Street to Greenwich Street, and there connecting with the track above described; all in the Borough of Manhattan.

In addition to the through service over the said joint line from the terminus at the intersection of Flatbush Avenue Extension with Fulton Street in the Borough of Brooklyn to the point in the marginal way adjacent to the North River, at or near the Desbrosses Street Ferry in the Borough of Manhattan, the undersigned proposes to operate a local service on the Manhattan Bridge, between the Manhattan and Brooklyn termini thereof.

Each passenger over three years of age transported on the cars of the joint line between its terminus at the intersection of Flatbush Avenue Extension with Fulton Street in the Borough of Brooklyn and the North River, in the Borough of Manhattan, and intermediate points, will be charged a fare of five (5) cents.

The cars of said local service will carry a passenger between the Manhattan and Brooklyn termini of the Manhattan Bridge for three (3) cents, and two tickets will be sold for five (5) cents, each of which tickets will entitle any person to one passage across the bridge between its terminus in Manhattan at or near the intersection of Canal Street and the Bowery and its terminus in the Borough of Brooklyn at or near the intersection of Nassau Street and Flatbush Avenue extension.

Each passenger under three years of age will be carried free, if attended by a person over ten years of age.

The undersigned further proposes to provide by agreement in writing with The Brooklyn Heights Railroad Company, The Nassau Electric Railroad Company, Coney Island and Brooklyn Railroad Company, Third Avenue Railway Company, Dry Dock, East Broadway and Battery Railroad Company, and the New York Railways Company for the interchange of transfer privileges, so that for each cash fare of five cents each passenger on said joint line of the undersigned shall be entitled to one transfer to the intersecting lines of said companies, and for each cash fare of five cents each passenger on said intersecting lines shall be entitled to one transfer to the said joint line; provided, however, that no transfers shall be issued upon transfers by either the undersigned or by any of said other railroad companies, and that no transfer shall be issued to any passenger paying a fare of three cents or tendering a ticket as above provided for transportation in the local service between the Manhattan and Brooklyn termini of the Manhattan Bridge.

It is the intention of the undersigned, following the precedent set in the cases of the Brooklyn and Williamsburg Bridges, to interchange facilities for access to and egress from the Manhattan Bridge over its tracks.

This application is made upon the understanding that the City of New York will furnish tracks across the Manhattan Bridge, and terminal and other facilities on such bridge and its approaches, including all necessary overhead and underground electrical equipment.

Respectfully submitted,

THE GREATEST DETECTIVE STORY WRITER OF FRANCE

"ARSENE LUPIN" (Maurice Leblanc)

will tell in NEXT SUNDAY'S TIMES the most amazing story of crime ever published, the mere facts of which make fiction insipid. It will occupy two pages in THE TIMES NEXT SUNDAY. The author has chosen this title for his astounding tale:

BONNOT, THE TIGER-BANDIT

At the Head of a Vast Criminal Organization He Terrorized France.

Secret History of How His Master Coups Were Engineered.

The news dispatches have told piecemeal how these auto bandits inaugurated a reign of terror in France.

Beginning with highway robbery and murder, these well-dressed, silk-hatted criminals kept Paris in a state of panic for four months. One by one they fell into the hands of the police, betrayed by women they had deserted, or run down by detectives, until the leader and one other of the principals remained.

How these two last Sunday held at bay the police, the detectives, and the soldiers of Paris until dynamite was resorted to, while a great throng of curious spectators looked on, and fearless moving picture operators took photographs amid a shower of bullets, is one of the most thrilling chapters in criminal annals.

THE NEW YORK TIMES asked the greatest writer of French detective fiction, MAURICE LEBLANC, author of the famous "ARSENE LUPIN" stories, to tell the story of this amazing band of criminals. His story of about 10,000 words will be transmitted by cable for readers of NEXT SUNDAY'S TIMES, an extraordinary example of newspaper enterprise.

Maurice Leblanc is a Chevalier of the Legion of Honor and a brother-in-law of Maeterlinck. He won fame on both sides of the Atlantic through his remarkable stories, which were dramatized for the delight of theatre-goers here, the central character of which is "ARSENE LUPIN," a Prince Charming of the Dark Lantern, who is a mixture of Sherlock Holmes and that clever thief, Raffles.

His story of the Bandits will no doubt be even more thrilling than his imaginary tales.

There will be an extraordinary demand for this story. To be sure of getting NEXT SUNDAY'S TIMES you should place an order with your newsdealer to-day. THE TIMES is always sold out early.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—THE TIMES has received many complaints recently of the inadequate supplies of THE SUNDAY TIMES at the newsstands. Dealers base their orders on your orders, and unless your order is placed early you may be disappointed. THE TIMES prints no more than it has orders for.

COMMERCE CHAMBER HOST TO THE FRENCH

Distinguished Visitors Piloted Through Wall Street After Reception Luncheon

AT METROPOLITAN MUSEUM

See Splendid New Rodin Exhibit—Off for Champlain Ceremonies at Crown Point, N. Y.

After a quiet morning the distinguished French delegation which arrived here last week intrusted with the mission of presenting Rodin's bust "La France" to the United States was busily occupied in its last hours in New York yesterday. The visitors were entertained at the Chamber of Commerce at a large luncheon given in their honor, and later an informal reception committee headed by J. P. Morgan, Jr., and representative of the country's strongest financial institutions, escorted the Frenchmen about the Wall Street district. Afterward they inspected the newly opened Rodin exhibit at the Metropolitan Museum of Art. During the day the delegation lacked four of its members, who were on a flying trip to Boston.

Last night the entire party left for Ticonderoga, whence it will proceed to the site of the Champlain memorial at Crown Point, N. Y., for the final ceremony in connection with the presentation of the bust of "La France" at the tercentenary exercises to-day.

At the Chamber of Commerce the monthly meeting was practically devoted to welcoming the Frenchmen. They were met by a score of prominent New Yorkers, representative of finance, letters and public life. Andrew Carnegie sat next to Viscount de Chambrun. Near by were Joseph H. Choate, Chauncey M. Depew and Jacob H. Schiff. J. P. Morgan, Jr., Judge Elbert H. Gary, Admiral Peary and ex-Mayor Seth Low were on the opposite side of the rostrum. Stuyvesant Fish towered above Louis Blériot, the aviator, who happened to be selected as his partner for the luncheon which was served afterward.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., who was one of the Entertainment Committee, kept himself inconspicuous in the body of the chamber until the procession started for the library, where the luncheon was served, as also did ex-Gov. Odell. President Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia, President John H. Finley of the College of the City of New York, Chancellor E. E. Brown of New York University, ex-Ambassador Robert Bacon, Henry W. Hill, Gen. Stuart L. Woodford, Samuel S. Rea, Darwin P. Kingsley, William H. Porter, A. D. Juilliard, James G. Cannon, Paul Fuller, Jr., McDougall Hawkes, Cleveland H. Dodge, Henry E. Gourd, Welding Ring, Isac N. Seligman and E. H. Outerbridge were the other members of the committee.

The members of the French delegation present were Gabriel Hanotaux, Viscount de Chambrun, Baron d'Estournelles de Constant, Gen. Lebon, Count de Rochambeau, the Duc de Choiseul, Louis Blériot, Mm. Rene Bazin, Louis Barthou, Fernand Cormon, Leon Barthou, Girard, Dal Piaz, Gabriel Louis Jaray, and Gignoux.

Resolutions for Titanic Dead.

Before President A. Barton Hepburn introduced Ambassador Jusserand, who was the first of the guests to reply to the Chamber's welcome, the French delegation heard the Chamber pass resolutions in memory of its four members, Isidor Straus, John Jacob Astor, Benjamin Guggenheim and John B. Thayer, who died on the Titanic. The resolutions ordered that "their names be inscribed in the minutes with special reference to their usefulness in life and bravery in death."

Jacob H. Schiff, who seconded the memorial resolutions, spoke in a low voice at moments choked with feeling. In part, he said:

"Even now we can hardly realize that since we have last been together in monthly meeting this terrible catastrophe should have come upon us. Men whom it was our privilege to have almost daily intercourse with have perished by shipwreck, and with hardly a moment's notice had to end their lives in the depths of the Atlantic. Among those who have perished this Chamber has lost and mourns a number whom it had counted among its most highly respected members—men whose very lives were an example and who in the hour of death gave a lesson of heroism and resignation which in the midst of our busy life we should not forget.

"We cannot but bow in humility before the inscrutable ways of that higher power which directs the destiny of every human being, but beyond the wreck and beyond the destruction there remains to us the memory of the high character, of the good and honored name, of the genial personality of the friends whom we have lost. This should be our consolation as we miss these friends from their wonted places."

Jusserand's Tariff Joke.

President Hepburn in introducing Ambassador Jusserand, who spoke in English, outlined the debt which this country owes to France for her aid in the war of the Revolution. The French Ambassador made a laughing reference to the trouble he once involved himself in through an innocent reply to a question about the new American tariff. He begged his hearers to consider that in any references he might make to the commercial relations of the two countries he was not giving any opinions of his own. He explained that the delegation felt a great interest in economic questions, explaining that Gabriel Hanotaux, its head, had as Premier of France, had much to do with trade relations throughout the world. Expressing what he carefully explained were the opinions of the silk manufacturers of his native city of Lyons, he had a good deal to say about the tariff, particularly about the complexity of schedules. He concluded by referring to the many treaties between the two countries as "models upon which should be framed, treaties to exist between all liberal and manly nations."

Gabriel Hanotaux, who spoke next, explained the genesis of the movement which brought the delegation from France. He said that when Ambassador Jusserand had made known to his countryment our intention of erecting a monument to Champlain on the shores of the lake which bears his name, the idea met spontaneous response in France. He called the Rodin bronze "a stamp and a seal authenticating once again the fidelity of our common sentiments." Baron d'Estournelles de Constant also spoke in French.

Lafayette's Descendant Speaks.

In introducing Viscount de Chambrun President Hepburn referred to the fact that he is a direct descendant of Lafayette. The Viscount, who represents the French Premier, spoke in clear and well-turned English. In part he said:

"The very character of the present solemnities which have brought this delegation to America awakens with us in France a peculiar feeling of sympathy and grateful retrospection. Our intellectual world, our literary men, all who are versed in historical research and who cherish the great memories of the past, look back with love and pride upon the one-time humble heroes whose venturesome spirit and wonderful foresight made of their own mother country the glorious promoter of civilization. Indeed, the ties uniting France and America have always been popular with us, and our public men have ever justly prized their great and valuable importance, but, in the present instance, the Prime Minister of the French Republic has desired to be personally represented.

"He, also a patriot and a man of letters, cannot refrain from emotion when he recalls that page of our common history where a countryman of ours with scanty means, but with vast courage and genius, opened new lands and new prospects to the achievements of humanity.

"But, on the other hand, we citizens of France do not forget that it was upon your virgin soil that free institutions were first sown which we in turn were able to fully harvest.

"The Declaration of the American Independence preceded the declaration of the Rights of Man, and republican government in America preceded the establishment of free government in France.

"Mutual action at decisive moments, as we see, has blended together the histories of France and of the United States with ever beneficial effect, leaving to-day in the hearts of both nations an unparalleled feeling of esteem and constantly well-wishing affection."

Before the guests were escorted to luncheon President Hepburn administered the oath of office to John Claflin, the Chamber's newly elected President.

With countless handshakings the French delegation left the city last night at 7:25 o'clock over the New York Central for Fort Ticonderoga. A large number of friends were at the Vanderbilt Hotel, the visitors' headquarters, to see the party off, and the railroad agent in charge had quite a time of it getting the automobile procession under way and his charges all accounted for.

This morning the bust of "La France" will be unveiled at Crown Point. At 4:12 o'clock in the afternoon the party will start for Montreal. The journey will halt at Montreal until to-morrow night, when the visitors go to Quebec. Monday will be spent in Quebec. On Tuesday a trip will be made to Niagara Falls. On Thursday morning the delegation is due back in New York, sailing for France on the steamship Provence at 10 o'clock the same morning.

FLYING TRIP TO HARVARD.

Four of the Frenchmen Visit Boston and Meet Gov. Foss.

BOSTON, May 2.—Ties of friendship between Harvard University and the Republic of France were strengthened today by a visit to the university of a distinguished delegation of Frenchmen, Etienne Lamy of the French Academy, Vidal de la Blanche of the University of Paris, Gaston Deschampe of the Paris Temps, and M. Goguel. The four are members of the delegation sent to America by France with the Rodin Champlain memorial.

The envoys were met upon their arrival in this city by Robert Bacon, ex-Ambassador to France, and others. After a ride through the Fens they went out to Cambridge and addressed the Harvard students at the new lecture hall. This afternoon they visited the State House, where they were presented to Gov. Foss. They were shown through the public library and later left for New York.

FINE RODIN EXHIBIT OPEN.

French Party Inspects Splendid Collection at Metropolitan Museum.

The largest permanent collection of the works of Rodin, the French sculptor, outside his own studios is now owned and on exhibition at the Metropolitan Art Museum of this city. The works in marble, bronze, and baked clay are placed in the north corridor on one side of the big main stairway of the museum. The exhibit, its charm heightened by vines and plants filling in the niches of the corridor, was inspected by members of the French Champlain Tercentenary Commission yesterday. The distinguished Frenchmen, coming to this country with a Rodin gift themselves, were opportunely here on the day of the opening of the Museum collection and were invited to inspect it.

At the close of the inspection tea was served, Mrs. Joseph H. Choate and Mrs. Robert W. de Forest presiding. Mr. Choate, First Vice President, and Mr. de Forest, Second Vice President and Secretary of the Museum, received the guests.

The collection consists of forty pieces. It was selected with the advice of the sculptor himself, and it is representative of the different periods of his work.

The Museum owned some works by Rodin, and the later additions have been bought with the $25,000 gift made to the Museum by Thomas F. Ryan in 1910 for the purchase of the work of Rodin. The selection was left to Edward Robinson, director of the Museum, and Daniel C. French, Chairman of the Museum's Committee on Sculpture. A selection was made in the Summer of 1910 at the Paris and Meudon studios of the sculptor with his assistance.

The following ten pieces were chosen: "Adam and Eve," two heroic figures in bronze, which were to surmount the door of Rodin's celebrated "Porte de l'Enfer"; "The Thinker," a bronze statuette of which the Museum has also a large plaster cast; "The Old Courtesan," another bronze statuette; portrait busts of Puvis de Chavannes and Jules Dalou; "The Tempest," a marble relief; "The Bather," a marble figure; a portrait bust of Madame X. in marble, and a charming study in baked clay, "The Caryatid."

In addition to these important works the Museum purchased from the income of the Rogers fund an original study in baked clay for the head of the statue of Balzac, which aroused a tempest of criticism in France in 1898. It is a delightfully characteristic head modeled from a professional model, said to have borne a striking resemblance to the great French writer. In the same material is a sketch group for the "Triton and Nereid," which the Museum in 1908 commissioned Rodin to execute in marble from the plaster model shown some twenty years before.

In the lower end of the gallery in two cases are gifts from the sculptor himself, eighteen signed plaster casts made especially for this purpose from small clay studies in the sculptor's studios. Included in his gift is also an original baked clay study of the torso of a woman, and there is a bronze portrait bust of Mr. Ryan which is not yet on exhibition.

Among others invited to meet the members of the French commission yesterday were three ex-Ambassadors to France—Robert Bacon, just returned from Paris, who was invited with Mrs. Bacon; Henry White, invited with Mrs. White, and Gen. Horace Porter.

Others invited were Jean J. Jusserand, French Ambassador; Etienne Lanel, French Consul General; Miss Malvina Hoffman, André Saglio, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Ryan, Mr. and Mrs. John Barry Ryan, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Ryan, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. H. Fairfield Osborn, Dr. and Mrs. F. A. Lucas, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fuller, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. McDougall Hawkes, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wetherbee.

SCHOOL LECTURERS DINE DR. LEIPZIGER

NAMES A FEW WHO LISTEN

Edwin Markham and ex-College Presidents Among Others—Lecture Corps Providing a People's University.

The twenty-third annual reunion and dinner of the Public Lecture Corps of the Board of Education was held at the Hotel Astor last night, with Dr. Henry M. Leipziger, supervisor of the corps, hailed as "the soul of the public lecture system," as the guest of honor. About 200 of the 600 lecturers who have been giving evening courses in the public schools of the city in the season which closed on May 1 attended the reunion.

Dr. Willis Fletcher Johnson, Chairman of the corps, was toastmaster. With him at the speakers' table were Borough President George McAneny, Egerton L. Winthrop, Jr., President of the Board of Education; Dr. William H. Maxwell, City Superintendent of Schools; Dr. and Mrs. Antonio Pisani, Dr. and Miss Leipziger, Dr. Walter B. Gunnison, Dr. Jennie M. Davis, Abram I. Elkus, John Whalen, Isaac N. Seligman, Mr. and Mrs. Augustus G. Miller, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur S. Somers.

Dr. Leipziger declared that the corps in the season beginning last October and ending on May 1 had given 6,000 lectures in 180 meeting places in the five boroughs of the city, mostly in public schools, where about 1,250,000 persons had listened to them. The lecture corps in this way, he said, was really providing a "university for the people."

"It is democratic. It is co-operative," said he. "The immigrant and the college graduate all are taken into our intellectual and spiritual net. The tyro is awakened from his lethargy and the college graduate is recalled to his studies. Men and women alike are being educated. Families spend evenings in rare company. Under the aegis of this scheme of education for adults the full meaning of American education, which is education for all, all the time, is beginning to be realized.

"People who attend include representatives of every phase and section of the great human congeries which form our cosmopolitan city. The greasy mechanic, the teacher, the lawyer, the physician, the clerk in the dry goods store, all are bound together in this desire for the broadening of the intellectual horizon—for the sharing in the feasts that are offered to them—in literature, in music, and in art. A poet like Edwin Markham, ex-Presidents of colleges, and graduates of English, American, and German universities are among regular auditors at some of the courses. Is not this a university? Are we not realizing through this means the vision of him who wrote: 'There is not a schoolhouse in the Republic but is destined to become a university of the people, a nerve ganglion of the new school organization in the spirit of the arts and sciences.'"

Dr. Leipziger spoke of the tendency in the last two or three years to call attention to the fact that a percentage of the attendance of former years has drifted away to the inferior attractions of the moving picture shows and cheap vaudeville, but declared that it was therefore all the more necessary to provide in these lectures the very best and most interesting material, using if necessary motion pictures to add to efficiency. As a result of such improvements, he said, despite an inclement Winter, the attendance this year showed an increase of more than 40,000, and despite the fact also that the lectures have been on more serious topics than ever before.

Following Dr. Leipziger's address, brief speeches in praise of his work and that of the lecture corps under him were made by President Winthrop of the Board of Education and Borough President McAneny, and a lecture with illustrated lantern slides descriptive of the lecture work was delivered by Dr. Jennie M. Davis, formerly of the Board of Health, but now connected with the Public Lecture Corps.

The Home of Hart, Schaffner & Marx Clothes

Mr. Vreeland and a Job

Copyright Hart Schaffner & Marx

MR. H. H. VREELAND, who, by the way, has employed men by the tens of thousands, once said: "My advice to the young man with $30 who wants a job—a good job, is to spend $20 of it for a new suit, $2 for a new hat, and the rest, all but a dollar or so, for a complete new outfit—then go for the job. He'll get it—QUICK. For here in New York a man must look well or be turned down."

Seems almost as if Mr. Vreeland had us in mind when he spoke of that $20 Suit, for the young men of this city who are the shrewdest buyers come to us for their clothes—knowing that here their $18, $20, $22.50 or $25 buys more good looks and better quality than it possibly can otherwhere. Fact, gentlemen, thousands of the smart young men (old men too) in this city are wearing these Hart, Schaffner & Marx clothes of ours.

Wearing them first because they add to their appearance; second, because, by reason of their values and the savings they afford, our customers are able to put money usually spent for clothes to other uses. Come and see the clothes and see what you can save.

For The Man With a Limited Expenditure

He can get more style, more quality, and more satisfaction at my store than anywhere in town. Stores which must buy from manufacturers (as most retailers do) have no voice in the making of the clothes they offer you—therefore cannot give you the originality of cut and design, and, since they must pay the manufacturer a profit, they can't compete with me in price.

Bring $15 to me and I'll show you how it will do the work of $25. I'll show you ten times the varieties of patterns and I'll show you fashions six months in advance of the styles shown by the average clothier. I'll give you exclusive clothes without the exclusive price. Come to Walker Street. You may have to spend a few moments to get here, but you'll spend fewer dollars than at the more conveniently located stores.

Open Evenings Until 9 o'Clock — Moe Levy — Open Saturdays Until 11 P. M.
